Steps Taken For Probe of Fortas Case

House Urged to Move Before Impeachment Trial Is Called

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading House Republican called today for an investigation of Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas by the House Judiciary Committee to determine whether impeachement proceedings are warranted.

Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., a member of the committee, said he acted after conferring this morning with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

"The attorney general raised no objection," said MacGregor. "He indicated he would cooperate in such an investigation."

The course suggested by MacGregor is one of several that could lead to impeachment proceedings in Congress. It calls for a preliminary, informal investigation by a Judiciary Committee panel to see whether the facts warrant going ahead with impeachment.

"I can't sit by any longer and see this matter tried in the news media when we have procedures for bringing the facts out into the open," MacGregor said.

Fortas meanwhile was reported in his court chambers this morning working on pending cases.

Strategy Meetings

Under mounting pressure to resign, he is believed to be holding a series of top secret strategy meetings with old friends as he nears a decision on his future.

MacGregor, who outlined his intention to a newsman before making a formal request for an investigation on the House floor, said he would expect both Fortas and Mitchell to be called before any investigating panel.

He said he was acting now because of "well-founded rumors" that actual impeachment resolutions have been prepared by one or more House members and will be filed, probably next week, if no other action is taken. Under such a resolution the matter could be referred to the Judiciary Committee or taken up directly by the whole House.

"I believe we should take the initiative in the committee and not wait until we are forced to act," said MacGregor.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., was not immediately available for comment.

The embattled justice, who watched a former Senate supporter join those calling for him to quit, canceled a scheduled appearance Tuesday at a judicial conference in New Hampshire.

This fueled speculation that he was close to a final decision. The likelihood grew when it was

Amendment Still Needs Final Action

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — In a quick and easy vote that surprised even its sponsors, the Wisconsin assembly Tuesday approved and sent to the senate a proposal for an amendment to the state constitution to permit young people to vote at the age of 19 and to gain all the other legal rights of majority at that age.

Present law puts the age of majority, and for voting, at 21. It had applied during the entire history of the state and reflects the laws of most states in the Union.

If the state senate also approves the amendment, it must be approved again by both houses in 1971 in identical form, and then given a popular vote of approval in a referendum before it becomes effective. In the referendum, only those persons who have then attained the age of 21 will be permitted to vote.

On a first test Tuesday, the assemblymen refused to kill the proposal, by a vote of 60-36. Then they gave it final approval and sped it to the senate in a 63 to 34 roll call.

Defeated Previously

Proposals to lower the age for voting have been before the legislature and defeated in nearly every session for the last two decades. A frequent objection of opponents is that lowering the voting age would allow the continuation of other disabilities of minors under other laws. Authors Jack Steinhilber of Oshkosh, Kyle Kenyon of Tomah — both Republicans — and Frank Nikolay of Abbotsford — a Democrat — anticipated such objections this year by offering a constitutional amendment, instead of a statutory change, to permit persons to attain legal majority as well as voting rights when they attain the age of 19 years.

If the plan becomes law, it will mean that persons of that age would be able to sue and be sued, serve on juries, marry, enter into contracts, and have other rights that they do not have under present law until they reach the age of 21 years.

The assembly vote split party lines, but more Republicans were against the measure than Democrats.

One opponent complained that the measure if it becomes law would repeal the state law prohibiting the sale of hard liquor to any person under the age of 21. But Nikolay replied that if the public wants to continue such a rule, the legislature would be able to define the age for legal liquor consumption by writing a new law on the subject.

This history of constitutional legislation in Wisconsin shows frequent instances of first approval of an amendment, followed by rejection on the final and decisive round of legislative consideration.

Could be Killed

Assemblyman Russell Olson referred to that frequent practice when he said some of his colleagues had urged him to vote for the amendment because it could be killed in the senate or in the 1970 legislature. He hinted that some of the assemblymen wanted to exhibit their names on an approving roll call because of pressures from some of their younger constituents.

Arguments followed a familiar pattern. Supporters claimed that young people today are better educated, and more mature and experienced than their ancestors, and that giving them voting privileges would serve to make them more responsible.

"Give them a chance to show responsibility," argued Cletus Vanderperren, representing a rural Brown County district.

Steinhilber conceded that some adults in his district have

'No Compromise'

Rogers Vows To Hold Fast On War Aims

SAIGON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers arrived in Vietnam today for four days of talks and inspections. He said that in negotiations with the Communists for a peace settlement, "we shall not compromise on our basic objective."

Rogers said President Nixon's administration agrees completely with the government of President Nguyen Van Thieu "about the purpose of the peace we seek."

"We shall not compromise on our basic objective," he said in an airport statement. This objective, he said, is "the establishment of conditions which assure that the people of South Vietnam can determine their own future unconditionally."

The future of South Vietnam "must not be imposed, in whole or in part, by outside forces" he continued. "It must be made by a process which permits the people of South Vietnam their own free choice.

"If the other side were willing to accept this principle, then prospects for peace would be greatly improved."

Rogers noted that President Nixon would be making a major speech tonight on "the prospects for peace in Vietnam."

"The President," he said, "has directed me to explore in depth with President Thieu how we and our allies can most effectively move forward from the present position further in the direction of peace.

"Suffered Much"

"The people of Vietnam have fought long and suffered much to establish the conditions for a return to peace. For this they have earned the admiration and respect of all who value national independence and the rights of self determination.

"May I express to the people of South Vietnam my personal regard and appreciation for what they have done. We, and our allies, are determined that it will not have been in vain."

Rogers, paying his first visit to Vietnam since he and President Nixon took office, was expected to sound out President Nguyen Van Thieu at length on broadening the political base of the Saigon government to include the National Liberation Front as a move to advance the peace negotiations in Paris.

Critical Issue

U.S. officials consider the proposal for a coalition government to be the most critical issue raised by the 10-point peace plan the NLF put forth in Paris last week.

The Saigon government has ruled out a coalition with the Communists, and the United States is opposed to forcing a coalition on its Vietnamese allies. But the possibility of broadening the political base of Thieu's regime through negotiation with the NLF evidently has not been ruled out.

U.S. experts believe the 10-point NLF plan was intended to improve the Viet Cong's bargaining position before the world. But they also say it contains interesting possibilities for further study by the United States and South Vietnam.

Mansfield, Kennedy Differ

Lottery Plan Given Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has responded favorably to President Nixon's lottery-based draft reform plan, but the two top Democratic leaders are split on the issue.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield says the Nixon plan is "a step in a direction that will satisfy some members," but he will vote against it because it doesn't cure enough inequities in the draft.

Democratic whip Edward M. Kennedy, however, praised the President's proposals, saying they "embody the reforms we most urgently need."

And a Republican critic of the Vietnam war, Sen. Mary O. Hatfield of Oregon, saw the Nixon message, issued Tuesday, as a sign the GOP administration is not nearing a solution to the war.

"It discourages me about what we can expect from their war policy," Hatfield said in an interview, but he acknowledged he would probably find few allies in opposing the Nixon draft program.

Challenge in House

While there was ample evidence of support for the reform proposals in the Senate, the plan could face a stiffer test in the House where a ban on lottery selection was written into the draft law extension two years ago.

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said Tuesday: "I have no strong feelings either for or against the lottery concept.

"Therefore, if the administration can show the Committee on Armed Services how such a charge will provide more equity in the selection process without offsetting disabilities, I certainly would have no objection to the proposed legislative change in the draft law."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he would consider adoption of the lottery plan on a trial basis, with no commitment to make it permanent.

Cleared by Laird

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said he cleared the Nixon draft proposal in advance with Stennis and another key Democrat, Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, former Armed Services Committee chairman who now heads the Appropriations Committee.

Laird said the administration hopes to see the Nixon proposal tested first in the Senate, then in the more troublesome House.

Mansfield, in announcing his opposition, said the draft system has too many inequities, too many deferments.

But Mansfield, too, said the Nixon proposal would prove attractive to his colleagues. "This, I think, is a step in a direction which will satisfy some members," he said.

Hatfield wants to do away with the draft entirely, and turn to an all-volunteer armed force.

Nixon repeated that this also is his goal—after the Vietnam conflict is ended. "I am hopeful we can soon restore the principle of no draft in peacetime," Nixon said.

Swift Transition

That did not satisfy Hatfield, who wants a swift, six-month transition to a volunteer force.

"All we're doing here is substituting lady luck for Gen.

Nixon Faces Nation On Progress of War

Breakthrough Toward Peace Not Likely, White House Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, responding to what associates say is a public demand for a summation of the Vietnam situation, goes before the nation tonight to give what is expected to be a cautiously optimistic assessment of peace prospects.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the speech, to be broadcast live at 9 p.m. CDT on national television and radio, will contain some new material, but cautioned against expecting announcement of a peace breakthrough.

Nixon associates also said the President's speech will outline how matters now stand in light of the Viet Cong's 10-point peace proposal rather than announcing the breaking of new ground.

Mutual Withdrawal

A high government official said Nixon will stress mutual withdrawal of troops and reduction of the fighting as moves the United States believes must have priority in the Paris peace talks.

This official said there would be no pledge for unilateral U.S. troop reductions.

The President's speech is expected to reflect the administration's feeling that the Hanoi-backed Viet Cong proposals, while generally unacceptable, offer some negotiable points. One of these contains the first tacit public admission by Hanoi that it has troops in the South.

No associate expects the President to hint acceptance of the Viet Cong proposal for a provisional coalition government to replace the elected Saigon regime immediately. But Saigon itself has expressed an interest in a proposal for an exchange of prisoners, another point in the proposal.

An indication the President is preparing an early formal answer to the Viet Cong came when Ziegler said Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will arrive during the afternoon for new instructions before flying back to Paris Thursday. The next Paris meeting is Friday.

Mindful that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong took more than two months to answer initial U.S. proposals, the administration wants to respond quickly to emphasize its efforts to push the talks ahead.

Lodge will attend a joint meeting of the Cabinet and the National Security Council Thursday morning at which the administration's position presumably will be reviewed.

Sherlock Holmes Lives!

CHICAGO (AP) — Sherlock Holmes is alive and well, and living among people who won't believe it.

Sherlock, a wiry man of 48, has ways to cope with the incredulity of people to whom his name is presented.

"I carried my birth certificate when I was in grammar school," he told an interviewer Tuesday.

"I learned long ago, when I call up some place for a reservation, to just say 'S. Holmes.'

Holmes wears his name on a lapel badge at the International Security Conference. Others attending this meeting of specialists in security work give it a double take.

He lives in Lacey, near Olympia, in Washington State. He works as an examiner for the state auditor.

Once, in the line of duty, he went into a state agency's office and handed the lady clerk a formal letter of introduction.

"I don't believe it," she said.

Fun-Loving Callers

He solved the problem of telephone calls from fun-loving strangers. He changed his listing in the directory to S.G. Holmes.

There was some fussing about his name right after his birth.

"My father said 'Sherlock,' " he related. "My mother wanted Oliver Wendell.' "

Holmes has five children, none named after A. Conan Doyle's fictional detective.

The real life Holmes studied criminology for a while in his youth.

When he got into the Army in World War II, he recalled, "they stuck me in the military police."

Once he was a teller in a bank in Olympia, and he traded incredible names at point-blank range.

A customer handed him a deposit slip, and said: "That's my name—Daniel Boone."

"I'm Sherlock Holmes," Holmes replied.

"It," he said, "kind of shook him."

Economists View Fiscal Conditions

Uphill Fight Against Inflation Being Won... Slowly

By TOM STEWART
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economists in and out of the government say the administration's attack on inflation will cut down the booming wage-price spiral, but they don't look for a quick victory.

"I wouldn't want to make a prediction tied to a few months," said Herbert N. Stein of the Council of Economic Advisers in an interview, "but by the end of this year we should see inflation running at a significantly lower rate."

Even then, Stein said, "I think it will be going on through 1970."

Interviews with other economists turned up general agreement that bleeding inflation out of the economy will have to be done gradually. Cold turkey cures got no support at all.

William A. Chartener, assistant secretary of commerce for economic affairs, stressed the need for persistence and patience.

Hard to Reverse

"We're in a period of very rapid growth," Chartener said. "There is power, there is momentum, there is confidence from this kind of growth that makes it very difficult to reverse or even slow down the economy."

Also interviewed by The Associated Press in a sampling of what government and nongovernment economists think about the nation's No. 1 economic problem were Carl Madden, chief economist of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and Nat Goldfinger, research director of the AFL-CIO.

Here are excerpts from the question-and-answer sessions:

Q. Will some lessening of inflation be visible this year?

MADDEN: There are some early signs that the monetary and fiscal policy mix has slowed down the real growth of the economy already. However, we know from past experience that prices can continue to rise after the economy has slowed down. I would expect the price rises to slacken off a little just a few months from now.

Q. You expect improvement that quickly?

A. In a matter of a few months—but only in those goods in which there is traditionally a considerable amount of price flexibility. Durable goods, retail hard goods, but not in the prices of services such as hospital daily charges, domestic service, local transit fares, postal charges, physician's fees, men's haircuts and the like.

Sharply Curtailed

Q. But will these service prices be reached eventually?

A. I think that's an arguable question, without a recession. I doubt whether the current policy mix will get to the prices of services that are heavily influenced by labor costs in the near future.

If one had a recession with real unemployment increases—which I would not advocate—then expectations of workers in the services would be sharply curtailed and price rises would be modified by that change in expectations.

Q. But does it do any good to try to change these expectations?

A. I believe the responsibility of the American worker—and businessmen—can be underestimated. And that the administra-

Controversial Supersonic Plans Could be Revamped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House reportedly is studying a plan to revamp the controversial supersonic transport—SST—program in an effort to open new means of financing and ease fears about sonic booms.

The proposal would put the program directly under the secretary of transportation. The project to develop a 300-passenger, 1,800-mile-an-hour jet airline has been run since its 1963 inception by the Federal Aviation Administration, an independent regulatory agency administered by the Transportation Department.

The reshuffling, in addition to simplifying and streamlining administration of the project, would free the FAA to concentrate on modernizing the airways and air traffic control.

Criticism In Congress

The main purpose of the plan would be to open up possible alternate means of financing the costly SST development program. There has been strong criticism in Congress of the current planning which calls for the government to contribute 90 per cent of the estimated $1 1 billion cost of building two prototype airplanes for flight testing The manufacturers, Boeing Co. and General Electric, would put up 10 per cent

Backers of this approach say the government will recover its investment through royalties by the time 300 SSTs have been sold.

Strong support has developed for establishment of a business-government type agency under which funding would come from the sale to the public of government-guaranteed shares Such an agency could not conveniently be a part of the FAA

Widespread fears about sonic booms might be eased by putting Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe directly in charge of the SST program He has said several times the SSTs will be restricted to subsonic speeds while over land until engineers find some way of eliminating the explosive blast of supersonic flight.

FAA Enforcement

The FAA, on the other hand, will be responsible for enforcement of anti-noise restrictions Some critics doubted the FAA would strongly enforce such measures against a plane it developed and was eager to promote

FAA Administrator John H Shafer has declined to comment on the transfer proposal, but some of his friends say he would approve

Informed sources said the proposal has been under discussion for about two months

President Nixon ordered a comprehensive review of the program by a committee of subcabinet-level officials, and by a technical engineering group.

Volpe, chairman of the review committee, was unable to resolve sharply divergent opinions of its members, and submitted to the White House a secret report expressing all the points of view

Nixon is expected soon—possibly this week—to make known the SST funding proposal to be submitted to the Congress for the next fiscal year

Program leaders have indicated that more than $200 million will be needed for the year to continue development of two flying test models with an aim of making the plane available for commercial use by about 1977

Flight testing of two foreign SSTs—the Soviet TU144 and the Franco-British Concorde—already has started

Chinese, Malays Clash For Third Straight Day

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — Malays and Chinese fought for the third day in Malaysia's capital today. Malay troops and youths attacked Chinese during a suspension of the curfew, and a gang of Chinese youths armed with shotguns reportedly raided a Malay college and killed four or five students.

The government, which assumed sweeping special powers to deal with the bloody communal warfare, relaxed the round-the-clock curfew for three hours in Kuala Lumpur so people could buy food.

Eyewitnesses said Malay troops fired four or five shots into a group of Chinese shoppers during the suspension of the curfew. It was not known whether they inflicted any casualties

There have been other reports of Malay troops firing on Chinese.

Attack Chinese

Bands of Malay youths were reported attacking Chinese passersby in several areas, and scattered incidents were reported in market and shopping areas as people flocked to stock up on food. The curfew was reimposed after the three hours.

In the first incident in which youths were reported armed with guns, a Chinese gang was said to have moved onto the campus of Mara College and opened fire on students, killing four or five Mara is a Malay technical school in suburban Petaling Jaya.

About 1,500 police and 500 army troops patrolled the multiracial capital of half a million people, trying to snuff out sporadic clashes. At times they appeared to have the situation under control. Then new outbreaks would occur.

Communal Battling

Official figures this morning listed 42 persons killed since the communal battling began Tuesday night, but observers said the toll was much higher. Police sources said at least 100 had died.

Fires in many kampongs, as Malay settlements are called, and in Chinese neighborhoods continued to be seen. Four pillars of smoke covered widespread areas visible from downtown Kuala Lumpur.

Police reported rounding up hundreds of curfew breakers in the states of Selangor, where the capital is located, nearby Perak and on Penang Island. A report from Penang said police in Perak had killed seven persons, but police there refused to comment

Using its emergency powers, the government postponed indefinitely the general elections that were to have been held in East Malaysia June 7 There has been no violence in Sabah and Sarawak, the East Malaysian states in Borneo, and some observers said the action reflected the government's fear of losing some of its power there.

Severe Setback

Elections were held in West Malaysia — the Malay Peninsula—last Saturday, and Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman's ruling Alliance party suffered a severe setback in Parliament, emerging with only a narrow majority. The Malaysian Chinese Association (MCA) the Chinese partner in the Alliance coalition led by Rahman's United Malay National Organization, was the heaviest loser.

The MCA announced that as a result of its defeat it would not participate in the government. Although it said it would continue to support Rahman in Parliament and the state legislatures, Malay militants interpreted the withdrawal from the Cabinet as a betrayal of the Alliance, and the prospect of an all-Malay government frightened many Chinese and angered others.

Racial passions inflame easily in Malaysia, where the Malays control the government and the Chinese control business and industry. Communal rioting broke out less than 12 hours after the MCA announcement.

Railroad Foreman Hero Under Fire

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — Charles M. Hastings edged toward a boxcar of exploding ammunition and uncoupled other munitions-laden cars so they could be pulled away by locomotives.

"I didn't have any time to be afraid," said Hastings, 47, a veteran Southern Pacific road foreman who acted Wednesday night after the freight car carrying 61 tons of ammunition caught fire and 40 mm shells began blasting off at one-second intervals.

As the explosions held fire fighters and military ordnance experts a mile away, Hastings drove his truck to the train on a siding

He uncoupled both ends of the 90-car train to within eight cars of the blazing boxcar so crews with locomotives could pull the sections from the scene.

Hastings said "I knew when I'd gotten close enough."

One Caught Fire

Only the one boxcar caught fire, although those on each side were loaded with liquid sulphur and flammable liquid propane.

The fire burned itself out in four hours, but the steel boxcar still smoldered into the morning, with exploded and live shells strewn over about an acre of the rocky, desert land in the Antelope Valley 40 miles north of Los Angeles.

"You could hear whistles like shrapnel flying through the air," said Sheriff's Deputy Dan Berrier "You could hear shells exploding all over."

Officials said the fire apparently started in an overheated axle. "We know it started under the car," said Hastings.

Firemen ordered occupants in 20 homes within two miles of the scene to evacuate when the explosions began.

The munitions cars were en route from the Red River Army Depot at Defense, Tex., to Port Chicago, Calif., the military's shipping point to Vietnam.

Thieu Hoping Many Factions Can be Merged

1-Day Convention Scheduled Soon To Unify Parties

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu and his top advisers are trying to nail together a national political alliance they hope to unveil within about two weeks.

There are signs the new grouping may be more evident than real but Thieu's aides express confidence it will serve the intended purpose of uniting many fragmented parties behind the president.

A national convention will be held soon in the Saigon City Hall. Unless there are last-minute defections, one of Thieu's counselors said, 630 delegates from 14 political groupings with roots in all sections of South Vietnam will show up for the one-day affair.

The aim is to give Thieu's essentially military regime a broad political base for any future confrontation with Communist political forces in the South.

Thieu and his secretary-general, Nguyen Van Huong, will personally display their behind-the-scenes handiwork, begun after Thieu issued a call April 7 for a "capable political union."

Many of the leading or rising figures in the country are either playing hard to get or frankly cold-shouldering Thieu's grand design.

Sen. Tran Van Don, the former general who masterminded the overthrow of Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963, has said he will keep his National Salvation Front out of Thieu's alliance. Not a word has been heard from Maj. Gen Duong Van "Big" Minh, the widely admired but erratic leader of that coup. As a unity gesture Thieu let him return from exile last October.

The three factions of the National Kuomintang Party, which dates to the 1920s and led the first major anti-French uprising, are showing signs of drawing together, but they are still noncommittal on Thieu's alliance. The semisecret party still commands a following because of its nationalist and anti-Communist position.

Still on Sidelines

Dr. Phan Quang Dan, a respected nationalist and outspoken politician who last year called for negotiations between the Saigon government and the National Liberation Front, remains on the sidelines. This despite the fact that Thieu has now picked up Dan's theme by repeatedly calling on the NLF to hold private talks.

Prof. Nguyen Ngoc Huy, more representative of the nation's intellectuals and a member of the Saigon delegation to the Paris peace talks, is busily pushing a new Progressive Nationalist Movement.

"We are still examining President Thieu's program," Huy said last weekend—but his movement appears more likely to go over to the opposition.

Formation of a responsible opposition bloc—patterned after those in major Western democracies—is also part of Thieu's stated master plan. But if there is hesitancy among the politicians Thieu hopes to attract to his side of the fence, there seems to be even less motivation for an opposition group to unite.

Several relatively important factions are said to feel the alliance will be more for "appearances sake" than a working political union.

Among these hesitators are Nguyen Gia Hien of the Catholic Greater Unity Force, Trinh Quoc Khanh of the Social Democratic Party, Ha Thuc Ky of the Dai Viet Party, and Truong Cong Cuu of the Humanist Socialist Party.

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky has taken no public stand on Thieu's political venture, and Thieu's aides say no particular role is planned for him.

Bradley Honored as Patriot Extraordinaire

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gen. Omar N. Bradley, the only living five-star U.S. general, has received a plaque from Los Angeles county conferring on him the title of patriot extraordinaire.

Accepting the plaque Tuesday, Bradley observed:

"No one likes to fight, particularly the generals. They see too much of it. But in almost every generation someone challenges our right to freedom and someone has to fight."

Wisconsin's Own Designers Bestow Legacy To Heritage Milwaukee 1969

BY MARY WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — What is there to learn after you've got the three "R's" down pat?

For a triad of participants in Wednesday's grand finale to a preview of fall fashions by Wisconsin designers and craftsmen, the answer seems to be the three "S's" squared with safety (first, of course), the number one lesson of the day.

The occasion for this revelation was the closing chapter of this year's Heritage Milwaukee. Always an impressive event, the debut of a series of collections over four days drew women from newspapers all over the nation to the city famous for gemuetlichkeit and now known as a fashion capitol in its own right.

On a sunny Wednesday that couldn't be lovelier outdoors or in, the press gathered at Mount Mary College to preview the 1969 collection of the school's fashion design program. Setting the middle of the road pace that prevailed throughout the day, the young designers and their models avoided mediocrity and shunned extremism by playing it smart, soft and seductive with dresses that ran the gamut from early to late day sophistication. Not a pantsuit to be seen on the runway, but simplicity of design, fine craftsmanship and the emphasis on the totally feminine look garnered the approval of reporters and photographers alike.

At 3 p.m., leather fashions took the spotlight at the Milwaukee Art Center, where paintings from the annals of art history provided the backdrop for a look into the past. Albert Trostel and Sons, Co., Milwaukee's oldest leather firm, presented the best of Bonnie Cashin whose outstanding designs from the fifties to the present were modeled to remind the press of the eternal durability and beauty of leather.

Then it was on to First Wisconsin National Bank and a preview of Basic Black, one of the most unique collections of Heritage Milwaukee. The work of young designers, Mrs. Geraldine Sykes and her brother, James Kirksey, Basic Black is the pride and joy of Milwaukee's black community.

In deep tones of brown, purple, green, blue and red, with white for emphasis and contrast, the fabrics were hand screened by Mr. Kirksey and the fashions designed by Mrs. Sykes. Calculated to appeal to any woman, the lines of pantsuits and dresses were soft and flowing and the total effect, sensational, as the audience previewed the last and perhaps the most exciting collection of Heritage Milwaukee 1969.

All Eyes were on the South American lamb cape designed by Mount Mary College student, Cindy Gefke, and modeled Wednesday at Heritage Milwaukee 1969 fall showings. Belted in dark brown, the cape is accessorized with dark brown gloves and beige boots.

The Origins of the Pink Quiana and flowered silk organza gown above is illustrated in the sketch serving as the model's backdrop. Designed by Barbara Newby, the off-the-shoulder creation was previewed as part of the 1969 collection of the fashion design program at Mount Mary College.

"Legs Are Very Nice, but the long line is nice," explained James Kirksey, who hand screened the purple and blue vest accompanying the flowing white culottes by Basic Black.

Cut on the Bias in black and white silk and wool faille, the unusual after-five dress below was designed by Susan Kalweit and modeled at Mount Mary College.

xtravagance Can Put Young Vomen in Bankruptcy Court

sultant in Money Management

ar Miss Feeley:

'an you help me advise my ing daughter. She has just ten her first job and has ved to a big city. She earns ut $100 a week after deduc- is and shares a nice little irtment at $75 a month.

That I worry about is that has always been extrava- it about clothes. I guess her ier and I weren't strict ugh with her where money s concerned.

'an you give me any sugges- is about a budget which I pass along to her, so she 't get into debt?

Mrs. M.B., Flushing, N.Y.

irst, tell your young daugh- that I was talking to a eree of the Bankruptcy Court a big city recently, and he s depressed because of the rsonal bankruptcies that ne before him. Especially se of the young girls (his rpretation of young girl is their 20s and 30s"). He sn't compile any statistics on age group, but he did say

I have noted that these ng girls come into court ause of bills that get too big handle. They pay $50 when file for bankruptcy — ess there's some charge inst them of fraud, such as ng false information, etc. the $50 they're home free. y don't have to pay their ebtedness. What a sad way tart their careers."

his court referee cited the e of one young girl who filed bankruptcy, whose father eared in court and stated he had only agreed to pay rent when she got her first and left home. He didn't ee to take on her charge ounts at the stores. And, arked this referee, that's bably only the beginning of a story — because the young lady who overindulged herself in the good things of life can't come back into bankruptcy court for another six years. So she's a prime target for unscrupulous merchants who feel safe in letting her have credit again because she can't get out from under with just a $50 penalty in court. Maybe the merchants can sue, maybe garnishee her wages, or manage to collect through some other method.

Maybe all this sounds unduly dramatic, Mrs. B. But the point is that the nicest young people from the nicest homes get into money troubles when they break away from parental supervision and start drawing a paycheck that's all their own

If your daughter really wants a budget, tell her to keep close watch on her clothes expenses first of all. Her rent is in proportion to her take-home pay, so suggest that she spend no more than 10 per cent of her net earnings on dressing herself. If she builds a budget on those two figures — rent and clothing —she'll be able to prorate her other expenses. If she goes out a lot at somebody else's expense, her food costs will be less. After a few months of keeping records of her spending, she can adjust her budget figures realistically.

Age Spread Between Babies Not Important

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have never seen an answer that I can recall, but there must be one that is considered best.

What is the best age-spread between children, how many years? Is one too close, four too far, three just right, or what: I am referring to the children themselves, but not necessarily what is best for the parents. I've heard so many arguments on having them very close (which I can't quite agree with) and yet I've been told it is unfair to have too large an age spread. — Mrs. L. M.

I doubt that there is a "best" answer. In my own case there was no spacing at all — twin boys. For us, both parents and boys, we wouldn't change a thing!

I agree that something of companionship is lost when children are too far apart, a much older child not being interested in the younger one's play activity, then leaving the home or going away to school before the younger one has had a taste of the closeness that should exist between brothers or sisters.

Yet I know, and I'm sure you do, of the nicest affection between children who are 10 or more years apart.

One year apart seems to me to be a pretty close together, because babies thrive on a lot of babying. Yet I know that we found time to give both of our twins a good share of that!

As the age spread increases to three or more years, you have to be careful not to let the older child feel "left out" when the new baby gets a lot of attention.

I guess I'd say that a difference of a year and a half or two years might come close to being "best," but I certainly don't want to say anything that would seem critical of the happy families with quite diifferent age differentials. In fact, I wonder if I've put my foot in it by trying to give an answer to this. Children of any age-spread are the salt of the earth, and the hope of it.

Dear Sir: I would like your opinion on use of mineral oil in making mayonnaise, instead of the usual salad oils. I make mayonnaise using egg, lemon juice, salt, pepper, sugar, and oil, and eat about two tablespoons per day. Could this be harmful over a period of time? — K. W.

The use of mineral oil in making a low-calorie salad dressing is fine — but I don't think you should consume two tablespoons a day.

The continued use of mineral oil is thought to remove some of the vitamin A from the digestive tract — that is, the oil will absorb that vitamin, but since mineral oil is not digested, the vitamin A is carried away unused.

If you don't have a weight problem, use of vegetable oils would be preferable. And if you do have a weight problem, why not use a salad dressing that doesn't have the other high-calorie ingredients of mayonnaise?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Should one with a hiatal hernia avoid exercise such as golf and other strenuous sports? — E. M.

Not necessarily. Heavy lifting, or any other exertion that puts increased pressure inside the abdomen, should be avoided. (This includes straining in the bathroom.)

Bowling, golf, swimming, jogging, tennis, and other activities that do not seriously raise internal pressure in the abdomen are acceptable for a hiatal hernia patient.

Don't neglect the importance of losing weight. Getting rid of exdess fat inside the belly can help greatly.

To learn of the many factors that can be involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia, which concerns the esophagus, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Post-Crescent for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Loran Frazier Succeeds Mork In Waupaca

Former Sheriff Reappointed to Office by Knowles

WAUPACA — Loran H. Frazier, Waupaca County undersheriff, was appointed Tuesday by Gov. Warren P. Knowles to fill the unexpired term of Sheriff William Mork.

Mork, a Republican, resigned on May 7, effective June 15 and will become plant manager for Friendship Travel Trailers, Inc., Waupaca.

Frazier, 56, who served as sheriff of Waupaca County from 1963 through 1967, has been undersheriff since 1967. He has been in law enforcement in Waupaca County since 1956.

"When I was sheriff of this county, the county board and the people in the county were good to me," Frazier said Tuesday. "I was treated fairly and I think it is a privilege to accept the post for the next 18 months. It is a bad time to transfer the responsibility, at the busiest time of the year, but I believe I owe it to the people in the county and will do my best."

New Undersheriff

During these next weeks Frazier will be seeking the right man for the post of undersheriff, an appointment he expects to make within the next two weeks.

Frazier was born in Wild Rose, the son of a farmer, and before he began his police work for the county in 1956, was a cheesemaker. He worked for 17 years for L. J. Hansen, Manawa.

Frazier has devoted his efforts to the prevention of crime and the rehabilitation of persons who find themselves in trouble with the law. While sheriff he was a director of the Wisconsin Sheriff's Association.

Frazier, who is interested in civic and human affairs, is presently chairman of the Waupaca County Cancer Crusade.

The Fraziers' have four children. Their son Dennis is credit manager of 4-Wheel Drive, Clintonville; Ronald is associated with Miles Kimball, Oshkosh; and their daughters are Mrs. Dennis Nieland, Waupaca and Mrs. Larry Bauer, New London.

Huckstering Claim Under Fire

Warren Must Probe Conradt Bill Charge

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The state senate Tuesday called on Atty. Gen. Robert W. Warren to begin an investigation of the charges by Assemblyman William Rogers, D-Kaukauna, that "modern day huckstering" has taken place in the backing of a bill authored by Assemblyman Ervin Conradt, R-Shiocton.

Pushed by two co-authors of the Conradt bill, the resolution also states that those who signed the bill with him had no knowledge of the involvement of material mailed by the head of the statewide association to all electricians and electrical contractors in the state.

The material called on them to pay from $10 to $25 a head to the Wisconsin Electricians and Electrical Contractors Association in an effort to be exempted under a "grandfather clause" from a statewide licensing law proposed by the Conradt bill.

Official Opinion

The resolution offered by Sens. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, and Chester Dempsey, R-Hartland, asks Warren to issue an official opinion as to whether Rogers' charges will support the prosecution of any person or persons for unethical or illegal lobbying.

Under the Lorge resolution, which passed unanimously after some Democrats tried to slow it down for drafting corrections, Warren is called upon to prosecute any person found to be breaking the law in backing the Conradt bill.

Conradt has admitted that he has had some contacts with Howard Hazen, formerly of Manawa, the executive director of the association, but claims that he is the victim of a "political smear" by Rogers.

In a letter sent to Warren last week by Rogers and six other Democrats, it was said that "there is a strong implication that a fellow legislator has joined in this effort to collect monies from these people who do not fully understand the legislative process. . ."

The authors of the letter did not specify to whom they referred in making that charge.

Lorge and fellow co-authors of the bill repeated during the fiery 40-minute debate today that Conradt has been the victim of a smear.

Rogers meanwhile released a second letter signed by Hazen which is undated.

Addressed to electricians in the Marshfield area, it discloses that the group has organized in that region and that people have joined from that area.

Then it adds:

"It is the duty of this organization and its representatives to determine the number of people in Wisconsin to be licensed as electricians and to determine if a 'grandfather's license' should be granted (a grandfather's license is a license to continue to do what you are doing now without needing to take a state test) giving you a permanent master, journeyman or appliance state license."

Copies of Letter

Last week Rogers' letter contained copies of a letter by Hazen to electricians written 54 days before the Conradt bill was introduced on April 29 telling them that the bill had been written and that it would become law this session.

He then made his appeals for dues.

Lorge on the floor made his speech after inviting the authors of the letter to be present.

Lorge said that he originally had been asked to co-author the Conradt bill by Sen. Arthur Cirilli, R-Superior. After first refusing, he was asked by Conradt to co-sign the bill, Lorge reported, saying that he did it as a courtesy for his fellow Outagamie County lawmaker.

"I felt it was a good bill and I signed it," he stated.

Rogers' letter had said that he could not charge extortion, but termed the financial plan "modern day huckstering."

"Extortion," said Lorge, "is a pretty harsh word.

Serious Charges

"The charges made by the assemblyman are pretty serious. If the assemblyman from Outagamie County can prove them . . . I want to congratulate him for doing a fine service for the state of Wisconsin.

"But if this is nothing more than a political smear, I want the attorney general to start an investigation," Lorge said.

"I have nothing to hide. I put this bill in at the request of my assemblymen," Lorge stated.

"I intend to go all the way through on this matter. I intend to make this my little pet project," Lorge warned.

Cirilli, a co-author, picked up the charge.

"If this man has the nerve to make these statements I feel we should see if he knows what he is talking about.

"This resolution asks for nothing more than to go along with the statements (made) and to determine if they are truthful . . . and if they are not truthful they should be jammed down his throat," added Cirilli of Rogers' charges.

County Board Kills Joint Safety Building

Rural Opposition Narrowly Prevails to Defeat Plan; County to Improve Jail

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

By a narrow vote, Outagamie County supervisors Tuesday afternoon killed the joint City of Appleton-county safety building proposal.

With the aid of two Appleton supervisors, county board members from outside Appleton mustered enough opposition to defeat the plans for joint law enforcement facilities by a 25-20 vote.

The vote culminated the slow death of the project which began sliding downhill in April after supervisors voted to reconsider their decision to proceed on the joint venture.

If it were not for the most recent ultimatum from the state that the county remedy its inadequate jail facilities, supervisors may have put off the key vote for another month. However, many felt that they were in the "11th hour" on deciding how to meet the state's demand.

Improve Jail

After killing the safety building, the county board voted 29-14 to provide improved jail facilities. The resolution, however, was general so the present jail could be remodeled or new facilities could be built somewhere on the courthouse property.

There was some question whether the key issue of whether the county board wants a joint facility would come to the floor. Opponents claimed their resolution to proceed with building improved jail facilities would, in effect, kill the proposal.

However, safety building proponents were persistent and called on fellow supervisors to quit avoiding the main issue. For months, the county board has refused to face what should have been the first question answered — do they want to proceed on a joint venture.

County Board Vice Chairman Macvin Babbitt, Seymour, issued a stern warning that the board should first decide whether it wants to proceed with the city.

"I'd say a prayer for the county board that they have the intestinal fortitude and guts to stand up and be counted," he challenged.

Critical of Delay

Babbitt criticized certain county board supervisors for using the safety building project only as a "delaying tactic" on meeting the state's jail improvements requirement.

For awhile it appeared Babbitt's plea would be swallowed up in the repetitious arguments by proponents and opponents until Supv. Jerome Hiler, Appleton, repeated the demand that the issue come to a head.

At the same time, Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, charged the joint venture was doomed from the beginning because a staunch opponent to it was named to the joint committee.

He was referring to Supv. Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, who led the effort to kill the proposal. DeBruin, who has claimed he originally favored the proposal, spoke strongly against it, accusing the city

Teachers, Board Continuing Talks

NEW LONDON — Contract negotiations will be continued at an 8 p.m.. Monday meeting by the board of education and New London Education Association (NLEA) welfare committee.

A meeting of a few representatives of each group is to be conducted today to set procedure and determine the areas still to be negotiated.

One item enumerated by the NLEA committee was the failure to agree upon a clause for binding arbitration.

James Mergy, board spokesman in the negotiations, said the small group meeting today will allow discussion on an agenda and procedures for the negotiations of the two full groups.

The board is pretty much set on its offers, he stated.

Non-teaching staff members will be given a proposal amounting to about 8 per cent across the board wage increase in addition to fringe benefit concessions on insurance and sick leave for professional staff members. The entire package is about the same given to teachers.

Authorization was granted for purchase of football equipment specified in the 1969-7 budget proposal and textbooks to insure both items being obtained in time for school next fall.

Elementary Guidance

M. John Huppler, guidance director, discussed the total guidance program with the board. Huppler told board members the entire program could possibly be strengthened by extending guidance services into the elementary grades.

He told the board this was the practice being established by several schools.

Huppler said it was the responsibility of the department to supply information to students in helping them to reach decisions, not to make decisions for them.

Supervisors Approval

Food Stamps to be Provided for Needy In Calumet County

CHILTON — A food stamp program will be initiated for the needy of Calumet County, the board of supervisors decided Tuesday.

Until now, Calumet has been one of only five counties in the state with no provisions for a food program.

The program basically is designed to help low-income families get more food and a better diet for better health and to make better and greater use of agricultural abundance, according to Lyle Wiedenbeck, Madison, food stamp program supervisor of the Department of Health and Social Services. Wiedenbeck explained the program to the board Tuesday.

Funds probably will be available about July 1, according to Wiedenbeck, but the time will not be set until after application of the county is received by the Department of Agriculture.

Eligible Persons

Those eligible for food stamps will be decided by the county and will include persons receiving public assistance and those who are unemployed or who have very low incomes but receive no public assistance.

The county will receive a designated number of stamps from the Department of Agriculture at no cost. The stamps then are purchased by participants. The county deposits the receipts, and the Department of Agriculture gives bonus stamps in addition to the purchased stamps which are paid by its subsidy.

The only cost to the county is that of administration.

Eligibility is based on the size of household, net monthly income and liquid assets, such as cash on hand and stocks and bonds, according to Wiedenbeck.

Income limitations range from household size of one with a net income of $135 a month to a household of 10 with a net income of $460 a month. Households of more than 10 persons get an additional $30 for each person above the 10.

Liquid Assets

Liquid assets are based on number of persons, such as one for $750, two, $1,500 and three or more $1,500 plus $100 for each additional person in excess of two.

Statistics for the month of March, 1968, for the food stamp program showed 23 counties participating as compared to 34 for 1969. There were 32,968 people participating in 1968 compared to 45,420 in 1969.

Total value of stamps issued in March of 1968 was $591,912, compared to $821,417 in 1969. Cash paid to participants was $387,954 compared to $561,986 in 1969.

Bonus amounts received by participating households was $204,358 as compared to $259,431 this year and the average bonus received by each person was $6.34 last year with a decrease of $5.71 this year.

Club for Aging Elects Officers

Senior Citizens of Clintonville Hold Second Meeting

CLINTONVILLE — A temporary slate of officers was elected Tuesday afternoon at the second meeting of the Clintonville Senior Citizens Club.

Serving on a pro tem basis are Lydia Heling, president; Randy Wagner, vice president; Mrs. Barbara Kruse, secretary and terasurer, and Mrs. Arthur Tornow, sunshine chairman.

About 50 persons attended the meeting. Mrs. Mildred Zimmermann, Madison, field consultant for the State Department of Health and Social Services, Division on Aging, spoke to the group about Title III of the 1965 Older Americans Act, which provides service to older persons.

Also assisting in getting the group organized was John McAlpin, social worker from the Waupaca County Department of Social Services.

The date for the next meeting will be announced later.

New London Junior High

Gas Heat Being Studied

NEW LONDON — Several estimates on renovations at the Washington Junior High School are to be obtained for the board of education to act on at a special meeting.

These include conversion of the heating system from coal to gas; an engineering survey to determine the extent of a chimney needed for gas heating; estimates for work on ceramic tile for washrooms, and replacemnt of some plumbing fixtures at the school.

A state order has been received by the district to make repairs to the chimney at the junior high school. Plans were for removal of 10 feet from the top and tuck-pointing the remainder of the brick chimney which stands about 90 feet high.

Conversion Cost

Board members looking ahead to recommendations for necessary improvements in future years thought the entire heating system should be examined by a gas engineer and a report given on cost for conversion and the extent of a chimney necessary.

The board felt that the chimney would probably continue to deteriorate and conversion would become necessary also as a means of stopping air pollution.

Supt. H. James Ramsdell requested approval for a quotation on a bid to tile the boy's rest room on the main floor.

Ramsdell said the restrooms needed repair as the terrazo floor had deteriorated and plumbing fixtures were outdated.

Complete Repair

The board asked that a complete cost figure be obtained on repairs to both the boy's and girl's restrooms on the main floor.

Eugene Fuhrmann, president, said it would be possible to delay these projects but this would end up in the district being faced with a large amount of work and cost at one time.

A special board meeting was scheduled for 8 p.m. June 2 for the sole purpose of beginning review of the proposed 1969-70 school budget.

Driver Training

Approval was given for a summer driver education program which will include classroom instruction in addition to behind-the-wheel training.

A large number of students eligible for driver training in the fall have asked that the text book instruction be made available. A state law requiring all persons to have passed a certified driver training course prior to obtaining a drivers license has influenced the early interest in the course.

Clintonville Cadet To Sing on Television

CLINTONVILLE — Cadet Roy Hedtke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hedtke, 250 Bennett St., will appear with the West Point Glee Club Sunday on the Ed Sullivan Show.

Cadet Hedtke is completing his second year at the United States Military Academy. He has been on the Dean's list each quarter of the academic year since being there.

Waupaca Agreement Near

Board, Teachers to Complete Contracts

WAUPACA — Two items in the master contract between the board of education and the Waupaca Teachers Association remain to be worked out before the 1969-70 teacher contracts are completed. There is a six week delay in signing contracts for next year and Supt. George Hendrickson had urged that contracts be ready this week.

The negotiators for both groups, Laurie Anderson and Otto Rusch Jr., school commissioners, and Carlyle Kottke and Brig Knoecke of the teachers association, will meet this afternoon, to complete the teachers' first written contract.

The teachers' agreement in its present form states that any teacher coming from another school system will be granted six years on the salary schedule. This is one of the items which the board wishes to discuss further. The board takes the position that under certain circumstances it must have the latitude to hire an experienced teacher and set the salary at its own discretion.

A second clause needed clarification is the transfer of teachers in the present system.

On May 5, the board of education formally approved the contract salary schedule, which contained a 10 per cent increase in base pay and a 15 per cent overall increase, including full payment of health insurance, increase in medical and health insurance benefits, duty free lunch period, one hour free time per day, sick leave of 10 days and accumulative sick leave up to 45 days.

Abatement Orders to Follow

Manitowoc River Pollution Hearing Planned

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Investigations have shown that there is excessive pollution of the Manitowoc River and its tributaries in Manitowoc, Brown, Calumet and Fond du Lac counties, the division of environmental protection of the state Department of Natural Resources declared Tuesday.

The claim was accompanied by an announcement that the division will hold a hearing to investigate the sources of pollution and the means of correcting them at the Manitowoc County courthouse at 10 a.m. on June 9.

The division has the power to issue orders commanding pollution abatement work that have the force of law. The division said Tuesday that "after due consideration" it would issue such orders against various persons and organizations involved in the damage to the Manitowoc River system.

Meet Standards

The waters in the river system, the agency said, should meet the standards for recreational use and those for fish and other aquatic life, but it said that minimum standards would be accepted for:

Spring Creek below Brillion; the tributary of the North Branch of the Manitowoc River below Hilbert; Pine Creek tributary (Jordan River) below New Holstein; tributary of the Manitowoc River below St. Nazianz, and the intermittent tributary of the Manitowoc River below Valders.

The announcement of the scheduled hearing to determine the orders that will be issued was accompanied by a listing of sources of pollution in the river basin as found by agents of the division.

The hearing notice declared that the Manitowoc River basin is rural with numerous small cities and villages scattered throughout the drainage area.

Main Industries

The main industries consist of hardware manufacturing and small cheese factories.

"The greatest problems exist at municipal sewage treatment plants where inadequate treatment has created objectionable down-stream conditions," the announcement said as it indicated that it would issue orders requiring action to protect the surface water resources of the basin.

Named in the report along with findings from recent surveys are the City of Manitowoc, Heinz Mills Cheese Co., Potter Cheese factory, Potter Sanitary District, Riverview Cheese, Chilton; Thiel's Milk Products, St. John; White Clover Dairy, Hilbert; School Grove Cheese, Brillion; Brillion Iron Works, Larson Canning Company, Brillion; City of Brillion; Brillion Center Cheese; Neumans Dairy;

Village of Hilbert; Cold Springs Cheese Co. # Scholarship Transfer Proposal Is Defeated

MADISON (AP) — A Democratic leader suggested Wednesday that the University of Wisconsin's gridiron misfortunes may have found their way into the state Capitol in the form of a piece of legislation.

Assembly Minority Leader Robert Huber, D-West Allis, said a bill which would allow state legislators to apply their scholarship appointment to the nine state universities as well as to UW smacked of an attempt to embarrass UW for having not won a football game in the last two seasons.

Each lawmaker currently is allowed to name a scholarship recipient to UW. The proposal for transfer of the appointment to one of the nine state colleges was defeated by the Assembly

The Assembly approved a bill under which a student could more freely transfer course achievements between a state college and UW.

The bill, given Assembly approval 84-13, applies to transfer of credits for courses in which the student earns a C grade or better.

Assemblyman Jerry Wing, R-Greenfield, described the bill as a benefit for "those of modest means who have sons and daughters who decide in the middle of the stream that they want to transfer to another institution, and find they can't get credit for all their work."

The Assembly approved 70-28 a bill which would make it a crime for a minor to "knowingly" possess hard liquor.

Assemblyman Carl Otte, D-Sheboygan, said the word "knowingly" defeated the purpose of the bill.

"The way it stands now," he said, "it will be impossible for the police to prove that any teenager knew he was in possession of liquor."

Present Direction

"If you want to deal with the problem of teen-age drinking," Nager said, "this isn't the way to do it. And if the legislature keeps on going in its present direction, half the people in Wisconsin will be guilty of some crime or other."

The Assembly tabled a bill which would have reduced to one-third the number of animals in a herd of bovine animals which must be examined before a sale may be completed. Present law requires all animals in a herd be tested before a sale.

Tipsy Driver Loses License

Amherst Junction Man Pleads Guilty, Pays $200 Fine

WAUPACA — Paul H. saacson, 20, route 1, Amherst Junction, pleaded guilty, in Municipal Justice Court Monday, paid a $200 fine and lost his dirver's license for one year for driving while under the influence of an intoxicant.

He was apprehended by State Police late Sunday at the junction of Smokey Valley Road and State 49, north of Waupaca, after he was observed weaving side to side and crossing the center line three times.

He was taken to Waupaca County jail and his breatholator test showed .17. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

DDT Hearings Nearing End

Manufacturer Notes Sales Loss Due to Best-Seller

MADISON (AP) — The case for DDT concluded Wednesday with a spokesman for a pesticide manufacturer saying the industry is still licking its wounds over the best-seller "Silent Spring."

Samuel Rotrosen of Maplewood, N.J., president of Montrose Chemicals Inc., the nation's largest single producer of DDT, was among the final spokesmen to appear at Department of Natural Resource hearings in opposition to a petition asking that Wisconsin restrict the use of DDT

The department, which began its hearings and studies last year, recessed the hearings series until next week Summary statements are scheduled.

Rotrosen, reporting Montrose makes 50 per cent of the nation's DDT, said 1963 was a peak year for the pesticide, with about 183 million pounds manufactured in the United States.

In that year, Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring," a critical commentary on the harm to wildlife of pesticides, went on sale. DDT production slumped to 103 million pounds in 1967 with about 70 per cent of it made for export, Rotrosen said.

'Quiet Revolution'

Schools Include Black History in Teachings

A quiet revolution in the teaching of history in the elementary and high schools throughout Wisconsin is underway.

Black history is making its way into the books, the curriculum and the minds of children, reports the State Department of Public Instruction.

Orlyn Zieman, coordinator of secondary education in Appleton, says that students in the junior and senior high schools of Appleton have been discussing racial concern topics and other current events.

"The general consensus of the teachers is that they want to handle studies on minority groups in the general course rather than a special course in history or current affairs," Zieman noted.

Resource Reference

However, he pointed out that the schools have materials at their disposal for resource reference

Elementary social study departments are more geared to discussions from current literature than the textbooks, James Westphal, elementary curriculum coordinator, said.

"The textbooks are just beginning to catch up to more current event topics," he said.

"Although the elementary schools haven't adopted a basic textbook series, the pupils are kept aware of what's going on by magazines, current event films, and discussions geared to today's happenings.

The Post-Crescent, for example, is as valid a tool as the textbook and is used extensively," Westphal said.

Money, Liquor Taken In Burglary of Home

About $18 in change and two bottles of liquor were taken in a Wednesday night burglary at the Ralph Bentle home, 1353 W. Spring St.

Appleton police said burglars entered the house by breaking a rear door glass. A bedroom was ransacked. Neighbors said three youths were seen in the area about the time the burglary apparently occurred.

30 Pupils to Make First Communion

GREENVILLE — Thirty second graders, 21 from St. Mary parochail School and nine from the public school will make their fist communion at the 9 a.m. mass Sunday.

The teaching Sister is Sister Ronald SSND and the Rev. Joseph P. Lutheran is pastor.

Green Bay Asked To Counsel State On Bridge Needs

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The state highway administration wants the counsel of the Green Bay community in resolving the bridge planning problems in downtown Green Bay, William Redmond, chairman of the state highway division, said in an interview here.

Specifically, it will welcome advice on a selection from two alternative plans for relieving bridge traffic congestion that are now before it:

The replacement of the Mason Street bridge with a medium high level span at a probable cost of about $14.2 million.

The replacement of the Mason bridge with a lower level structure, and the addition of a fourth river crossing in the city at Ninth Street, the two of which the division estimates can be provided for substantially less outlay, or about $10 million.

Redmond disclosed that the second alternative has been endorsed by his technical staff, including L. W. Empey, the Green Bay highway district engineer, and E. J. Byrkit, chief design engineer in the Madison headquarters office of the division.

Under law, the decision is one that the state agency must make, although as a matter of policy and practice the division actively solicits the advice and recommendations of local officials and residents, and consulting specialists' reports to local government administrations when they are available.

Ban on Sex Education Up to 7th Grade Urged

MADISON (AP) — Assemblyman Kenneth Merkel, saying his original proposal for restrictions on sex education "does not go far enough," told legislators Wednesday he will seek a prohibition against all school sex instruction up to the seventh grade

"There's only one place to teach sex That's in the home," the Brookfield Republican told the Assembly Education Committee during review of his bill, which would require parental consent before a school could provide sex education.

Merkel said constituents have complained that his bill is not strong enough, and that he is preparing an amendment which would "outlaw" the instruction from kindergarten through sixth grades.

His bill would let parents review the material which schools might plan to use. Merkel described some of the material as pornographic.

It would be preferable, Merkel said, to "receive no sex education from your parents" than to receive it in school.

Representatives of the Department of Public Instruction were among those expressing opposition to Merkel's bill.

Miss Luida Sanders of the department said statutes already safeguard students from being taught anything immoral.

Ted Landon, an Iowa County social worker, said he sees little public benefit from keeping young persons ignorant of sex, and that "ignorance makes unwanted babies."

A clergyman's wife, Mrs Joan Klaver of Pardeeville, said the bill displays "a real lack of Christian love."

"None of you have said what we'd do to help the children whose parents have abdicated their responsibility," she said to the bill's proponents.

Norman Czerwonka, a Pardeeville social worker, said Merkel's bill implies "there is something bad about sex education."

Mrs. R. B. Brinsmade of Madison, a school teacher, called sex education "a Communist program to destroy us."

Communists, she said, "will bury us through sex education"

Mrs. Lois Hayes of Menomonie, submitting pictures which she said were too graphic, declared few children are emotionally prepared for such teaching matter.

"That's enough to keep it out of mass teaching," she said.

Mrs. Clarice M Weber and Mrs. June Deutscher, both of Mondovi, said books about sexual behavior were found in a school library for second-grade students.

Students are being exposed to "sex saturation," Mrs. Weber said.

Increase in Snowmobile Funds Asked

MADISON (AP)— Legislators were asked Wednesday to assure northern Wisconsin counties of a greater share of revenue received from snowmobile license fees

Robert Kay, a Madison lawyer representing the Association of Wisconsin Snowmobile Clubs, said counties with limited populations would get less financial benefit than more populous, downstate counties under a bill which calls for revenue refunds to the counties in proportion to the amount of license fees derived from each county.

"The less-populated counties in the north need new and more facilities" to serve the growing snowmobile sport, and they should be allowed to apply to the state for an unspecified portion of license revenue, Kay said.

He addressed the Assembly Conservation Committee during review of a bill sponsored by Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, R-Minocqua. Alfonsi's bill, however, went almost ignored during discussion of Kay's proposals, to which Alfonsi himself offered tentative endorsement.

Object to Fee

Alfonsi's measure proposes that the Department of Natural Resources license and regulate snowmobiles. Kay objected to the proposed three-year registration fee of $6.25, saying it should be closer to $3.25.

Jack Armstrong, secretary of the snowmobile association, registered his group's opposition to having the state department handle snowmobile regulation.

Members of his group have said that if regulation is needed, it should be at the county level.

"The snowmobile is for recreation," Armstrong said. "It is not a motor vehicle."

Emil Kaminski, representing the department, said the state is "not interested in added law enforcement responsibilities. But we think we should have rule-making power."

One Scream Enough, Invader Flees Home

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After one scream by Ida Butcher, 93, the two men who invaded her home demanding money fled empty-handed.

"It's a good thing for them my husband wasn't home," Mrs. Butcher said. The husband, William, is 100.

Governor Revises Tax Hike Yields

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles revised upward by $35 million Wednesday the revenue his proposed tax hikes would yield during the two-year fiscal period starting July 1.

Knowles submitted a revised revenue projection chart to the legislature's Joint Finance Committee.

The committee, hoping to avoid the need for new taxes, has cut about $185 million from the governor's record $1.6 billion budget.

In his budget message last January, Knowles proposed that the 3 per cent sales tax be broadened to a general tax base, with a tax refund of $8 per person offsetting taxes paid for goods and medicine.

He also proposed tax hikes on beer, liquor, wine and cigarettes.

Neenah's Erb Booms 989 For Bowl-O-Rama Record

Captures Lead In Class A

Meet's Class B Has New Pair Of Runnersup

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The highest series in the 7-year history of The Post-Crescent's Bowl-O-Rama belongs to Earl Erb after a banner night of kegling at 41 Bowl Wednesday.

Erb, a 60-year old Neenah foundry worker, boomed a fantastic total of 989 with handicap to take over the Men's Class A leadership. The mark was 32 pins higher than the previous record of 957 set by Oshkosh's Jeff Bonnett in 1966 when he won the top prize in the same division.

Falling to second place in the wake of Erb's performance was Two Rivers' Dick Piasecki, whose 936 count had led the tourney since April 22. The 909 scratch foursome by Erb also overshadows Piasecki's previous high of 892.

Elsewhere during a lively night for big series, both the men's and women's divisions of Class B had new runnerup. Al Knoespel, Brillion, grabbed the second spot with 917 — only 11 pins short of the leader, Wayne Vorphal of Green Bay. And Joann Grelson, Appleton, crashed 874 to come up nine pins

Meet Burlington Here Tonight

Foxes' Win Streak Ends

WISCONSIN RAPIDS — Appleton's opening-season winning streak ended at 10 games Wednesday night as eight Foxes' errors helped the Wisconsin Rapids Twins to a 10-9 Midwest League victory.

The Twins ended a see-saw battle with the winning run scoring in the bottom of the eighth inning. The decisive marker also resulted from an error by second baseman Roger Reid on a ground ball with two outs and Rapids' runner on third base.

The front-running Foxes (10-1) now hold a 3½-game lead over second-place Decatur (7-1). Appleton returns to Goodland Field tonight to play host to Burlington (5-6). The Bees will provide the opposition in single games through Saturday night. Waterloo comes to town Sunday for a day-night doubleheader.

Wisconsin Rapids jumped off to a 4-0 lead after two innings against Foxes' starter Gary Hoskins, but a pair of 2-run homers by Ron Williams and Rod Pommes in the top of the third brought Appleton right back in the ballgame.

Into Hot Water

Hoskins got into more hot water in the bottom of the third and finally left after one out.

The Twins got the edge right back in the bottom of the inning, though, on centerfielder Bob Wissler's solo homer to left field. They finally chased Hoskins with two more runs in the fourth for a 7-4 cushion.

But again Appleton came surging back with a 4-run rally in the sixth on a pair of walks, Jim Redmon's single, and a bases-loaded double by pinch-hitter George Hunter that scored three runs.

Not to be outdone, the Twins put together a walk, an error by Redmon, and doubles by Mike Holbrook and Al Schleigelmilch to reclaim the advantage at 9-8 after six innings.

Appleton tied the game in the seventh on Greg Howell's single, a fielder's choice, and Ross Sapp's pinch double.

In the fatal bottom of the eighth, Foxes' reliever Roger Benko got the first two Twins without trouble. But then Wissler singled and went to second on Stu Singleton's error in the outfield. Wissler moved to third when Benko uncorked a wild pitch, and finally rode home when Reid fumbled Schlegielmilch's roller.

Appleton threatened in the ninth, as Dan Ryan walked to lead off but was erased when Greg Howell hit into a double play. Singleton and Edito Arteaga walked after that, but the Twins persuaded Reid to ground to short to end the game.

3 Fox Cities Entries

Ships to Defend FRVC Track Title In Fond du Lac

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

An unbeaten Fond du Lac High School team stands in the way of Manitowoc and its ambition to equal the thrice-in-a-row (1963-4-5) title feat of Appleton West in Friday night's Fox River Valley Conference track meet.

Fond du Lac will be host to the meet at Fruth Field. The trials and field events start at 4:30 p.m., while the running-event finals get under way at 7 p.m.

Manitowoc has prevailed (handily) in the two latest conference outdoor meets and also copped the 1969 FRVC indoor title. Fond du Lac, which placed second both in last year's outdoor test and in this year's indoor meet, may be ready to chase the Ships out of title bay.

The Cards have won all of their dual meets this spring and have won a pair of invitational meets besides.

The three Fox Cities schools — Appleton East, Appleton West and Neenah — will be among the challengers to Fond du Lac and Manitowoc. Neenah, which won conference championships in each of its final eight years in the Mid-Eastern, will be making its first attempt at FRVC honors.

AHS-E, will be seeking to improve its eighth place finish of its inaugural track season (1968) and will also strive for its first individual titles in the school's history.

Appleton West will seek to rise above its 10th-place finish of a year ago. The Terrors' now-graduated Steve Lamers gained a first place — in the long jump — but the team picked up only one additional point.

Other top contenders — besides Fond du Lac and Manitowoc — will be Oshkosh, Sheboygan North, Green Bay West and Green Bay East.

Manitowoc has the only two defending individual champions, but neither may defend his title in his 1968 specialty. George Wood, who won the 100-yard dash title last year, made his first appearance Tuesday after a long absence (necessitated by a hamstring muscle injury) and ran only the 20-yard dash.

The Ships' Steve Riederer, last year's 2-mile champ, has been concentrating on the mile this season.

The 100-yard dash will have a strong field with or without Wood. Appleton East's Jeff Forslund and Green Bay West's Bill Momaerts have been clocked in 10.1 seconds. Fond du Lac's John Wollner is another contender.

East's Patriots have another prime individual title threat besides Forslund. He is shot-putter Don Knaack. Knaack has uncorked a throw of 56 feet, 1 and ¾ inches — the best by any FRVC performer this spring and third best in the state. However, Fondy's Rick Koeck has a 55-10 to his credit, and North's Kerry Becker has also gone past the 55-foot mark.

Among other leading AHS-E threats will be Neil Gleason, in the long jump; Jeff Mueller, in the pole vault; Luke De Young, 2-mile; and Dave Brown, discus. In addition, the Patriot mile relay team of Gleason, Gary Gee, Larry Bailin and "Skip" Blank has been impressive.

Mike Moriarty, who finished fourth in the FRVC indoor mile, and 2-miler Chuck Bohon head AHS-W distance entries. Other Terrors who loom as prospects for points include hurdler Tim Moriarty, half-miler Steve Ruwoldt, hurdler Larry Frye, sprinter Mark Eggert, pole vaulter Mark Stevens and miler Tom Sommers.

Neenah's entries are paced by weightman Skip Iltis, high jumper Russ Pollnow, quarter-miler Dough Angerer and pole vaulter Brian Cannon.

Fondy's Koeck, besides being a shot put title threat, has fired the discus 168 feet, 10 inches — the top effort in the state this year.

Fondy gets further strength from long jumper Dave Gustin (who has done 21-7), half-miler Wayne Stark, 2 miler Gary Stark, and sprinters Jake DeNell and Chuck Sina.

Manitowoc's Doug Brefcyzinski will be one of the favorites in the 2-mile. He has been timed in 9:57.6. Other top Ship threats include Jack Christiansen, long jump; and Bill Rensink pole vault.

Oshkosh's strong club is led by Dennis Dahl, a double hurdles winner in the FRVC indoor meet; long jumper Steve Koch; and high jumper and pole vaulter Jim Strasser.

North's pace-setters include high jumper Mark Bredeck; miler Gary Wondergem; sprinter Don Otten and hurdlers Richie Peterson and Steve Hotz.

GBE will feature a crack relay team (Fred Litkey, Jon Georgia, Steve Spencer and Don Liesch) which has run the 880 in 1:31.6, just a half-second off the conference record.

Trotter Soccer Game Slated

The Fox Valley campus-UWGB will play a home soccer game against Manitowoc at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

In their first appearance of the spring season, the Trotters played a 2-2 tie with Marinette, which placed seventh in the latest junior national meet.

Yesterdays Stars

PITCHING — Juan Marichal, Giants, pitched a four-hitter and shut out Pittsburgh 3-0.

Pitcher Gerry Nyman (above) and infielder Pete Ward, former Foxes, will return to Goodland Field Monday night when the Chicago White Sox meet the Appleton club in an exhibition game. Tickets are on sale at a number of Fox Cities locations, including the Foxes' business office. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Chisox Obtain Bob Knoop for Alomar, Priddy

DETROIT (AP) — The Chicago White Sox obtained second baseman Bobby Knoop from the California Angels Wednesday in a straight player trade for infielder Sansas "Sandy" Alomar and pitcher Bob Priddy.

Knoop, 30, is regarded as one of the American League's top fielders. He is hitting at a .179 clip with 12 hits in 67 at bats.

Alomar, 25, was obtained by the White Sox from the New York Mets two years ago. He had seen only limited service this year.

Priddy, a righthander, was in his second year with the White Sox after previous service with Pittsburgh, San Francisco and Washington. He has no record in four relief appearances this season.

Peters Hurls Win; Baltimore Shades Minnesota, 9-8

By HAL BOCK

Seeing is believing but you'll have trouble making Ted Williams and Billy Martin believe what they saw Wednesday night.

Williams, manager of the Washington Senators, watched in wonderment as Ed Brinkman singled into a double play. And Martin, his opposite number with the Minnesota Twins, is still rubbing his eyes after watching Baltimore's Paul Blair climb the center field fence to rob Rod Carew of a game-winning home run.

Brinkman's DP single was one of eight Washington hits which still left the Senators empty-handed in their 1-0 loss to California. And to rub salt in Williams' wound, the Angels managed just three hits and scored the game's only run on a bases-loaded walk to Bubba Morton.

Drives in 5

Blair had just about wrecked Minnesota with his bat, driving in five runs with a pair of homers and a single as Baltimore built up a 9-2 lead against Minnesota. Then the Twins closed to 9-8 and with a man on in the ninth, Carew hit what looked like a game-winning homer until Blair's leaping catch.

Elsewhere, Boston nipped Oakland 2-1, New York tripped Seattle 5-4, Cleveland edged Kansas City 3-2 in 11 innings and Chicago shut out Detroit 6-0.

Williams knew it wasn't Washington's night in the sixth after Frank Howard and Bernie Allen opened with singles. Ken McMullen flied out but Brinkman singled.

Howard zoomed around third but Morton's throw cut him down at home plate. Catcher Tom Egan was bowled over by the big man but bounced up and fired to third, catching Allen to complete the DP and take the Angeles out of the inning.

In the bottom half, walks to Jim Fregosi and Roger Repoz sandwiched around a single by Jay Johnstone loaded the bases and Morton walked, forcing in the game's only run.

Blair's hitting had built an early Oriole lead but Minnesota rallied for five runs in the eighth to pull within one. Then Carew hit his screamer with a man on in the ninth.

"It was a homer," said Martin. "He made a sensational catch. He shouldn't have caught it. He climbed the fence after it."

"I thought it was gone," admitted Blair. "I was right up against the screen when I backhanded it. I went as high as I could go."

Tony Conigliaro drove in both Boston runs with a pair of timely singles and Ray Culp hurled a six-hitter, striking out 11 Athletics. The victory was Boston's ninth in the last 10 games and the loss ended a seven-game winning streak for Oakland.

Bobby Murcer drilled a two-run single in the seventh and Tom Tresh followed with a two-run homer in the eighth as New York halted a six-game losing streak by nipping Seattle.

Stan Bahnsen came out of the bullpen to strike out the side after the Pilots had scored twice and had the tying run on second with none out in the ninth. Steve Whitaker homered for Seattle.

Jose Cardenal singled, stole second and third and then scored Cleveland's winning run

Top Blocker to be Feted June 3

Hickerson Wins NFL Award

Gene Hickerson, of the Cleveland Browns, has been named the National Football League's outstanding blocker for 1968.

Hinckerson will receive a special award at the National 1,000-yard Club's sixth annual banquet June 3 at the Sabre Lanes.

Green Bay's Jerry Kramer, the 1967 "blocker of the year," will present the award to Hickerson at the banquet, according to Bill Martine, 1,000-yard club foundation president.

Hickerson (6-3 and 248 pounds) edged Dallas' Ralph Neely for the honor. The Colt's Bob Vogel was third, and Bob Brown recently traded from the Eagles to the Rams was fourth. NFL writers did the voting.

Previous winners of the blocking award, in addition to Kramer, were Brown, Forrest Gregg and Jim Parker.

The banquet accords recognition to the 13 running backs who have gained 1,000 or more yards in a single NFL season. Program Chairman "Fuzzy" Thurston indicated that most of the select group would attend the dinner.

The Foundation, comprising a group of Fox Valley area business and professional men, promote and support worthwhile youth activities. The organization has contributed more than $50,000 for this cause in six years.

Terror Golfers Win in Playoff

The Appleton West golf team defeated Oshkosh in a sudden-death playoff Wednesday on a birdie by Bill Weiss.

Weiss birdied the first extra hole after the teams had finished at a 324 tie for 18 holes. Tom Lhost led the Terrors with a 73. Ed Buttke paced the Indians with a 72 on the Lake Shore course.

Lawrence Net Team To Defend MC Title

After sweeping through its second straight unbeaten season, the Lawrence University tennis team takes aim on its second straight Midwest Conference championship this weekend at Beloit College.

The meet opens Friday with action in the singles events with four individual champions to be crowned. The doubles will be run off Saturday.

Coach Ron Roberts, who has unbeaten seasons, will be making guided the Vikes through the unbeaten seasons, will be making his final appearance until the 1970-71 season as Lawrence net mentor. Roberts, who also coaches Lawrence football, will leave on a year's sabbatical for further studies after the 1969 football campaign.

Leading netters for the Vikes include Tom Vanderhyden who was No. 2 singles champion last spring and is undefeated this spring. Vanderhyden had to miss the last Lawrence meet because of an arm injury but Roberts is hoping he will be at full strength for the conference test.

Other Vike entrants include Dave Holzworth, runnerup at No. 3 singles last spring and Paul Croake, runnerup at No. 4 singles. Dave Simmons, a sophomore who has shown rapid improvement, will be playing at No. 3 singles for the Vikes and Roberts has high hopes for Simmons turning in a point-winning performance.

Other entrants for the Vikes will include Dave Frasch and possibly Paul Mueller.

Doubles combinations for the Vikes are not certain yet but it is expected that one of the duos will be made up of Vanderhyden and Holzworth.

Favor Badgers In Big 10 Track Test Saturday

Strong Field Will Include Dozen Defending Titlists

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Undefeated Wisconsin, bristling with returning titlists in four events, figure to write Badger history in the most champion-packed, record-menacing Big Ten outdoor track and field meet in its 69-year span Friday and Saturday.

The indoor champion Badgers, unbeaten in regular spring competition, should hand retiring coach Rut Walters a glittering farewell gift with their first indoor-outdoor sweep of all time in the same season.

No fewer than 12 individual champions return from last year's outdoor meet won by Minnesota. And the field includes athletes who this spring have posted all-time Big Ten bests in the 100, 220 and 660 yard runs, tied all-time marks in the high hurdles and high jump, and surpassed meet records in the 440 relay and shot put.

Still an eighth meet record could tumble in the mile with Wisconsin's Ray Arrington, seeking his third straight title, and sophomore team-mate Don Vandrey both capable of shattering Arrington's mark of 4:03.9 set in 1967.

Win Indoor Title

Arrington, Mike Butler — defending in the 100 dash and 120 high hurdles — and triple jumper Mike Bond are the returning champions for the Badgers, who outscored runnerup Indiana, 65 to 42, to win the Big Ten indoor meet in March.

Last Saturday, Wisconsin thumped the Hoosiers, regarded the biggest Badger threat, by a 100-73 count in winding up an unbeaten season in four dual or triangular meets.

However, the Hoosiers boast two of the best Big Ten sprinters in years in Mike Goodrich and football halfback Larry Higbaugh.

At Drake, Goodrich ran a 9.2 century, bettering the 34-year old Big Ten meet mark of 9.4 set by Ohio State's famed Jesse Owens in 1935. Highbaugh has been clocked in 9.3.

In the 220 Goodrich has done 20.6, wind-aided, and Highbaugh 21.0 compared with the meet record of 20.8 for one turn by Purdue's Nate Adams in 1963.

Other potential record-breakers include:

Wisconsin's Mark Winzenreid, who has bettered the meet 660 mark of 1:16.7 with a 1:16.6 clocking.

Wisconsin's Butler and Michigan's Larry Midlam, who both have equalled the 120 high hurdles record of 13.7.

Indiana's and Ohio State's 440 relay teams, clocked in 40.2 and 40.8, compared with Indiana's meet mark of 41.1 set in 1967.

Minnesota's Tom Heikkala who matched the Big Ten all-time high jump of 7-0 and threatens the defense and meet record 6-9½ of Michigan's Gary Knickerbocker.

And shot-putter Jim Arbuckle, Indiana's defending champion, who has tossed 58-4½, a fraction over the 58-4¼ meet mark.

Other defending champions are Ron Kutschinski, Michigan Olympian, in the 880; Ohio State's Dick Bruggeman in the 440 intermediate hurdles; Ohio State's Mike Fischer in the 3,000 meter steeplechase; Michigan's Ira Russell in the long jump; and a pair of Illini, Ed Halik in the pole vault and Jim Brubaker in the discus.

Prelims in eight events and long jump and discus finals will be held Friday afternoon on Purdue's field, featuring an eight-lane, rubberized asphalt track. Finals in 16 events begin Saturday at 1 p.m. CDT.

Girls' Track Meet Set For Saturday

CLINTONVILLE — About 400 girls representing 20 high schools will be here Saturday to participate in a girls' sectional track and field meet.

Co-sponsors of the meet are Clintonville physical education teachers Betty Wicker and Carol Lalan, and Phyllis Law, Shiocton.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. and the first event will start at 9:30 a.m. at the senior high school. It is expected to be concluded by 5 p.m.

Participating schools are Sturgeon Bay, Green Bay West, Waupaca, Hortonville, Weyauwega, Green Bay Southwest, Shiocton, Algoma, Coleman, Seymour, Wrightstown, Fish Creek, Appleton East, Green Bay East, Kimberly, Little Chute, Preble, Kaukauna, Kewaunee and Clintonville.

The top three girls will qualify for the state meet the following Saturday at Monona Grove. According to new rules, a girl may now enter three running events.

Carleton, St. Olaf Picked in MC

Viking Trackmen Enter Meet

A high first division finish will be the aim of the Lawrence University track team which competes in the Midwest Conference meet at Beloit College this weekend.

The meet gets underway Friday afternoon with a number of field events being run off and continues Saturday afternoon.

Coach Gene Davis of Lawrence rates Carleton and St. Olaf as the likely choices to win the classic.

"Based on past performances and the way they looked in the indoor meet early in the season, I'd say those two should be right up in there for the team title," Davis predicted. "We have some good boys and could be pretty high in the upper division if these boys come through," Davis added

In the spring meets, the Vikes did exceptionally well, losing out only once.

On Doubtful List

Team co-captain Jim Leslie, the top Lawrence threat in the hurdles, is still on the doubtful list as he is recovering from an injury. Leslie missed the triangular meet Saturday in which the Vikes finished second against a strong Oshkosh State University squad.

The Lawrence University golf team, showing great improvement during the past two weeks, will participate in the annual Midwest Conference meet to be held at the Beloit Country Club with Beloit College as host.

Coach Bernie Heselton of Lawrence sees Cornell, St. Olaf and Monmouth as the teams to beat for the title. Cornell is the defending champion.

"Those three should battle it out for the top spots," Heselton said "However, from there on the next five places are toss-ups and I see about eight to 10 strokes separating the five teams."

Jeff Vaaler will be playing at the No. 1 spot for the Vikes. Vaaler finished eighth individually in last spring's meet and Heselton is hoping he will be able to improve on that spot Saturday.

Other golfers for the Vikes include Tom Wendorf at No. 2, Bob Leffel at No. 3, Geoff Garrett, No. 4 and David Carlsen, No. 5.

Leslie was fourth in the high hurdles in the MC meet last year.

Two of the leading threats for the Vikes will be Ron Messmann and Mark Frodesen. Messmann will be defending champion in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. This spring, Messmann has not lost in his specialties.

Frodesen, although only a sophomore, is unbeaten in the long jump and triple jump.

Davis regards Lance Alwin of the Vikes as a prime threat in the shotput and discus. Larry Einspahr and John Negley will enter the pole vault. Negley was second in last spring's meet.

In the 880, Tony Cruz-Uribe and Dave Scott have shown considerable improvement for the Vikes. Both have toured the distance in under 2 minutes.

Andy Gilbert will be the top Lawrence hope in the high jump. He has been going over the 6-foot mark consistently. Rick Miller, quarter-miler, also is expected to pick up points for the Vikes.

In the distances, Randy Smith carries the top hopes of the Vikes as he runs the mile and 3-mile.

North Carolina's Bunting Signs Cougar Contract

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Don DeJardin, general manager of the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association, says the club got its "prize catch so far" in signing Bill Bunting, North Carolina star forward.

"We feel that Bill has an outstanding opportunity to become a starter on our team," DeJardin told a news conference Wednesday in announcing the signing.

Terms were not disclosed. However, reliable sources said Bunting was seeking $150,000 on a three-year contract but signed for a little less.

The Cougars had obtained the ABA draft rights on the 6-foot-8 Bunting from the Miami Floridians, who had selected him on the first round.

The New York Knicks had chosen Bunting on the second round of the NBA draft.

MU's Joe Thomas Saved From Choking

MU'S JOE 230 spts

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Joe Thomas, one of the starters on Marquette University's basketball team, was saved from possibly choking to death during an informal game, it was disclosed Wednesday.

Thomas, a 6-foot-4 junior from Canton, Ga., was injured when he fell on his head during a pick-up basketball game Tuesday.

"He had stopped breathing and I could see he was gagging," said Gary Brell a Marquette teammate who was participating in the game. "It was then that I opened up his mouth for him."

Brell estimated Thomas was unconscious for nearly five minutes before being taken to a hospital. Thomas did not suffer serious injury, but is to remain hospitalized several days for observation.

Dr. Charles R. Eichenberger, Marquette team physician, said Brell's action probably kept Thomas from swallowing his tongue.

Marion Beats Xavier Behind John Braun

The Marion High School baseball team defeated Appleton Xavier, 7-2, behind the 2-hit pitching of John Braun at Goodland Field Wednesday night.

Braun, a 6-3 right-hander, struck out 17 and walked three as he led the Mustangs to their 11th win in 13 starts. The Hawks are now 4-6 in their first season of baseball.

Pete Hahn had both Xavier hits, and one of them — a double — drove in a sixth-inning run.

Brun Braun socked two hits, including a run-scoring double in the first inning as Marion took the lead to stay. Dale Klitz had three hits for Marion, including a 2-run single in the third. Tom Smith also had three hits for the winners.

Chuck Thompson, the first of three Hawk pitchers, was knocked in the winning run, sending the first place Cubs five games ahead of Pittsburgh in the East Division.

St. Louis managed only two hits off Bill Singer and Jim Brewer, but made two fourth inning runs stand up behind the clutch relief pitching of Joe Hoerner.

Joe Torre's single and Vada Pinson's sacrifice fly drove in the runs and Hoerner rescued winner Nelson Briles from a first-and-third jam with one out in the seventh.

Phils Keep Losing

Homers by Alex Johnson and Lee May, plus George Culver's tight ninth inning relief pitching, carried the Reds past Philadelphia, pinning the Phils with their sixth consecutive loss.

Culver replaced Jim Merritt with two on in the ninth, filled the bases with a walk and then stopped the Phillies cold.

Denny Lemaster fired a five-hitter for his first victory after five losses as the Astros toppled Montreal on Jesus Alou's two-run homer in the eighth. Alou connected off Jim Grant following a two-out throwing error by Maury Wills.

Mets' Big 8th Rips Braves

BY DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Getting the hang of Phil Niekro's knuckleball was one thing for Ken Boswell and the New York Mets. Taking the sting out of George Stone's fastball was Something Else.

Boswell played a key role, with his bat and left elbow, Wednesday night as the Mets ruined Niekro's no-hit bid in the seventh inning, wrecked Stone's relief effort in a wild, eight-run eighth and buried the Atlanta Braves 9-3.

Niekro held the Mets hitless until Boswell opened the seventh with a triple off a "hanging knuckleball." Then, after Tommie Agee's two-run double tied the game in the eighth, Stone clipped Boswell on the elbow with a fastball, forcing in the go-ahead run and touching off a heated debate at the plate.

Cleon Jones' grand slam homer, J.C. Martin's triple and Stone's wild pitch capped the Mets' biggest inning in five years and sent the Braves reeling to their first setback in five games.

Giants Blank Bucs

In other National League games, San Francisco blanked Pittsburgh 3-0 behind Juan Marichal; the Chicago Cubs edged San Diego 3-2 for their fourth straight victory; St. Louis nipped Los Angeles 2-1; Cincinnati topped Philadelphia 4-2 and Houston beat Montreal 3-1.

The Mets trailed 3-1, Boswell having scored in the seventh on Jones' ground out, when a third strike passed ball by rookie Bob Didier touched off the eighth inning fireworks.

Amos Otis reached first when the ball got away from Didier, who had been doing an excellent job of surrounding Niekro's flutterballs. "If the kid catches the ball, it's a 1-2-3 inning," Braves Manager Lum Harris said afterward.

Bud Harrelson followed with a single, but Niekro gloved pinch hitter Art Shamsky's bouncer and threw to second—where shortstop Sonny Jackson dropped the ball.

"That was the turning point," said Mets pilot Gil Hodges.

Jackson's error filled the bases and Agee knotted the game with a double off the left field wall, finishing Niekro. Stone walked Ed Charles intentionally, reloading the bases, then fired an inside pitch that Boswell tried to duck.

Shows Welt

The ball caromed a few feet in front of the plate and Boswell headed for first, clutching his elbow. But umpire Billy Williams called it a foul ball. The Mets argued vehemently and when Boswell displayed a welt on his arm, Williams reversed himself, bringing Harris out of the Braves' dugout to protest.

"I wasn't trying to fool anyone," Boswell insisted. "I can guarantee the ball hit my arm —and it hurt. It was a big decision for the umpire to make because it was the winning run. But he made it, and that's why he's a good umpire."

The jubilant Met fans were barely back in their seats when Jones brought them up again with the crusher—his first career grand slam.

"I've never seen the complexion of a game change so fast," he said. "This was the best I've ever seen Niekro in my four years in the majors. He was in command all the way until he started to get his knuckler up in the latter part of the game."

"It wasn't in the game plan to wait that long," added Hodges, with a wide grin.

Marichal 5-2

Marichal scattered four Pittsburgh hits and delivered the only run he needed with a fifth inning single while breezing to his fifth victory in seven decisions.

Dick Dietz tripled off Jim Bunning in the fifth before the Giants' ace singled to break a scoreless tie.

The Cubs trailed 2-1 when Ernie Banks led off the ninth inning with his fifth homer. Nate Oliver followed with a double and, after an intentional walk, Willie Smith's pinch single

North's Track Team Wins Over Patriots

Appleton East's Jeff Forslund was the only double winner, but the Patriots lost a dual track meet, 72½-54½, at Sheboygan North Tuesday.

Forslund race to victory in the 100-yard dash, in 10.1 seconds — one of the area's best times this season — and also captured the 220 (in :22.9).

Other wins for the Patriots were garnered by Luke De Young, 2-mile (10:23.6); Neil Gleason, long jump (19 feet, 6 inches); Jeff Mueller, pole vault (11 feet, 6 inches) and the mile relay team of "Skip" Blank, Larry Bailin, Gary Gee and Gleason (3:34.9).

North first-placers were Steve Hotz, high hurdles (:16.2); Gary Wondergem, mile (4:42.5); shot put, Kerry Becker (55 feet, 1 and ¾ inches); Chip Buesing, 440 (:53.7); Rich Peterson, low hurdles (:21.4); Ron Edler, 880 (2:08); Jerry Raeder, discus (143 feet); Mark Bredeck, high jump (5-10) and the 880-yard relay team of Peterson, Don Kuehlmann, Mike Schoenwald and Don Otten (1:33.9).

Omro Defends Title in Hortonville

Little 9 Track Meet Slated

HORTONVILLE — Omro and host Hortonville High School are expected to wage a head-to-head fight for the team championship, as the Foxes gun for a fourth consecutive crown in the Little Nine Conference track meet Friday night.

The meet will get underway with the field events at 5:30 p.m. Trials in the running events are slated for a 6:30 p.m. start, and the finals are set for 7 p.m.

This year's co-favorites battled it out in 1968, when Omro came out on top, by a 47-40 margin, over Hortonville in competition on the Foxes' track.

Freedom finished third with 30½ points, while Shiocton and Winneconne tied for fourth with 27.

The rivalry between Omro and Hortonville is heightened by the fact that the Polar Bears won the Conference Relays by a slim margin over Omro earlier this spring. What's more, the last time Omro lost the Conference Meet was in 1965 — when Hortonville walked off with the crown.

Two individual kings will return to defend their titles. Omro's Steve Hoeft is back in the high jump, where he won last year with a leap of 5 feet, 4 inches. He has already cleared 5-10 this season. The other returnee is Winneconn's Tom Kinney, the 1968 mile champion in 4:56.3. Kinney has been around the 4:43 mark this spring.

Wins 3 Titles

Among the missing from the meet will be Shiocton's Gary Johnson, who was last year's outstanding athlete in the conference test. Johnson's marks of 20-3½ in the long jump, :15.4 in the high hurdles, and :20.6 in the low hurdles will be difficult to beat.

On paper, Omro would appear to have the edge over Hortonville, according to best performances around the league. The Foxes have an individual star in almost every event.

Omro should show plenty of strength in the field events, with the likes of 48-foot shot putter Dick Drobnick, 20-foot long jumpers Mike Davis and Ed Smietanski, 11-foot pole vaulter Steve Bonnett, and 142-foot discus thrower Steve Hoeft. Hoeft is also a big threat in the high jump, where he has gone 5-8.

More top competitors in the field events should include Shiocton's Jim Blom and Hortonville's Dennis Nagreen, each of whom have cleared 5-9¼ in the high jump; Drobnick and Hortonville's Chuck Lapp in the discuss; Freedom's Don Smith and Lapp in the shot put; Lom in the long jump; and Hortonville's Pat Quinn, Winneconne's Larry Volp, and Reedsville's Bob Moede in the pole vault.

In the running events, the following boys should be among the top candidates for places:

100 — Smietanski, Omro; Chuck Bergman, Hortonville; John Kettner, Shiocton; Jay Barnard, Reedsville (10.4).

220 — Hoeft, Omro; John Palmbach, Hilbert; Marty Umentum, Denmark (23.9 sec.)

440 — Bergman, Hortonville; Larry Haberman, Hortonville; Davis, Omro (53.4 sec.)

Low Hurdles — Smietanski Bonnett, Omro; Glenn Griesbach, Hortonville. (21.41 sec.)

880 Relay — Omro.

"I caught cold," he explained, "and my back was bothering me. So I took to a light ball, 15 pounds instead of 16. It helped me. Tonight, I felt pretty good."

Knoespel, a 50-year old carpenter, fashioned games of 235, 186, 179, and 190 for 785 scratch. A 132 pin handicap boosted his final total to 917.

"I never dreamed it," Knoespel commented afterwards, "everything came in perfect." A regular in the Tuesday night League at Koffarnus Bar & Bowl in Brillion, Knoespel entered with a 155 average.

Mrs. Grelson was particularly happy by her own effort, because this was her first year in bowling. She had compiled only a 110 average in the South Side Ladies League, but this night fired lines of 151, 154, 168, and 161. A whopping 240 pins handicap added to the 634 scratch total brought her final mark to 874.

"I got shaky after the first game," the housewife and mother of two admitted, "but then I got three strikes in a row, and I felt alot better after that. It just went perfect," she added.

Squad prizes for the evening went to Knoespel for his 268 (235 scratch); Marlene Parker, Hortonville, for her 245 (221 scratch); Erb for his 273 (253 scratch) and Connie Wohlrabe for her 260 (216 scratch).

Neenah's Erb Sets Record

behind Betty Laux, also of Appleton.

Other important changes saw Dan Mittag, Appleton, grab the No.. 4 spot in Class A with 898; Gene Schultz, Menasha, take ninth place in Class A with 888; Lloyd Kelliher, Appleton, claim 17th in Class A with 871; Mike Herman, Neenah, move into eighth in Class B with 897; Bea Albrecht, Appleton, secure a 4-way tie for 19th in Class A with 826; Barbara Leimer, Appleton, garner 10th in Class B with 838; and Connie Wohlrabe, Appleton, seize 15th place in Class B with 820.

Erb came into the tournament with a 169 average, but the 30-year veteran bowler didn't have a game close to that score. He started with his best singleton, an 8-strike 253, and followed with a pair of 233 efforts for a national honor count of 719 after the first three games. He had only three blows and one split along the way.

Mrs. Grelson Knoespel

In his final line, Erb fell off to a 190. Heading into the 10th frame, he needed two strikes to exceed the 1,000-pin barrier. The man with the slow, methodical approach crashed his 26th strike on his first ball but then picked up only seven pins on his second roll. He finished by cleaning up the remaining pins, as a crowd of some 50-60 spectators applauded their approval.

"I was shooting for the 1,000," Erb affirmed later, brushing at moist eyes. Referring to the 27th strike that never came, he said: "I just pushed the ball out there. I didn't get enough lift on it."

It was a personally gratifying performance for Erb, who has had one other national honor count and a 298 game. Since last Sunday, he had been nursing a sore back and wasn't bursting with confidence going into the tournament.

Erb, a regular competitor in the All-Star Classic League at Sabre Lanes Monday night, the Fox Valley Classic League at Lakeroad Lanes Wednesday night, and the Scotch Mixed Doubles League at Lakeroad Friday night, decided to turn to a lighter ball. It made all the difference.

on an error by catcher Ellie Rodriguez in the 11th inning as the Indians shaded Kansas City.

Cardenal scooted home with the winning run after Jack Hernandez threw out Tony Horton. The fleet Indian outfielder slid in safely when Rodriguez bobbled the throw from first baseman Chuck Harrison.

Gary Peters pitched a six-hitter and reached the career 1,000-strikeout plateau in pitching Chicago past Detroit. Carlos May homered for the White Sox.

Grid Giants Sign Their No. 1 Draftee

San Diego State's Dryer Expected to Be Defensive Starter

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants of the National Football League announced Wednesday the signing of Fred Dryer, their No. 1 draft pick from San Diego State. Dryer, 6-foot-6 and 245 pounds, is a defensive end who already had been assigned the starting job at right end.

Dryer agreed to terms Monday with Wellington Mara, Giants' president, and returned to San Diego. The terms were not disclosed but it was believed he received a sizable bonus and a two-year contract.

"We are committed to starting Dryer at right end," said coach Allie Sherman. It was the first time in Sherman's nine-year reign with the Giants that he has drafted a defensive lineman in the first round.

Dryer, 22, started his college career at El Camino, Calif. Junior College before moving to San Diego State where he received national recognition.

To clear the way for Dryer, the Giants' preseason prospectus lists Bruce Anderson, the incumbent right end, as a left end battling the veteran Jim Katcavage for the job.

Eagles Recorded By Pair of Appleton Golfers

Two Fox Cities golfers scored eagles recently.

Mrs. Mary Hueseman, 2625 Southwood Dr., fired an eagle 2 on the third hole at Winagamie. She used a 4 wood to cover the final 145 yards.

Appleton's Chuck Quimby eagled the 305-yard sixth hole at the Countryside course. He used a 5-wood for the 150-yard second shot.

Mrs. Hueseman's eagle represented the second golf feat of recent days for residents of the same duplex. Mrs. Charles Pfister, 2627 Southwood Dr., achieved a hole-in-1 the other day.

Little Chute Semi-Pro '9' To Hold First Drill Sunday

LITTLE CHUTE — Manager Roger Gerrits, of the Little Chute semi-pro baseball team, has announced that the squad's first practice session has been set for 1 p.m. Sunday at American Legion Field here.

The Little Chute team, which represented Wisconsin at the national tournament in Wichita, Kan. in 1967 and finished in seventh place, also has a 10-game schedule lined up in addition to district tournament competition.

Gerrits asked that any players interested in trying out for the squad report to the field Sunday. After Sunday, workouts will be held Wednesday and Friday evenings.

"We will have quite a few of last year's players back," Gerrits said, "but we're always looking for new talent. We want to get that state title back and make another trip to Wichita," the manager offered.

First game for the Little Chute club will be played May 30, Memorial Day, at the Waupun State Prison. On June 1, the Menasha Macs will play at Little Chute.

Other games include: at the Green Bay Reformatory, June 7; Madison Poole's, at Little Chute, doubleheader, June 15; at Sheboygan, June 22; at Menasha, June 25; district tournament at Clintonville, June 26, 27 and 28; Sheboygan at Little Chute, June 29; district finals at Clintonville, July 3, 4, and 5; at Madison Poole's doubleheader, July 12 and the state tournament at Madison, July 17, 18, 19 and 20.

Gerrits said he also expects to schedule two games with Clintonville with dates to be announced.

Jingo Notes 2 Exciting Festivals Underway at Fond du Lac, Pulaski

State Folk Program With Colorful Shows May 24; Polka Event June 19-22 Up North

BY JINGO

There's an exciting program in the planning at Fond du Lac, according to word received from James Nintzel and James Sullivan.

It's the annual Wisconsin Folk Festival being held at the Fond du Lac County Fair grounds Park Saturday, May 24, by the Wisconsin Folk Association with the assistance of folk and civic groups in the Fond du Lac area. Sullivan is chairman of the folk show scheduled for three performances at 1 30, 4:30 and 7 p.m.

The program is something no one should miss because it will feature authentic folk dances by accomplished dancers organized to keep traditions of their people alive. There'll be Russians, Poles, Austrians, Israelites and Croations from Milwaukee, Lithuanians from Kenosha and a Filipino group from Fond du Lac.

Nintzel, executive director of the Fond du Lac Arts Council, notes that the fair grounds buildings will be renamed for the Festival. The sheep barn will become the "Rock Barn" and will house the unusual show, "World Awareness Through Rocks," under the auspices of the East Central Wisconsin Rock and Mineral Club.

There'll be more than 40 booths, representing different nationalities, on exhibit. These will be educational projects, research work and folk crafts in national origin backgrounds. They will range from an Arabian booth to the Welsh exhibit by the Gymanfa Ganu Association of Ripon, from the Cornish miners who came to Wisconsin in the 1840s to the Lithuanians of Wisconsin of the World War II era.

Jingo says this is a natural for the whole family, an outing and adventure at the same time.

Another nearby festival scheduled for June is the second annual Pulaski Polka Festival. This one is a popular event spite of being so young. It drew more than 30,000 persons from all over the Midwest last year.

Maybe it's because the Wisconsin Orchestra Leaders Association is its founder-sponsor These people are both well-known and well-liked. Don Schleis heads this year's Festival, which has been expanded an extra day, June 19 through June 22 in Pulaski, Wis., about 15 miles northwest of Green Bay.

There'll be more than 30 top polka and oldtime bands of Wisconsin featured during the four-day event.

Several Area Bands

Names of some of them: New London's Don Huettner and the Merry Makers; The Polka-Deers of Seymour; Mel Baeten and the Belltones of Kaukauna; Ray Dorschner and the Rainbow Valley Dutchmen, Menasha; Don Raflik and the Country Musicians, Stevens Point; The Red Suspender Boys of Green Bay; Alvin Stozynski and his Orchestra, Pulaski; Dick Kay and the Kaydettes, Teddy Thull and the Lumber Jills, both of West Bend; Dick Rodgers and his Orchestra, of Pulaski; Tony Rademacher and his Orchestra, Sig Loomis and the Tag-a-Longs, both of Menomonee Falls; Don Peachy and his Orchestra, Burnett; Bernie Roberts and his Orchestra, Juneau; Harve DeGuelle and his Orchestra, Casco; Two Creek Farm Hands, Two Rivers; Russ Zimmerman and his Orchestra, Algoma; Normie Dogs and his Melody Boys, Mayville; "Whoopee" Norm Edlebeck and his Dairyland Dutchmen, Wausaukee, Don Schleis and his Orchestra, Kewaunee

It looks to Jingo as if there's to "be a hot time in the old town" of Pulaski for four full days and nights. It's the biggest family event in Wisconsin say the planners and certainly the biggest polka festival in the Midwest.

Tom Jones Offers Pops, Plus Paulsen

BY TV SCOUT

8-9 Channel 11 — Pat Paulsen is the comedy feature on This Is Tom Jones with a good skit on the horror of hiccoughs and the many imaginative ways of curing them. Jones opens with another rousing production number of "I've Got a Heart." He then introduces Shani Wallis and teams up with her for "Til I Kissed You." Other features include Stevie Wonder with "Thank You Love" and "For Once In My Life," and the Hollies singing "Sorry Suzanne."

* * *

6:30-7 Channel 11 — There's no semblance of reality in The Flying Nun, but plenty of laughs as Vito Scotti, a very funny "over actor" is introduced as a bumbling police chief. He's the kind who leaps to conclusions, physically as well as emotionally, which can be damaging

6:30-7 Channel 2 — The plight of the American bison, or buffalo, has been carefully scrutinized in every communications medium, including television, so it would seem that subject on Animal World would be a rather wasted one. The excellence of the production changes that assumption. Bill Burred takes his cameras to the National Bison Range in western Montana, where a herd a 500 of the huge shaggy beasts are being raised. Burred gives us the familiar history of the near extinction of the species, by thoughtless slaughterers under the guise of hunting

7-7:30 Channel 11 — That Girl is a first-time voter, a responsibility she takes very seriously. She reads stacks of magazines and three volumnes of the Congressional Record and, during the Halloween visit home, refuses to tell her father how she registered.

* * *

7-8 Channel 2 — There's a spoof of The Mod Squad on The Jonathan Winters Show with Jonny, Alice Ghostly, Cliff Arquette and Soupy Sales making up The Odd Squad as they interrogate Bobby Van

7:30-8:30 Channel 5 — Milton Berle co-authored this Ironside script, which resulted in one of the better programs of the series. He perfectly plays one of those vicious TV interviewers, about to run for a Senate seat Despite his miserable manners on camera, he is a gentle man when off, although one with several problems of his own.

8-10 Channel 2 — The Thursday Night Movie has a lukewarm feature about post-Civil War Apaches It's titled, "A Distant Trumpet." Troy Donahue and Suzanne Pleshette star in the Cavalry vs. Indians melodrama Donahue is an officer learning how to win the West while winning fair lady at the same time.

8:30-9 Channel 5 — Perhaps the best episode for Dragnet 1969 was a depiction of the security operations for a big city police department when a top official visits. In this case it is the President of the United States, and the word that he is coming gets to the police only 24 hours before his arrival.

* * *

9-10 Channel 5 — The Dean Martin Show has a particularly bright offering with Bob Newhart extremely funny as a man talking to a potential suicide on a ledge and Paul Lynde portraying a humiliated soda jerk who has flunked his opening night on Broadway.

Winner of Election Could Regret Winning

RIVERSIDE, Wyo. (AP) — Town Councilman Richard Martin was re-elected to a four-year term in this tiny community's municipal election recently.

But he may regret it.

Martin received eight votes. The losing candidate, Mrs. Richard Martin, had seven.

Supermarkets Felt in Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — In 1956 the City of Buenos Aires staked out a full downtown block along bustling July 9th Avenue and established a major public market. There vendors gathered under a large canopy to sell meat, poultry, fruit and vegetables. Today there's still a market in that spot, but the city fathers wouldn't recognize it.

Housewives roll their shopping carts down air-conditioned aisles while piped-in music filters in from the ceiling. Husbands wait calmly outside, sipping beer at the sidewalk cafe. Shoppers file out carrying anything from home-made noodles to a TV set, and the ringing of the cash registers never stops.

The super, U.S.-style supermarket is beginning to make an impact in Argentina.

The Supermercado del Plata, which replaced the old public market, opened in September, 1968. Its sales already are more than $700,000 a month, and the board of directors is looking toward an even better future.

Another supermarket, Satelite, the nation's newest and biggest, opened in Buenos Aires in December. It has more than 1.7 million square feet of floor space and 63 check-out cash registers. Satelite bakes its own bread—26,400 pounds a day— and has an exotic pet department where you can buy a puma.

These two stores are actually giant discount houses whose main line is food. Although enterprises like these are common in the United States, Buenos Aires—with a metropolitan area population of 8 million—has just a handful.

"Ten years ago nobody wanted to take a chance on investing in a big supermarket," one executive said. "We weren't sure if people in Argentina would go for the idea."

Several small supermarkets have been operating in Buenos Aires since the early 1960s—among them the Mini-Max chain, financed in part by the Rockefellers. These have not been very successful.

One reason for this is that until recently great numbers of Argentine women did not do their own shopping. For years this was the job of the maid—still a fixture in middle-class households.

The lady of the house simply sent the maid to the corner grocer—Buenos Aires is saturated with neighborhood markets— whenever she needed anything. The corner butcher or fruit salesman was an old friend. He'd extend credit to the maid, and there was no reason to go to a supermarket. "Very few maids come in here," the manager of Supermercado del Plata said. "Most of our shoppers are young housewives. They have time, they like the idea of a big supermarket, so they prefer to shop by themselves."

The main advantage of the supermarket is lower prices. Because it buys in volume it sells filet mignon, for example, for 25½ cents a pound, about one - third below the neighborhood butcher.

Argentina's new super-supermarkets are trying to combine their lower prices with the friendliness of the corner store. One gives birthday presents to children and has a special celebration on Mothers Day. Another prints a one-page neighborhood newspaper.

The big supermarket owners have found, however, that new sales techniques often create new problems. One large store complained that too many people were coming in just to look —not to buy. For people from small towns, the Buenos Aires supermarkets are big-city sight-seeing attractions—like the jet airport or the subway.

A more serious problem is how Argentina's new supermarkets will affect the neighborhood grocers—most of whom still do business the way they did a generation ago.

'Fine Well Worth It,' Says Movie Director Who Hit Theater Critic

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Swedish movie director Ignmar Bergman was fined the Swedish crown equivalent of $1.000 Tuesday by the Stockholm City Court for hitting theater critic Bengt Jahnsson of the newspaper Dagens Nyheter Feb. 27 on the stage of the Royal Stockholm Dramatic Theater.

Bergman handled his own defense.

"On principle I am against every form of violence but I saw my attack on Jahnsson as the artist's last resource to guard himself as well as the whole theatrical corps against a persecution which has long been a danger to Swedish theater," he said in his final pleading.

Jahnsson was not present during the trial.

As for the fine, Bergman made only one comment: "It was worth it."

Why Plymouth?

PAA

(Instead of a Ford.) Plymouth Fury III has front torsion-bar suspension for better handling. Ford Galaxie 500 still has coils that bounce up and down.

Fury III has 28.3 sq. in. more brake lining area than Galaxie. And the linings are bonded while Galaxie 500's are riveted.

Fury III's standard V-8 engine has 318 cu. in. displacement. Galaxie 500's is smaller with only 302 cu. in. displacement.

Fury III has a single-unit welded body for strength. Galaxie 500 construction still bolts body to a frame.

To fight rust, Fury III is prepared by a 7-step dip-and-spray treatment. Galaxie 500 preparation is only by spray.

Overall length of Fury III is greater than Galaxie 500.

Interior room of Fury III is greater than Galaxie 500, greater than any car in its class.

Fury III's door opening is 27½ ins. for easy entry. Galaxie 500 opens to only a 22¾ in. entrance.

Fury III gives you 3.5 cu. ft. more trunk room than Galaxie 500.

Fury III's instrument panel is fully floodlit. Galaxie 500 lighting still comes from behind the instruments.

Ammeter and temperature indicators in Fury III are precision gauges. Galaxie 500 indicators are lights that come on when trouble occurs.

Fury III has a three-spoke padded steering wheel with horn ring. Galaxie 500's is not padded and has only 2 spokes.

Electric clock? Standard in Fury III. Extra-cost option in Galaxie 500.

Add it up, and you see why over ¾ million owners of competitive cars have been won over to Plymouth in the past two years. Plus, right now, we're putting the big stuff on special Furys (vinyl roof, automatic transmission, radio, power brakes and steering, 8.25 x 15 whitewalls, and deluxe wheel covers) and reducing the price. Why Plymouth? Is there any better way to get a great car and save money in the bargain? See us now.

Outagamie Board Kills Joint Safety Building

Wanted It Killed

DeBruin contended the city wanted the county board to kill the proposal. "Appleton doesn't want it," he said.

(The city council last month overwhelmingly approved allocating $1,500 to hire appraisers to determine the value of the 15 properties north of the courthouse where the proposed joint building would be located. The city also has maintained its joint agreement to proceed with the county, but supervisors withdrew from the agreement in April.)

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, agreed with DeBruin, noting Appleton Ald. John Ayers, (12th) was not even present at the board session. Ayers was the city's representative on the joint committee.

Esler was informed that Ald. Robert Roemer (8th) was present in Appleton's behalf.

Opponents had other arguments.

"We can spend ourselves into something that our children and our children's children will still be paying for," said Supv. Rudolph Spreeman, Town of Greenville.

Opposed Project

DeBruin said he opposed the county bonding for a project that was not needed.

Other opponents cited the cost of the land and the building and contended the present courthouse could be remodeled to handle the county's needs for years.

The safety building was estimated to cost about $2.3 million, plus up to $360,000 for the land. Proponents contended the land could be acquired cheaper with negotiations or court action but opponents continually pointed to the high land price as being "prohibitive."

On the other side, proponents urged supervisors to cooperate with the city and to look long-range rather than short-range.

Critical of the "self-appointed committee" that urged jail remodeling, Supv. Kurt Koletzke, Appleton, warned: "Eventually you're going to build this (safety building) someplace else." The cost will be higher later, he added.

Hodge Podge Created

Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, said the county would be "creating a hodge podge of subalternate replacements for what we need." He noted the county will need a new courthouse, plus expansion of other services.

Supv. Herbert Helble, Appleton, urged supervisors to "end the 10-year merry-go-round of futility and frustration" and "let's finally live up to our responsibility." He said the new facility would eliminate many problems which remodeling will not.

Supv. Patrick Mares, warned the county board that they should not rely on the old jail remodeling plans, prepared in 1963 and updated in 1967, because he did not believe the state had ever approved them officially.

Supv. Nick Karras, Appleton, urged opponents to consider what is in the best interest of the county, not just their con-

Voting against the joint venture were Supvs. Henry Breiting, De Bruin, DeLaHunt, Emil Diestler, Walter Fredericks, Irving Grunwaldt, Richard Helf, Norman Helms, Merritt Kavanaugh, Theodore Kemps, Paul Kostka, George Kroes, Sylvester Lenz, Harold Miller, Carl Runte, Delmar Schmeichel, George Schroeder, Edward Spierings. Spreeman, Bernard Tillman, Matt Verfurth, Robert Weyenberg, Daniel Williams.

Appleton supervisors in opposition were Esler and Roland Voss.

Proponents

Proponents were Norman Austin, Babbitt, G. Allen Bubolz, John Dietz, Patrick Heenen, Helble, Hiler, Theodore Jens, Andrew Jimos, Karras, Waldemar Klein, Kloes, Koletzke, Alphonse Lewandowski, Mares, Clarence Miller, John Schreiter, Rose Schroeder, Barbara Steger, and Charles Wussow.

Supvs. Ervin Conradt and Ralph Schwartz were absent.

After the vote Esler questioned whether the decision to remodel would be sufficient to satisfy the State Department of Health and Social Services which is dissatisfied with repeated delays.

Hiler indicated that the public property and insurance committee would have to come up with a recommendation on where to proceed on jail remodeling. Suggestions were to build additions on the front or rear of the courthouse.

Teamsters Get $2.10 Pay Increase in New 3-Year Murphy Pact

Union, Concrete Firm Contract Seen as Pacesetter in Fox Cities

A hefty pay increase and fringes are included in a new three-year contract members of Teamsters Local 563 ratified Tuesday night with Murphy Concrete Products Co.

The action represented a major breakthrough in area ready mix negotiations with Murphy, — one of the larger ready mix and construction material suppliers in the Fox Cities region, paying five pay increments adding up to $2.10 per hour between now and Jan 3, 1972.

In addition, the pact includes an estimated 20 to 25 cents per hour in increased fringe benefits relating to pension contributions, liberalized insurance coverage and vacations.

Not in Association

The Murphy firm, which has operatons at Appleton, Kaukauna, Black Creek and DePere, is not a member of the strikebound Fox Valley Contractor Material Suppliers Association, consisting of seven ready mix and sand-gravel firms in the Fox Cities.

Company and union negotiators, it was learned, agreed not to make public disclosure of the full terms of the new contract. However, terms did leak out following Tuesday night's Teamster membership meeting at the Labor Hall.

With the Murphy agreement, union officials say they are optimistic about talks with the strikebound association. Association members had indicated interest in the Murphy-Teamster negotiations, but made no official comment.

"The settlement with Murphy is in keeping with the economic standards in the ready mix industry," commented Robert Schlieve, secretary-treasurer of Local 563, and its chief negotiator.

Two Meetings

The old contract between the Murphy firm and Teamsters expired May 1, and terms of a new pact were arrived at after two meetings, without mediation.

In addition to meeting the $1.55 which the Teamsters have requested of the association, the Murphy firm picked up another 55 cents, which will boost drivers' salaries to $5.47 per hour as of Jan. 3, 1972.

Negotiations also are underway between the union and Murphy on a new contract for the firm's unionized sand and gravel division employes.

Three years ago, when the Teamsters were on strike against the Fox Valley Contractor Material Suppliers Association, the Murphy firm was nonunion and did a "land office" business.

It was during this period the Teamsters organized the Murphy employes.

Crotteau Indicted In Federal Court

Alleged Greenville Bank Robber Is Jailed Under $75,000 Bond

MILWAUKEE — Edward P. Crotteau, 62, Appleton, is being held in the Waukesha County Jail under $75,000 bond following a three-county federal grand jury indictment Tuesday.

Crotteau, who had been a longtime Neenah resident, is charged with the April 8th $15,000 armed robbery of the Greenville Branch of the First National Bank of Appleton; placing the lives of the bank employes in jeopardy by use of a dangerous weapon; and the April 8 attempted robbery of the Freedom State Bank.

A federal court clerk here said Crotteau, who recently was brought to Milwaukee from Rapid City, S.D., where he was apprehended April 13, probably will be arraigned in federal court early next week.

A lone gunman answering Crotteau's description attempted a holdup about 9:30 a.m. April 8 at the Freedom Bank. He walked out of the bank after employes refused to cooperate.

An hour later a gunman of the same description fled with $15,000 from the Greenville bank, after threatening Jerome Smith, assistant cashier, and Mrs. Vilma Keller, a teller.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents took Crotteau into custody at a Rapid City motel. He had about $15,000 and a revolver when he was apprehended.

Hortonville Motorist Guilty of Having Beer In Auto With Minors

Richard L. Young, 16, route 2, Hortonville, surrendered his driver's license for 60 days after he was found guilty Tuesday of having beer in a car with minors.

Outagamie County police charged Young after stopping his car on Givens Road, near Hortonville, late the night of April 25. Several teen-age girls and boys from the Hortonville and New London areas were in the car at the time. Police said there was beer in the auto.

In addition to the license suspension, Young was ordered to pay $6 court costs.

Motorist Fined $25 Following Accident

LITTLE CHUTE — Municipal Justice Raymond Sanders accepted a stipulation of guilt and a $25 bond posted by Miss Judith Van Handel, 18, 101 Freedom Road, on a charge of passing at an intersection.

Miss Van Handel was arrested after a May 8 accident at County Trunk OO and Washington Street.

Cardboard Squares Mark Path Along 'Crooked Street'

BY CAPPY DICK

The game of "Crooked Street" is run to play indoors on a rainy day. You can play it alone, or with friends. The equipment is a set of 50 cardboard squares with lines drawn on them. Make the squares yourself. That's part of the fun.

Cut the 50 inch-and-a-half squares from a suit box. Use a pencil and ruler to draw lines on each. These lines represent sections of Crooked Street. They should be a quarter inch wide. The best way to make them is to draw two parallel lines and fill the space between them with crayon.

Study the illustration above to see how the lines should be made. First prepare one square as the starting card, making it exactly like the one in Figure 4. Also making the finish card exactly as in Figure 4. Then draw lines on all the remaining 48 cards. Make them different on each one. For example, one card may have a line on it as in Figure 1. Another may have two lines as in Figure 2. Others may have angles on them as in Figure 3.

Play the game on a table. Lay the "start" card down. About two feet away place the "finish" card. If playing alone, pick 25 cards from the remaining 48; if others are playing with you, deal an equal number of cards to each.

The first player lays down one of his cards that will connect with the street on the "start" card (see figure 5). The next player must match part of one of his cards to the street that has been started. The players proceed in this manner, aiming to reach the "finish" card as soon as possible. The street may zig-zag any way the players choose to have it go, but the player who puts down the square that brings the street to the finish wins the game.

If playing alone, see how few cards you can use to finish Crooked Street.

Share Bus Subsidy, Says Works Board

If Fox River Bus Lines, Inc., is to be paid a subsidy to continue operations, the cost should be shared by communities getting service, the Appleton Board of Public Works agreed Tuesday.

As a result, the board set June 3 for a meeting with officials of Neenah, Menasha, Towns of Grand Chute and Menasha and Village of Kimberly to discuss possible shared subsidy payments.

In a recent letter to the city, Olaf Lundquist of Fox River Bus Lines said the firm needed a $37,296 annual subsidy to continue city service.

Lundquist appeared before the board Tuesday and cited the reasons for his request. He said the line for all operations, including charter service, had net operating revenue of $9,600 in 1968.

Charter Revenue

He repeated his claim charter service revenue was being used to subsidize city and area bus service.

Several board members took the position the bus service continuance was a problem for all the communities being served. It was the general feeling other cities, towns and villages should be asked to pay their share of a subsidy rather than just have Appleton pick up the tab.

At one point Lundquist said service to the commercial strip on W. College Avenue in the Town of Grand Chute accounted for a $6,000 loss last year.

Board members said they were willing to take a look at the city problem only, when it came to a possible subsidy. They wanted to know what part of the local and interurban service was causing the line to operate at a deficit.

No Profit

In answer to a question by Ald. John Ayers (12th), Lundquist said elimination of the school and town service problem would still not result in a profitable operation locally.

Ald. John Steidl (18th), alluding to the last operations and financial report filled with the Public Service Commission (PSC) by the bus line in 1968, declared, "It would appear the bus line is having a tougher time operating runs outside of the city."

"Why come to just the City of Appleton alone?" Steidl asked. "The place to go is the school board and surrounding towns where the line is providing services."

"If the bus line is going to seek subsidy, I think it should be divided up among all those communities where you are providing service," chimed in Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd).

Bus Problems

At Ayers' suggestion, the board decided to write to other Wisconsin cities which have experienced bus service problems and eventually entered into a subsidy program of some kind.

And at the same time, it went along with his idea to invite other communities receiving bus service to the June meeting of the board.

"I think the first thing to find out is whether these other communities want to have bus service or drop it," Ayers commented.

Lundquist said the idea of a joint meeting appealed to him.

At the suggestion of Steidl, the bus company official also will appear before the council school advisory committee tonight to air his complaints against the school board.

Diamonds Must be Held To Get Best Value

BY SYLVIA PORTER

(Editor's Note: This is the last in a series of special reports on far-out investments).

Large, top quality diamonds more than doubled in value last year, outrunning just about ev ery traditional form of investment. As one illustration of the glittering increase, a white four-carat diamond soared from a dealer price of $2,500 per carat at the end of 1967 to $5,400 a carat at the end of 1968.

In view of this trend and of the factors I submitted yesterday, would it be wise for you to nvest part of your nest-egg in liamonds or other gems which lso have been skyrocketing in rice?

In the opinion of a cross-ection of experts on inflation iedges, precious metals and xotic investments of many ypes, the answer is a very ighly qualified "yes — but only f . . ."

Before getting to the precise etails, let's get these fundamental points straight.

No Government Control

Diamonds are widely considered a hedge against inflation nd against currency devaluation because: diamond supplies re strictly limited (DeBeers onsolidated Mines in South frica controls an estimated 85 er cent of world production); o government can effectively ontrol diamond ownership or iamond exports although many ountries impose controls on xports of currencies; buying nd selling diamonds can be a ix dodger's dream if the ransactions are carried out in ash.

At the same time, a key rawback to buying diamonds or profit is the cold fact that ie only people who make huge rofits in diamonds are dealers the gems who buy and sell at holesale prices. The rest of us generally must buy at retail and sell at wholesale — a disadvantage indeed considering that, typically, the diamond retailer's markup is a minimum of 30 per cent and often as high as 50 to 100 per cent.

Still, you, the non-dealer, have a reasonable chance of making substantial profits in diamonds or other precious gems such as sapphires, emeralds and rubies . . .

Hold 5 to 10 Years

—If you are willing and able to keep the gems for at least five to 10 years. Big price fluctuations occur from year to year and if you are forced to resell your diamond after a year or two, you easily can take a licking on the deal;

—If you stick to highest priced, largest diamonds. Specifically diamonds under one and one-half to two carats, costing under $1,000 per carat, should not even be considered as an investment. When you are investing, you should aim at the four-carat and up range, costing over $5,000 per carat.

—If you restrict your buying to the highest quality diamonds, classified as "white" or "V.V.S." (very, very slight imperfections). As one diamond expert put it: "Simply the best quality is not good enough." This rule also applies to sapphires, emeralds and rubies: to be meaningful as an investment, these should cost in the tens of thousands of dollars.

Settings Don't Help

special settings and other dec-

—If you avoid paying for special settings and other decorations adorning a diamond. These drastically raise the retail price of a gem and tend to have little or no investment value.

—If you deal only with a top, highly reputable, big city jeweler on whose investment advice you can rely and in whose appraisal of a gem you can have implicit trust. Another factor favoring big city jewelers or diamond dealers is that small town stores often do not carry the size and quality gems required for a worthwhile investment.

Even assuming the long-term potential for profit in diamonds is good to excellent, I'd be cool — for I dislike the wide retail-wholesale gap, the fact that I must tie up large sums of money for five, 10 or more years, the "taste" of the dealing.

But that's a personal opinion. If you can follow the above rules of the game, diamonds could be the ideal far-out investment for you.

Green Bay Man Named in Suit Against Florida Firm

Post-Crescent News Service

MADISON — A Green Bay man has been named as a co-defendant in legal proceedings started by Atty. Gen. Robert W. Warren to halt activities of a Florida based cosmetics firm and a number of its leading distributorships.

Warren named Chester Nowak as the Green Bay area manager of Koscot Interplanetary, Inc., as Dane County Circuit Judge W. L. Jackman set May 28 for the date of a show cause hearing on a temporary injunction sought by Warren pending final determination of the case.

Joined with Koscot, the principal defendant in the case, and Nowak are Clyde C. Cobb, Larry L. Popp and Robert L. Whitcomb, all of Madison.

The suit says that Koscot has been operating actively in Wisconsin since August, 1968, but is not registered as a foreign corporation with the state. It is a Florida corporation which represents itself as a producer of cosmetics and related products.

The petition for the injunction alleges that the defendant's sales program involves substantial investments in distributorships. The investments, according to Warren's suit, often involve $4,500 or more per individual and the firm is believed to have collected at least $250,000 in Wisconsin.

Warren said that there exists a substantial possibility that if the defendants are found to be violating state law, investors will lose virtually all of their investment funds without effective legal recourse because, as well as being unregistered in Wisconsin, the company has no known property or bank accounts within the state.

Warren's suit claims that the firm's activities involving the sale of distributorships are in violation of state laws relating to lotteries, referral selling plans, chain promotion schemes and the advertising and sale of securities.

Long Weekend Fast Becoming A Fact of Life

U. S. Government, Companies Move In That Direction

By PHILIP WECHSLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The American economy is slowly inching its way toward the three-day weekend.

Indicative of the trend, perhaps, are the passage of legislation fixing certain holidays to fall either on Friday or Monday and the beginning by some companies of an abbreviated form of the long weekend.

Reader's Digest began a four-day week for the month of May for its 2,800 workers. "With the institution of this annual four-day-per-week month, we are once again in the forefront of what I am convinced will eventually be a major trend," said DeWitt Wallace, cochairman of the magazine located in Pleasantville, N.Y.

McDonald's restaurant chain began last week letting its office employes off at 1 p.m. Fridays until the end of the summer for a quicker start on the weekend. And employes, in the Chicago headquarters and six regional offices around the country, showed up for work dressed in sports clothes—on the orders of McDonald's president, Fred L. Turner.

"Fact of Life"

"What's the point in giving everyone Friday afternoon off if they have to spend time getting home and changing clothes?" Turner said. "The summer weekend is a fact of American life and our hours are designed to give our employes a long weekend."

But he pointed out, however, office employes will observe 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. hours during the rest of the week to make up for the short Friday schedule.

Eighteen employes of the Bank of New York's fiduciary data control section also are receiving the dividend of a four-day week, although a bank spokesman emphasized they work the normal 35-hour week.

The spokesman explained the experiment began because most of the work in the section does not come into the office until after noon. Previously this resulted in a substantial amount of overtime. Now the employes work from noon to 9:45 p.m. and are scheduled so that the office is manned Monday through Friday.

Agreeing with the principle of a three-day weekend is Edward Cleary, president of a New York City electrical union local whose 10,000 members in the construction field are believed to have the shortest work day in the nation—five hours.

"With the work force growing each year and technological advances replacing more workers, the shorter work week is an economic necessity," says Cleary, who predicts the four-day week will come about in 10 years.

Some experts, however, foresee in 10 to 20 years adoption of a shorter work day or some other form of abbreviated schedule before the three-day weekend.

Phyllis Moerhle of the National Association of Manufacturers believes the American worker will have longer vacations, more holidays, earlier retirement and the shorter work day.

Mrs. Moerhle, director of the NAM's Institute on Industrial Relations, says "perhaps by the end of the century" the four-day week may be a reality."

The NAM states: "If we are to have a simultaneous increase in leisure and in standard of living, the two together cannot exceed the gain in productivity, which in the past has been at an average rate of about 2½ per cent per year. If we are to have both, both must occur at a very gradual pace."

Nothing Drastic

"Thus it would appear that any abrupt, drastic and widespread reduction of the work week is ruled out."

Dr. Eli Ginzburg, a Columbia University economics professor who agrees with Mrs. Moerhle of the NAM, says that economics aside there are two other reasons against the four-day work week.

"Women don't want their husbands around that much time and I cannot conceive of parents tolerating their children under foot for a three-day weekend."

Committee Has Leadership Gap

There's a night-and-day difference of opinion among Outagamie County Board parks and recreation committeemen. As a result, the committee, reorganized in mid-April, still has no new officers.

The problem developed at the first committee meeting. The committee agreed to wait until all five members were present to elect officers. Supv. Charles Wussow, Appleton, was our of town, at the time.

Since then, Wussow has returned but now committeemen are divided between day and night meetings.

Wussow argues in favor of night meetings because one committeeman, Supv. Ralph Schwartz, Appleton, cannot attend day meetings.

Nights are Short

Supv. Harold Miller, Grand Chute, opposes this. Board members have an obligation to their families, he says, and besides, night meetings tend to limit discussion while a morning meeting can run into the afternoon, if the subject matter necessitates it.

G. Allen Bubolz, Appleton, acting chairman, put off elections again Tuesday when Schwartz did not appear in the afternoon as he had expected. However, he has scheduled a meeting for 9:30 a.m. Wednesday and indicated officers will be elected at this time.

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, made it clear Tuesday that he was irritated with the situation. "This is the first time since I've been on the county board that we have been held up this long," he complained.

He noted the clerk has been unable to complete the county directory because of the committee's delay. Clerk Arthur Holihan said copies are sent to the Secretary of the state and other county boards in Wisconsin, and Outagamie already has received directories from several other counties.

Wussow shot back at Esler that the committee will not elect officers until all committeemen can be present.

Million to One Aussie Ewe Has Quints

MELBOURNE (AP) — Bessie, the prize Merino ewe of sheep-farmer Arthur Erwin, has had quintuplets—and that's a million-to-one chance in sheep, Mrs. Erwin told a reporter: "It was a natural birth—no hormones. When Arthur and I went down to the paddock there were four little lambs lying around like a clump of mushrooms. A fifth was on the way. They were all about three-parts normal size."

The lambs are being hand-fed, are well and jumping all over the place.

The Erwin property of 1,800 acres is 150 miles west of Melbourne and carries 4,000 sheep.

"We've had plenty of twins, occasional triplets, but never quints before," said Mrs. Erwin.

Derek Tribe, the professor of animal husbandry at Melbourne University, said the possibility of a Merino ewe having quints was "one chance in many millions."

Crow, Cat Cause Electrical Outage

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Electrical service in portions of El Paso was interrupted twice a recent night because of animals.

The first interruption was when a crow caused a short of a 14,000-volt line with his wing, cutting off electricity to the area near the La Tuna Correctional Institution.

The second came when a cat crawled on top of a substation regulator, causing the regulator to malfunction.

Referendums on All School Bonding Again Proposed

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton school district residents may get a chance to go to the polls in September to decide if referendums should be held on future school construction bond issues.

For the third time in 18 months, the city council's school advisory committee went on record Wednesday night asking the fiscal control board to put the question to a public vote.

The board is comprised of the city's 20 aldermen and chairmen of the Towns of Grand Chute, Buchanan, Harrison and Menasha.

Growing unrest among taxpayers because of rising property taxes was cited by referendum proponents for leaving the choice to the people.

Public Hearing

The committee took its action after a public hearing at which the pros and cons of referendums were debated.

About 15 persons attended, including spokesmen for the League of Women Voters and the local branch of the American Association of University Women, who objected to putting school bonding matters to a public vote.

Ald. John Steidl (18th), committee chaairman, recalled that the last time the 24-member fiscal board considered the bonding question, the mandatory school bond referendum lost by only two votes.

At least three committee members said they had been told a group of residents is prepared to circulate petitions to force the issue if the fiscal control board does not schedule a referendum on referendums.

Errington Opposed

Ald. William Errington (15th) said he is against the referendum proposal. He said city officials should "stand up and make the decisions because that is what the people elect them for."

Ald. Richard Schouten (19th), a council newcomer, said there is no doubt in his mind — considering the city is now in a "tax squeeze" — that an advisory referendum will be passed by an overwhelming vote. But he thought referendums should be held only as a last resort.

Some of those objecting to referendums questioned the capability of the general public to understand the issues.

Appearing against the referendum proposal were Mrs. Harold Danford, 430 E. Pershing St., representing the University Women; Mrs. Jerold Winzenz, 65 Bellaire Court, League of Women Voters; William Wachtendonk, former alderman; Mrs. Joseph Dercks, 1819 N. Nicholas St. and Mrs. Daniel J. Crowley, 1118 Melrose Ave.

Referendum Backers

Strong support for bond issue referendums came from Thomas Heiss, 212 E. Harding Ave. and Carl Roehl, 1615 N. Nicholas St.

Mrs. Danford, in a statement read to the committee, said the University Women's chapter here does not think it necessary to hold a referendum on school building.

Among the disadvantages she said are a lack of informed voters, lack of multiple choice qunestions on a referendum, technical working questions and costs involved in scheduling special citywide referendums.

Mrs. Danford said matters dealing with school construction could most efficiently be handled by the fiscal control board.

A long list of school bond and budget referendums defeated over the past year, including recent weeks, was read to the committee by Heiss.

His strongest point was that the property tax could no longer take the pressure being put on it by school construction and other major public works projects.

Heiss favored Appleton adopting an ordinance similar to Madison's where all bond issues have to be approved by referendum vote. He asked the committee to schedule a referendum, which would be advisory, on Sept. 9 to poll the public.

Criticism of Administration

He also criticized the Appleton Board of Education and administration on past construction programs, and claimed there were many other problems.

Joseph DeBruin, Buchanan chairman,, said he was in favor of seeing whether the people wanted school bond referendums. "Towns are really being hit hard by school taxes," he said. "They have no industrial base to cope with them.."

Support of having an advisory referendum also came from Ald. Edward Maloney (9th), who claimed in the long run the school board would benefit.

Release of Federal Funds To Speed Outagamie Project

Eight Wisconsin Airports Will Benefit From Available Aid

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WISCONSIN RAPIDS — Federal funds are expected to be released within the next several days for airport projects in Wisconsin, including taxiway work at the Outagamie County Airport.

Fritz Wolf, administrator, State Division of Aeronautics, told representatives at the Wisconsin Aeronautics Conference here that he had been notified late Wednesday that about $15 million in frozen federal airport funds are expected to be released and could affect eight airport projects in Wisconsin which have been held up because of the freeze.

Wolf said the projects which are most ready to go would be the one to receive federal funding.

Set For Bids

The Outagamie County taxiway work is set to be bid and had been awaiting only the release of federal funds.

Wolf also informed conference delegates that they can expect greater government regulation over airports in the future. "We have never attempted to become a regulatory body in the past," Wolf said, "but we are now faced with conditions where we must enter into this area."

Among probable regulations that will come into being in the future will be control over locations of airports, standards for airport ratings and separation of airports for traffic patterns.

Greater emphasis apparently also will be placed on improved navigational aids for airports. The State Division of Aeronautics is seeking to change state law to permit purchase and installation of navigational aids, by counties instead of having to wait for a federal determination of need at the airport.

Wolf noted that when weather conditions prevail requiring instrument landing, Rhinelander is the only Wisconsin airport north of State 29 at which airplanes can land.

Move More People

G. H. Bakke, secretary of the State Department of Transportation, who appeared on this morning's program with Wolf, warned that an over-all solution to the transportation problems must be found "if society as we know it is to continue to exist.

"We must find ways of moving more people and more commodity tons at a lower cost per unit," he said. "If we can't solve that problem, that will be an end to our affluency."

He stressed that airport planning cannot be separated from land or water transportation planning. They are all interrelated, he said.

Bakke said transportation was an enormous industry and questioned attempts of altering trends in the transportation field. He suggested that it may be easier to solve the transportation problem by adapting solutions to the existing trends.

Appleton Couple Hurt In Two-Car Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winsted, 617 N. Appleton St., complained of neck injuries after their car was struck from behind about 3:45 p.m. Wednesday on Rankin Street, at Pacific Street.

Police said the Winsted auto was northbound on Rankin and had stopped behind another auto when it was rammed from behind by a car driven by Edwin J. Ahrens, 47, 919 E. Pacific St.

No Progress In Ready-Mix Mediation

Operating Engineers Local, Suppliers at Madison Sessions

No progress reportedly was made Wednesday in mediation talks at Madison between the striking Operating Engineers Local 139 and Fox Valley Construction Material Suppliers Association.

Don Lee, mediator for the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission, had the parties in joint and separate conferences from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Lee adjourned the session subject to call.

The union and association representatives reviewed their positions and discussed offers and counter offers that could lead to a settlement of the strike which began here July 29, 1968.

Donald Shaw was spokesman for the Operating Engineers and attorney Joseph Melli, in whose office the meeting was held, served as chief negotiator for the association, comprised of seven Fox Cities ready mix and sand-gravel firms.

City Ponders School Site

Menning Property Location Favored, Price Is Questioned

Another two hours was spent by Appleton officials Wednesday night deliberating whether 5.25 acres of raw land should be purchased from Percy Menning, Grand Chute, for a new elementary school site.

The property is across from Einstein Junior High school and has been favored since the mid-1960's by the school board.

Members of the city council's school advisory committee said last night they also favored the site, but not the price.

Menning has offered to sell the property to the school district for $23,750, plus other considerations.

It was these considerations that were questioned by aldermen. One would have the city eventually bearing the cost of an easement and sewer facilities — estimated at about $4,000 — to serve other property Mennings owns in the area.

Not for Schools

The utilities would not serve the schools, it was explained.

Ald. William Errington, 15th, questioned whether the city should be paying an additional $4,000, which he said would boost the land package price to about $28,000.

Menning recounted the negotiations he had with the school board and city officials over the years and indicated his proposal was adding to the cost of the property.

The committee, after considerable discussion with Menning, asked the city attorney to make a review of Menning's proposal and check it for legal technicalities. The matter will be submitted to the school district fiscal control board June 4 for final action.

Anderson Elected Chairman of COG

Nick Jansen Receives Citizen Award at 2nd Annual Meeting

OSHKOSH — Kaukauna Mayor Gilbert Anderson unanimously was elected chairman of the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) Wednesday night at the metropolitan planning organization's annual meeting.

Mayor Anderson

Anderson, who was vice chairman, replaced Laurel Heaney, Town of Neenah chairman, who was chairman in COG's first two years of existence.

Edward Spierings, Little Chute village president, was unanimously elected vice chairman, and Ralph Risley, Menasha, was re-elected one of two COG officials at-large.

At the same time, COG officials approved the nominating committee's recommendation that officials be allowed to serve no more than two consecutive years as an officer.

Award Given

Heaney opened the second annual meeting by announcing Nick Jansen, Little Chute, is the recipient of the Charles W. Wood Memorial Award for outstanding citizen contributions to regional planning. Jansen was a citizen member of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission until 1967 when it reorganized as COG.

Jansen, a member of the village planning commission and former village trustee and secretary - treasurer, worked with Wood, H. F. Shattuck and others who helped establish the metropolitan planning operation in 1956. Wood was chairman of the organization from 1957 until his sudden death in 1963.

Heaney, who received high praise from Anderson, reported that COG's workload had multiplied five times and the planning staff doubled during 1968.

Outagamie County police said Scheibe was northbound on French Road when his car left the roadway, struck a mailbox, crossed to the other side of the road and went into a ditch. Scheibe told police he was attempting to avoid an oncoming car that was in his lane.

WEA President Pledges Aid

Kimberly Teachers Assured Of State Support in Dispute

KIMBERLY — With tension growing in the teachers contract dispute, Kimberly Education Association (KEA) leaders brought in the president of the Wisconsin association to reassure teacher holdouts of state-level support.

Jerome Strupp, Wisconsin Education Association (WEA) president, told most of the 100 KEA members who have refused to sign new contracts that the WEA will hold true to its pledge of continued support and assistance in resolving the dispute.

Strupp appeared before close to 100 teachers assembled in Kimberly High School following Wednesday's classes.

"I have been made aware of the problem to be resolved in Kimberly," he said. "To protect your interests and those of innocent prospective candidates, the WEA has issued an urgent advisory alerting teachers in a several-state area seeking positions that there is still an unresolved conflict in Kimberly," he added.

Not Alone

Although the teachers say the dispute is a local issue to be settled locally, Strupp said that when 100 teachers agreed on a course of action, it became a matter of concern for support from the WEA. He told teachers they are not alone in contract difficulties.

He urged them to stay united until the dispute is resolved.

"For you to succeed, collectively and individually, you must act with complete solidarity," he said. Strupp advised teachers to make individual feelings known to their leaders, but to "stick together and remain solid."

He felt the situation in Kimberly was not as difficult as some other districts about which the WEA is uninformed.

"Negotiations are best handled at the local level and local issues are best settled on the local level," said Strupp, noting the WEA desires it to remain that way.

(A KEA official indicated this morning that to his knowledge, there has been no undue pressure exerted on the holdouts since the board of education demanded they return signed contracts by April 30.)

He reported 213 districts had settled contract terms, 29 were still negotiating with no difficulty, six were in mediation, nine in fact finding and 50 unreported.

"WEA urgent advisories are still in existence for Berlin, Elmbrook, Fall Creek, and Spooner, in addition to the one issued in Kimberly. Advisories previously issued for Wautoma and Reedsburg are being rescinded because the disputes there have been settled," said Strupp.

Goals of the WEA are good education and good schools and these cannot be achieved by a district casting aside a majority of experienced teachers, the speaker noted. Pointing out there were bound to be differences, Strupp praised the KEA for the fine support shown leaders and said, "Each morning reports of new settlements reach us and I hope that very soon we will receive that kind of report from Kimberly."

Hope for Talks

Dale Legois, president of the KEA, indicated there was hope they could go back to the negotiating table with the board of education without resorting to fact finding, an unnecessary expense for the KEA and board.

Phil Gocker, a member of the negotiating team for the KEA, assured non-degree teachers the KEA would stand behind them in any contract negotiations, advised teachers the fact finding could be stopped at any time should agreement be reached and urged teachers who signed contracts elsewhere to notify the board of education, thus enabling them to hire replacements.

Calf in Road Causes Accident; Woman Passenger Injured

A calf that wandered onto Outagamie County Trunk EE Wednesday night caused an accident that resulted in a broken leg for him, $1,800 damage to a car, and injury to a woman passenger in the car.

County police said Russell M. Schinke, 29, 318 E. Washington St., was northbound on EE, a mile north of Apple Creek, when he swerved in an attempt to miss the calf which was standing in the middle of the northbound lane.

His car left the roadway and rolled over, but not before striking the calf, breaking its leg. The calf is owned by Victor Brown, route 3.

'Yellow Journalism' Charged

Lorge Slams News Coverage

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — State Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, accused The Post-Crescent Wednesday of "yellow journalism" for its coverage of charges made by Assemblyman William Rogers, D-Kaukauna, over backing of a bill authored by Assemblyman Ervin Conradt, R-Shiocton, to license electricians.

Lorge made his charge in voting for a bill which would extend to newsmen the right to refuse to divulge in court proceedings the names of sources of news stories.

Lorge said the he would vote for the bill despite the "yellow journalism" of The Post-Crescent.

Rogers Charges

Asked later by The Post-Crescent to specify such instances, he singled out the initial story which reported in The Post-Crescent and in the Green Bay Press-Gazette the contents of charges made by Rogers to Atty. Gen. Robert Warren over activities of Howard Hazen, executive director of the Wisconsin Electricians and Electrical Contractors Association, involving the Conradt bill which Lorge joined a number of legislators in co-authoring.

Since being revealed by the two newspapers, the Rogers charges have received extensive news coverage throughout the state.

The story pointed to by Lorge was prepared by the Madison bureau of The Post-Crescent and quoted extensively from Rogers' letter to Warren.

Refused Specifics

Lorge made the accusation after twice refusing to point to specific instances, charging that there were "many" of them.

Asked for more, he said that he was "too busy" to list them.

The instance selected involved a statement by Rogers to Warren in calling for an investigation of the Hazen activities that there is an implication that a legislator may have received money involving the bill to license electricians and electrical contractors.

The story, which listed the co-authors of the bill, did not report, nor did Rogers state, that the "fellow lawmaker" was one of the co-authors.

Lorge subsequently publicized the charge by reading it on the floor of the senate Tuesday.

Possible "Smear"

If the charges in the Rogers letter are true, he said at that time, Rogers is to be commended for doing a service for the people of the state.

But he joined with Conradt in raising the charge of a possible

Committee Moves To Enforce Drain, Sewer Separation

NEENAH — The public works committee Wednesday decided an ordinance requiring home owners to disconnect foundation drains from the sanitary sewers would be cheaper than expanding the sewage treatment plant by 10 times its present size.

Public Works Director Wayne Bryan, submitted a proposed ordinance which would provide for inspection and possible court action if home owners did not comply with orders to disconnect their foundation drains from the sanitary sewers.

Foundation drain hookups are considered to be one of the main contributors to clear water into the sanitary sewers and the city has promised the state it would have all drains disconnected by 1973.

Clear water in the sanitary systems has been a major factor in overloading the Neenah-Menasha sewerage treatment plant.

Bryan said statistics show that if the foundation drains are not disconnected, the treatment plant, within the next 15 years, will have to be increased 10 times the present size.

Ald. Paul Mueller placed a top priority on getting clear water from the sanitary system. "Either we are going to part with money to separate, or we are going to part with future generations."

The job of separation on the home owner level would require filling in the pipe leading from the drains to the sanitary sewers and providing some other means of excess water disposal. One way to do this is installation of a sump pump to keep basements dry.

Bryan said the average job in Neenah would cost about $200 but he said, "This would vary from house to house, depending on the kind of work that has to be done."

Mueller said, "Before we put something like this into effect, let's get together with the plumbers in the city to see if we can come to an agreement on some type of standard charging procedure."

The ordinance, as proposed, would give the home owners 60 days to correct the situation as it exists in their homes. Committee members balked at the time limit saying it would put the resident in a situation where he wouldn't be able to get a good price because of it being a rush job.

To get started on the final draft, committee members decided to meet with Carl Beringer, plumbing inspector, to get his thoughts on possible agreements with city plumbing contractors.

Jury Finds Negligence In Accident

A six - member Outagamie County Court jury found a route 1, Hortonville woman 80 per cent negligent in causing an accident nearly a year ago between her tractor-hay rake unit and a pickup truck.

Russell Becker, also of route 1, Hortonville, brought the damages suit against Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Nennig. The case was heard in County Court Branch 3.

Becker, in his complaint, charged Mrs. Nennig with negligence in causing the July 11 accident on U. S. 45 near Julius Road, in the Town of Greenville. He was southbound in his pickup truck and Mrs. Nennig drove her tractor, pulling a hayrake, onto the highway from the west side of the roadway.

Becker sought $990 for damage to his truck. Mrs. Nennig, in a counterclaim, alleged Becker was negligent in the operation of his truck, and she sought $550 for damage to her hayrake. The jury found Becker 20 per cent negligent.

The jury also found that Becker should receive $440 for damages to his truck and $55 for the loss of use of the truck, and that the Nennigs should receive $350 for the loss of the hayrake. However, the actual amounts of the awards will be based on the percentage of negligence ruled by the jury.

Blacktop Playground Urged For Schools in Grand Chute

There is a desperate need for blacktopped playground area for the three elementary schools in the Town of Grand Chute, Appleton Board of Education members were told Monday night.

This was the plea conveyed by Miss Ruth Ann Finch, head teacher at Badger School, and Mrs. Kurt Schoenrock, in-coming president of Badger's PTA.

Mrs. Schoenrock told the board the youngsters of Badger, Woodlawn and Twin Willows were not receiving educational opportunities equal to those of youngsters in other schools.

Any physical education activities are extremely restricted, she said.

When the board hedged on acting because of fund shortages, she urged them to take "not a slide-away approach but a positive approach." Budget cuts in recent years have forced the board to throw out plans to black top the playgrounds.

Miss Finch said the lack of physical activtiy was affecting the dispositions of the youngsters and also the teachers and parents, who have to clean the mud off the clothes.

"It bugs everybody," she said.

The school's program "could be much, much better," she said.

Board members asked William Knuth, director of business affairs, to study the financial situation and see if the money could be found to bloacktop the three playgrounds. A report will be made May 26.

The PSC hearing is scheduled June 4 in Madison on the company's application to build a gate station to tap into the line which serves Neenah and Menasha.

The gate station, to be built by Michigan Wisconsin Pipeline Company, would also provide another source of which is served by Wisconsin-supply to the Twin Cities which is served by Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., gas lines.

Wisconsin Public Service Corp., plans to install about 17½ miles of gas line to serve the western areas at a cost of about $283,384.

Cooper Refutes Claim of Belli On Sirhan Appeal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Grant B. Cooper says he, not Melvin Belli, will appeal Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's conviction for murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Belli, the San Francisco criminal attorney who defended Jack Ruby, said Saturday he had talked with Sirhan's family and probably would enter the case.

Cooper, Sirhan's chief defender when the 25-year-old Jordanian was convicted last month of shooting Kennedy and sentenced to death, visited Sirhan Monday and then read a statement he said Sirhan had signed. The statement read:

"I, Sirhan Sirhan, having full confidence in my present attorneys, Grant B. Cooper and Russell Parsons, members of the California State Bar, hereby engage them and none other to handle my appeal to the Supreme Court of the State of California and, if necessary, to the Supreme Court of the United States."

Belli was in Mexico City and not immediately available for comment.

Four Firms Start Proceedings For Annexation to Neenah

NEENAH — Four commercial properties now located in the Towns of Neenah and Menasha on Green Bay Road, have started legal proceedings to annex to the City of Neenah.

A legal notice of intent to circulate a petition for annexation is being published today by the owners of Gateway Transportation Co., Churm Construction Co., Munroe Studios and Shattuck, Siewert and Associates Inc.

$200,000 Expansion

The Gateway Company, which has started a $200,000 expansion of its terminal, is the only one of the four which is located in the Town of Neenah. Gateway owns all the land from its present terminal to North Street. Its present terminal is already in the city, but land on which it is expanding is still in the town.

The Churm company's new office on North Street: Munroe Studios at 202 N. Green Bay Road, and Shattuck Siewert at 250 N. Green Bay Road, are all located in the Town of Menasha.

Office Building

Frederick Churm said the move to annex was started almost a year ago, when his company decided to build its offices on North Street.

"We are all Neenah-oriented businesses," he said, "and it has generally been our intention to be a part of Neenah."

"Of course, we do want the city services," he said, "such as police and fire protection and sewer and water. But more importantly, we are really Neenah companies and want to be in the city."

Mayor Donald Hassler said this morning, "This will be a welcome addition to the city."

Long-Range Plan

The properties are adjacent to the city and with them we should be able to better coordinate our long-range planning for municipal service," the mayor added.

"We are interested in eliminating as many islands and disarranged borders as possible," Hassler continued.

Nine Acres

Although specific land areas are not available, the Gateway property is estimated at about four acres, with the properties north to North Street adding another five.

Included is all the land, including the residents on the Gateway property occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conant, from Gateway north to the

Secretaries in Little Chute Schools to Get Pay Hikes

LITTLE CHUTE — The board of education Tuesday night approved salary increases of approximately 10 per cent for secretarial help for the 1969-70 school year, the increases amounting to about a $1,000 increase in budget costs.

A summer driver education program was approved. It will be run by Donald Treptow who will receive $5 per hour and Matthew Vander Velden who will receive $3.50 per hour. Tentative approval was given to building an unfinished stairway adjacent to the band room, as required by the Wisconsin Public Service Commission, at a cost estimate of $2,500.

Supt. of Schools Leo Bronkalla was authorized to investigate overheating in two classrooms of the elementary school, believed to be caused from radiation off a large window expanse.

Programmed Reading

An evaluation report on the programmed reading course for students in elementary school was given and board members agreed to continue the program and provide in-service training sessions for new teachers or other teachers not acquainted with the systems. Under the plan, students progress at their own rate, but are evaluated before advancing to a higher stage.

A faculty relations committee was established to meet regularly with the board and to keep both faculty and school administrators and board members informed of problems of mutual concern. Committee members include Thomas Gruman, Carolyn Bell, Ronald Meidam, Martin Morasch, Donald Bangart and Bronkalla.

The revision of a teachers' handbook designed to acquaint personnel with job involvements was approved.

Mrs. Isabelle Van Boxtel was named custodian to replace Jacob Boer for the remainder of the school year. A full-time night custodian will be sought later.

Bronkalla reported teaching positions were fairly well filled, but still the district was seeking a kindergarten teacher, business education instructor and part-time teaching help for chemistry, art and library.

Neenah Cyclist Seriously Hurt

OSHKOSH — A 9-year-old Neenah boy, who suffered a skull fracture when his bicycle was struck by a car at 5 p.m. Wednesday remains in fair condition today at Theda Clark Hospital.

The boy is Robert M. Piette, 1014 Bayview Road. County police said the boy was riding his bicycle east on Maple Lane, town of Neenah, and turned into the path of an auto driven by Gerald T. Scheffler, 28, Hunters Point Road, Neenah. The Scheffler auto was also eastbound, police said.

Scheffler told police he saw the bicycle start to turn, sounded his car horn and swerved the auto to the left. The bicycle struck the car in the right front, police said.

Officer on USS Pueblo Has Resigned

BOSTON (AP) — Lt. Edward B. Murphy Jr., an executive officer aboard the USS Pueblo when it was seized by North Korea last year, has resigned from the Navy, the Christian Science Monitor reported Wednesday.

In a letter of resignation, Murphy said, "The results of the court inquiry into the Pueblo matter and subsequent actions of the Navy in regards to my career leave me no alternative."

The Monitor said Murphy was dissatisfied over the board of inquiry's recommendation that he be given "a letter of admonition" for alleged dereliction in the performance of duties at the time of the Pueblo's seizure.

Murphy said he had asked to be assigned to the Navy's postgraduate school in Monterey, Calif., prior to the release of the board of inquiry's finding, but the request was denied. The Navy approved a similar request from Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, the Pueblo captain.

Police Chase Speeding Car At 100 m.p.h.

Appleton Man, 21, Caught Mile North of Greenville

A 21-year-old Appleton man who led several police cars on a 10-mile chase at speeds exceeding 100 miles per hour Wednesday afternoon, was ordered to appear in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Friday on two traffic charges.

Thomas Goetz, 1937 N. Richmond St., is charged with speeding 75 miles per hour in a 25 zone and attemping to elude police.

The chase began about 1:40 p.m. after an Appleton patrolman attempted to wave down Goetz whom he said he had timed with radar at an excessive speed in the 1700 block of N. Richmond Street

Instead of stopping, Geotz, according to police, turned onto Bell Avenue. He led police through several northwest side streets, at speeds up to 75 miles per hour, before leaving the city on U.S. 10.

City and Outagamie County police chased him north on State 76 at speeds of over 100 miles per hour. Goetz's car was finally stopped by Sgt. Lyle McCully of the Waupaca County Sheriff's Department on State 76, a mile north of Greenville.

The off-duty Waupaca County policeman had been at a restaurant along State 76.

Mayor Urges Changes in Burning Law

Reconsideration of Committee Proposal Asked in Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Mayor Gilbert Anderson has written the legislative committee of the city council requesting the group to reconsider the recommendation of the health and recreation committee concerning a burning ordinance.

The recommended ordinance would eliminate all burning except of leaves, and these could only be burned in a wire mesh container which was at least six inches off the ground.

"Because of the varied opinions of the city council and the many telephone requests for further consideration of our burning ordinance, I think the committee should reconsider some of the action thus far taken," Anderson said

"I feel there are two primary objectives on which the health and recreation committee worked very hard and which should be enforced," the mayor continued. He listed these as getting rid of unsightly burning barrels and strict enforcement against burning of garbage, tires, rags and other debris, which is unnecessary and creates an unhealthy condition.

No Problems

"However, the burning of leaves, whether, in piles or not, the burning of clean paper, wood, and of course, charcoal for outside cooking, certainly has not created any great problem and in my opinion could be continued," said Anderson.

Some questions have arisen about wood fires in private or public fireplaces for roasting hot dogs and the use of outside incinerators by store owners desiring to destroy cardboard containers.

"I can appreciate the views of those who believe, for the sake of enforcement, no burning should be allowed, but I believe it is essential that we have laws that we all can live with and certainly the above considerations would not materially affect what we are striving to achieve," Anderson concluded.

Neenah Youth Fined in Crash Fatal to Two

CHILTON — Daniel Lee Piette, 19, 1014 Bayview Road, Neenah, was fined $100 and his drivers' license was suspended for one year, when he appeared before Circuit Judge William Crane, Wednesday in Calumet County Court.

Piette had earlier been charged with negligent operation of a motor vehicle which caused the death of two his companions Terry Lee Handler, 18, 1099 Laurel Court, Neenah, and James L. Reiter, of 416 Nicolet Blvd., Menasha. Passengers in the Piette auto.

The district attorney moved to have the two charges dismissed and amended to reckless driving.

Piette was involved in a car-truck accident in December of 1967 at South Madison and Chestnut streets in Chilton.

Piette was hospitalized, and in a cast, for several weeks with a compound leg fracture and torn liver as a result of the crash.

The truckdriver, Myron T. Kaster, route 3, Green Bay, was not injured. A three-hour coroner's inquest into the crash June 12 resulted in finding Piette negligent.

Fellow Senators Rough on Lorge When Killing Bill

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — State Sen Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, received rough treatment from his fellow members of the upper house Tuesday when a joint resolution calling for an amendment to the state constitution reducing the size of the legislature was voted down as Lorge sat at his seat on the floor reading his mail.

"Senator," said Senate Majority Leader Ernest Keppler, R-Sheboygan, "We just killed your resolution. Do you realize that?"

"Which one was that?" replied Lorge.

Informed, he said, "Oh—I thought that was killed three weeks ago."

Clear Record

Two hours later, however, at the close of the session, he appealed to the senate to wipe away the record of the intial vote.

"At the time it came up someone handed me some papers and I wasn't aware that it was up," he said.

"At the time you were perfectly satisfied. We're just playing games here," said Minority Leader Fred Risser, D-Madison.

The Senate wiped clean the record and sent the resolution to committee.

Votes Switch

Lorge's second resolution, to change the name of the Assembly to the state House of Representatives, was saved only after four fellow-Republicans changed their votes from opposition to support to give Lorge the 17 needed under the rules.

Keppler, one of those who changed his vote, said that he was doing it "as a courtesy."

intergovernmental cooperation on a regional level," he said.

He credited "the hard work and personal involvement of the elected heads of member governments" for the progress.

"They and their governing bodies saw a clear picture of what is and will be possible as we look beyond local boundaries toward the needs of all citizens of the region," Heaney said. "COG has made possible the cooperation of local governments and has grown as they have indicated a need for its planning services," he added.

Heaney expressed thanks for support and cooperation that he had received during his terms in office. He noted the long list of accomplishments that cooperation had made possible.

COG has a nine-member staff including Eugene E. Franchett, executive director, and Arno Haering, director of regional planning. Representatives from each of its 14 members and two at-large members make up its policy-making body.

Franchett presented the annual report in the form of slides showing goals and accomplishments, plus a written report. It showed the federal funds alloted through COG to local communities has grown significantly in three years, with the 1969 allotment being $250,000 for the $101,000 appropriated locally.

News Reports Criticized By Lorge

"smear" by Rogers. Conradt made his charge in a lengthly story in The Post-Crescent the day following the revelation of the Rogers charges.

In response to the initial charges by Rogers, Lorge had the senate pass a resolution calling on Warren to conduct a full investigation of the affair and stating flatly that the co-authors had no knowledge of Hazen's activities

Registered as Lobblyist

Hazen, who Wednesday registered as a lobbyist for the first time during this session of the legislature, has been accused by Rogers of circulating membership blanks throughout the state — and following them with regional membership meetings — to sell memberships in the association at rates of from $10 to $25 a person.

Rogers says that the materials — copies of which he sent to Warren — strongly suggest that members of the association will be exempt from a written licensing examination under a "grandfather clause" of the Conradt bill. Some, Rogers charges, were circulated before the bill was even introduced.

Rogers subsequently revealed an undated second mailing on the association, and apparently signed by Hazen, suggesting that the organization would be concerned with determining how many electricians were allowed to work in the state.

Warren, meanwhile, has started his investigation ordered by the senate.

Atty. Gen. George B. Schwahn, at Warren's directive, is examining the materials supplied by Rogres and the six Democratic lawmakers who joined with him in making the charges.

His directions are to be given to the division of criminal investigation of the Department of Justice Thursday for the start of the formal investigation.

Because of that investigation, which could include the questioning of Hazen, lawmakers and involved electricians in the state, will be made by Warren to the senate.

The senate, in the Lorge resolution, has called for prosecution of anyone found violating the law or guilty of unethical conduct in the matter.

Four Teen-Agers Hurt as Car Rolls Over in Ditch

Four Appleton teen-agers were injured, none seriously, when their car rolled over about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday on Evergreen Drive at Meade Street.

Driver of the car, according to Outagamie County police, was Peter M. Babcock, 16, 802 E. Pacific St., who was taken by auto to Appleton Memorial Hospital for treatment of hand and head cuts. He was released after treatment.

Passengers injured but not hospitalized were Jeffrey J. Felzer, 3320 N. Lawe St., who suffered hand cuts; Robert Behm, 14, 1005 E. Pacific St., who suffered bruised ribs.

Police said Babcock was eastbound on Evergreen and lost control of the auto when he attempted to turn onto Meade Street. The car went into a ditch sideways and rolled over, coming to rest on its wheels. The auto sustained considerable damage.

Firemen Battle Blaze in Duplex

Appleton firefighters Tuesday morning fought a smoky blaze in the basement of a northside duplex.

The fire department was summoned to the newly-construited building on N. Lorust Street, near Whittier Drive, about 10:10 a.m., and remained at the scene about 50 minutes.

A fire department official said the fire broke out when a hot water heater started operating while workmen were applying a sealer to a basement floor. Sealer fumes apparently built up to excess, officials said.

Nine Counties Involved

COG to Work With Law Advisory Board

A proposal to participate in a nine-county law enforcement technical advisory board was approved Wednesday night by the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG).

Under the proposal, COG's law enforcement technical advisory committee will send three representatives — for Calumet, Winnebago and Outagamie counties — to the regional board, which will confer on common law enforcement problems and seek solutions.

COG's technical advisory committee will retain its separate identity and meet on problems of its 14 members.

With COG approval, Thomas Ellwood, COG director of law enforcement planning, and a representative of the Wisconsin Council on Law Enforcement will contact officials of Brown, Door, Kewaunee, Manitowoc, Sheboygan and Fond du Lac counties to urge participation in the regional board.

The regional council has been urged by the state and is expected to improve chances for federal aid to the area for meeting law enforcement needs.

COG has received over $11,000 in a federal law enforcement grant and has presented a priority listing of needs for its member communities. Ellwood now is preparing a long-range detailed plan on law enforcement needs which will be presented to the state in August.

Local Cooperation

Neenah Mayor Donald Hassler, the only mayor representative on the state law enforcement council, said the "success (of the regional group) depends a great deal on the cooperation we get from the local units of government represented here tonight."

Two Streets To be Closed For Projects

Two heavily traveled streets on Appleton's southeast side will be closed to traffic beginning Monday morning because of paving and sewer construction.

City Engineer Tom Harp announced a seven-block stretch of Newberry Street, between Schaefer Street and Lynn Drive, will be closed for a month.

And Lawe Street on the south side of the hill from the canal to E. South River Street will be barricaded for two weeks for sewer construction, prior to paving

Newberry Street, closed recently for sewer installation, will also be paved and is expected to present the biggest problem for motorists entering Appleton from Kaukauna and Little Chute

City officials are advising them to take the State 96 (E Wisconsin Avenue) route whenever possible.

"People should plan their own rerouting accordingly," Harp said.

He warned that local officials' misunderstanding and lack of knowledge of the program and goals would hamper the program. This will be avoided by educating officials, he indicated.

2 Fox Valley Students Cited in Journalism

More than 700 entries were received from 90 high schools in the newswriting competition. Top winners were from Fox Point, Eau Claire, Wauwatosa and Union Grove.

What Judgment Will History Pass on General Eisenhower?

Here is what Relman Morin, two-time Pulitzer prize winner, says in the first full length, complete biography of the man:

"Eisenhower goes into history as one of the most popular of Presidents, in whom Americans recognized an earnest, kindly, sincere man of unquestionable integrity.

"As a politican he was almost unique in that he was wholly without the 'jugular instinct,' the urge to destroy an enemy; he was more prone to turn the other cheek.

"He also was one of the most selfless Presidents, less concerned with his popularity and the expedient actions that might enhance it than what he considered the well being of the United States and her allies.

"When Eisenhower came to office, bitterness and rancor divided the nation; when he left, an era of good feeling had replaced the sense of divisiveness. The credits far outweighed the debits in his presidency."

Morin's judgment is based on long professional and personal acquaintance with the general, and on a year's study and research; which included long conversations with him and with many of his associates and, best of all, access to his private letter files.

The result is a big book (8½ by 11 inches, 264 pages, more than 85 pictures in black and white and color, and a 140,000 word text.)

12-Month Plan Proposed for Troop Pullouts

President Unveils Peace Effort

BY LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, outlining what he calls new initiatives for peace, has proposed that U.S. and North Vietnamese troops be withdrawn gradually over a 12-month period to end the fighting in Vietnam.

Nixon told the nation Wednesday night such a mutual withdrawal should be supervised by an international body, and that the next step in the settlement should be internationally guaranteed free elections in the South.

What enemy negotiators think of it will start unfolding when the chief U.S. envoy at the peace talks, Henry Cabot Lodge, presents it at the weekly parley Friday in Paris.

Lodge hurried to Washington Wednesday to confer with Nixon, hear the President's nationwide address, attend a special combined National Security Council-Cabinet session this morning and then speed back to Paris in an Air Force jet.

Nixon's half-hour telecast—his first full-scale White House speech on Vietnam—won applause from his supporters and subdued initial comment from war critics as the President also:

—Hinted anew at forthcoming U.S. troop withdrawals regardless of what happens at Paris. "The time is approaching when South Vietnamese forces will be able to take over some of the fighting fronts now being manned by Americans," he quoted the U.S. Commander in Saigon, Gen. Creighton Abrams, as saying.

—Vowed to keep his campaign pledge "to end this war in a way that would increase our chances to win true and lasting peace" and declared that "If I fail to do so, I expect the American people to hold me accountable for that failure."

—Promised U.S. firmness in the basic goal of self-determination for South Vietnam—"we have also ruled out either a one-sided withdrawal from Vietnam, or the acceptance in Paris of terms that would amount to a disguised American defeat," he said.

See Page A-3 for Other Stories, Pictures

—Delivered a veiled warning to Hanoi against military offensives, saying, "I must make clear in all candor that if the needless suffering continues, this will affect other decisions."

—Appealed to the American people "whatever our differences," to back his peace offer. "Nothing could have a greater effect in convincing the enemy that he should negotiate in good faith than to see the American people united behind a generous and reasonable peace offer," he said.

White House sources said Nixon timed his offer which had been ready for some weeks, for delivery now because this seems to be the best moment for a U.S. move to thaw the Paris deadlock. The President's eight "concrete proposals" were:

—"As soon as agreement can be reached, all non-South Vietnamese forces would begin withdrawals from South Vietnam.

—"Over a period of 12 months, by agreed-upon stages, the major portions of all U.S., allied, and other non-South Vietnamese forces would be withdrawn. At the end of this 12 month period, the remaining U.S., Allied and other non-South Vietnamese forces would move into designated base areas and would not engage in combat operations."

—"The remaining U.S. and allied forces would move to complete their withdrawals as the remaining North Vietnamese forces were withdrawn and returned to North Vietnam.

—"An international supervisory body, acceptable to both sides, would be created for the purpose of verifying withdrawals, and for any other purposes agreed upon between the two sides.

—"This international body would begin operating in accordance with an agreed timetable, and would participate in arranging supervised cease-fires.

—"As soon as possible after the international body was functioning, elections would be held under agreed procedures and under the supervision of the international body.

—"Arrangements would be made for the release of prisoners of war on both sides at the earliest possible time.

—"All parties would agree to observe the Geneva accords of 1954 regarding Vietnam and Cambodia, and the Laos accords of 1962."

Elements of virtually all of these points appeared in proposals made from time to time during the Johnson administration, but White House sources portrayed the package overall as fresh in its impact in revisions

An Analysis

Nixon Gives A Warning

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon coupled his new peace proposals with an implied warning that the United States might turn to increased military action if North Vietnam rejects his "generous "terms.

"No greater mistake could be made than to confuse flexibility with weakness or being reasonable with lack of resolution," Nixon said in his speech to the nation Wednesday night.

"I must make clear, in all candor, that if the needless suffering continues, this will affect other decisions."

The Nixon administration can be expected to do its utmost to avoid heating up the war. Its mood is for scaling down the fighting—and the casualties—as soon as possible, and starting to bring home the 542,500 U.S. servicemen from Vietnam.

But White House sources left open the possibility of some step up in the war, saying they didn't want to speculate on what might happen.

Asked directly whether Nixon meant to threaten greater military action, the White House sources said:

"It stands to reason that if this proposal isn't accepted we will have to make some other decision."

Not an Ultimatum

They said Nixon wasn't delivering an ultimatum or a threat and, when pressed, spoke vaguely of "developing many options."

Apart from possible military moves, the options open to the Nixon administration seem limited.

New diplomatic initiatives are conceivable, but the White House sources described the Nixon peace package as "the most conciliatory we can think of."

Since Nixon pledged not to abandon the South Vietnamese people, he dismissed the possibility that the United States might give up the fight entirely.

"We have . . . ruled out either a one-sided withdrawal from Vietnam, or the acceptance in Paris of terms that would amount to a disguised American defeat," the President said.

Nixon did reject "attempting to impose a purely military solution on the battlefield."

Such steps could involve.

—A limited resumption of the bombing of North Vietnam, possibly concentrated on the enemy's supply routes running through the lightly-populated panhandle.

—Resumption of naval shelling of North Vietnam's coast, also focusing on the supply routes; interdiction of southbound ship traffic.

—Authorization for U.S. commanders to mount major ground operations into the Laotian panhandle and-or Cambodia to try and cut off infiltration along the trails and roads, and to destroy enemy bases.

Millions to Receive Measles Vaccine

ATLANTA (AP) — Millions of American youngsters will be immunized in a program designed to free the nation of German measles—a disease that causes birth defects.

The program will be started this summer, officials of the National Communicable Disease Center (NCDC) said Wednesday.

They said 8 million to 10 million children would be vaccinated in the first phase of the program and that eventually 40 million to 50 million children would be immunized.

Pass to Mothers

The program is a massive effort to build resistance to the virus in children because they are its usual carriers, NCDC officials said.

Children—most likely to come in contact with the virus—pass it along to pregnant mothers. The disease, normally mild, is dangerous to pregnant women because it can cause malformation or death of the fetus.

The NCDC says outbreaks of German measles occur every six to nine years. An estimated 20 million persons were stricken during the last outbreak in 1964.

That outbreak, the NCDC said, resulted in 50,000 abnormal pregnancies, 20,000 still births, and 30,000 children born with defects.

A new outbreak is expected by the NCDC this winter.

Dr. David J. Sencer, the NCDC director, said the new vaccine, developed about five years ago at the National Institute of Health division of biological standards, is expected to receive governmental approval within a month and be placed into general production. It has been under test for 3½ years.

President Gives OK To Move

By JOHN D. McCLAIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Abe Fortas, under mounting pressure and the threat of impeachment proceedings, announced today his resignation from the Supreme Court and President Nixon accepted it effective immediately.

Reaction from Congress, the center of often severe criticism, generally was favorable although some members continued to call for an investigation of Fortas' relationship with now-jailed financier Louis E. Wolfson.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Fortas' letter of resignation was received about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, a short time after Chief Justice Earl Warren telephoned "to advise the President that a letter of resignation was forthcoming . . ."

Letter of Explanation

Fortas also sent Warren—the man he once was nominated to succeed—a letter of explanation of his actions in accepting and then returning 11 months later a $20,000 fee from the Wolfson family foundation.

Wolfson, a former Fortas law client, now is serving a prison sentence for violating federal securities laws. The fee was given Fortas while Wolfson's activities were under government investigation and returned after the financier was indicted.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., who led the fight that blocked Fortas' nomination last year as chief justice, said in a statement today: "Again, the infinite wisdom and foresight of our founding fathers in establishing a system of checks and balances has been confirmed."

"Although this has been a tragic and unfortunate episode in our history, I am confident the Supreme Court and the judiciary will emerge with the respect, strength and vitality that are so essential in these times."

But other congressmen—including Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., who called Wednesday for a pre-impeachment proceedings investigation, and Sens. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., and Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., said today the incident would not be closed until all details are revealed fully.

Abe Fortas

Ziegler said Nixon discussed the resignation this morning with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and White House counsel John D. Ehrlichman but said he had no idea when the President might nominate a successor.

The resignation of a justice under pressure is unprecedented. There has been only one impeachment trial of a justice—Samuel Chase in the early 19th century—and he was acquitted of charges that he violated legal ethics in conducting trials while sitting on a circuit court, as Supreme Court justices did in those days.

MacGregor said today a probe of Fortas' conduct still is necessary.

Waste, Extravagance, Fraud

BY JAMES R. POLK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is probing whether as much as $40 million a year is being milked from the Medicaid program through abuses by doctors, dentists, druggists and nursing homes.

Senate hearings are planned shortly as a climax to a staff investigation of soaring costs, rich fees and possible fraud in the $5 billion, 38-state program of free health care for the poor.

An Associated Press examination of Medicaid operations in a half dozen states found:

—In New York, a dentist running a second-floor walkup clinic in an East Harlem slum got more than $400,000 in Medicaid payments over the past two years. In a court suit, the city has accused him of false billings and fraud.

—In Baltimore, nine doctors, a dentist, two pharmacists and an accountant have been indicted on charges of conspiring to defraud Maryland's Medicaid program. The probe was centered on a small, cramped drugstore that was the highest paid in the state last year at nearly $250,000. Above its door is a sign: "Health Is Our Only Business."

—In Southern California, investigators tell of dentures ordered in nursing homes for dying cancer patients, special shoes for bedridden invalids, and expensive prescription sunglasses for a blind man.

—A nursing home near Sacramento, Calif., has been accused in suspension proceedings of billing for patients after they died. In one case, records indicate the daily charge was doubled shortly after death.

—In Kentucky, a tiny pharmacy in a mountain town of fewer than 800 people was paid nearly $330,000 last year for prescriptions under Medicaid. Investigators found medicine still unopened in Some Appalachian shacks. One mountain doctor in the $100,000 bracket said his nurse wrote many prescriptions for him.

—In New York City, health officials found one foot specialist touring nursing homes and collecting $2,000 a month from Medicaid for his services—clipping toenails.

The soaring price of both Medicaid and Medicare has prompted plans for the Senate Finance Committee to put both programs under the microscope at special hearings this summer when its staff finishes the probe now under way.

Medicaid, the federal-state program providing for private medical care for welfare recipients and other poor patients, was passed almost unnoticed in 1965 as part of the law creating Medicare for the elderly. Its costs have run far beyond predictions, climbing at almost a billion dollars a year.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Finance Committee Chairman, charged there has been waste and extravagance in Medicaid.

None of the officials interviewed could pinpoint the exact amount because watchdog efforts by federal agencies have been both blind and toothless.

However, an extensive investigation by the California attorney general's staff has placed losses through abuses at $6 million to $8 million a year in that state alone—or 1 per cent of the California program.

The same 1 per cent ratio applied to Medicaid across the nation would mean losses of more than $40 million annually—a figure some observers think may be conservative.

Hundreds of Millions

One congressional investigator predicted the total could run into "hundreds of millions of dollars."

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who gave the Senate a preliminary sketch Wednesday of the abuses the committee is studying, told a newsman, "I'm finding it much worse than I ever dreamed of."

Williams criticized the rising price of the program—now costing 10 times as much as original estimates for Medicaid three years ago. New Mexico became the first casualty of the program this month, pulling out when it ran out of money to meet its share of the medical bills.

New Patients

Officials agree the costs of Medicaid have skyrocketed since passage because patients could go to the doctor anytime they wanted without worrying where the money was coming from. And the doctors found themselves suddenly getting paid for cases that had been charity in the past.

"The heavens burst open," said a mountain doctor who is now one of the highest paid in Kentucky.

One health official in the South said, "It's like having the monopoly on 'Gone With the Wind' when it first came out. All you have to do is sit in the box office and wait for the money to roll in."

The lack of restraint on how

Implied Consent Bill Passed By Senators in Diluted Form

MADISON (AP) — A watered-down implied consent bill, one of the key traffic safety proposals of Gov. Warren P. Knowles, is moving toward an uncertain fate in the Wisconsin Assembly.

The Senate approved the bill 20-10 Wednesday, and sent it to the lower house where a similar measure sought by Knowles was scuttled two years ago.

Before approving the proposal, the Senate tacked on two major amendments. One increases the statutory alcohol content of blood necessary as evidence to prove drunkenness from .10 per cent to the present level of .15 per cent. Knowles had wanted a .10 per cent level.

Under the bill, drivers stopped for suspicion of drunken driving would be required to take a breath, blood or urine test for alcohol, or surrender their licenses for six months.

Knowles contends the legislation is necessary to curb traffic deaths caused by intoxicated motorists. The defeat of his implied consent bill was considered his biggest legislative setback in the 1967 session.

Another amendment to the bill would remove a $414,000 appropriation for counseling of drivers whose licenses are suspended.

The amendment was offered by Sen. Reuben LaFave R-Oconto, who said money for "headshrinkers for drunks" would put the state "in the counseling business where Alcoholics Anonymous is now."

On a 19-8 vote, the Senate passed a bill to allow newsmen to refuse to disclose their sources of information.

Voicing opposition to the bill was majority leader Ernest Keppler, R-Sheboygan, who said he did not believe newsmen should have the right to "conceal" sources of information.

The Senate also passed a measure raising the minimum age at which a girl may marry from 16 to 18.

"I'm wondering what we're going to do with all the illegitimate babies," said Sen. Fred Risser D-Madison, adding he understood that "40 per cent of the young girls who marry are already pregnant."

The bill also would require that any girl under 21 would have to receive parental consent to wed.

Nixon Gives Plan For Troop Pullouts

coming from the new administration.

On mutual troop withdrawal, for example, the White House sources said the formula adopted at the 1966 Manila summit conference of Vietnam allies was vague in pledging an allied force pull-out within six months as North Vietnamese forces withdraw "and the level of violence thus subsides."

Under the Nixon version, they said, the withdrawals of major contingents would begin immediately and simultaneously and U.S.-North Vietnamese fighting would be over in a year with the remaining non-South Vietnamese forces stationed back at base areas.

Prepared Text

The President delivered his widely-awaited address to a nationwide TV-radio audience in serious tone, reading from a prepared text.

Reactions were quick in coming.

In Texas, an aide said former President Johnson "wholeheartedly supports President Nixon in his efforts at bringing peace to Southeast Asia."

In South Vietnam GIs clustered around transistor radios, voiced few specific criticisms but questioned whether the Commander - in - Chief's proposals would win much favor with the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

A U.S divisional officer called the speech outstanding. A first lieutenant in the Mekong Delta doubted that the enemy would abide by a pull-out deal.

In Washington, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the antiwar Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman, termed Nixon's offer reasonable while making plain he still thinks the United States should get out of South Vietnam.

Quite Liberal

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee said Nixon "could not have been more liberal in his terms."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said the President made plain he seeks an honorable peace and Hanoi has nothing to gain by delay.

W. Averell Harriman, Johnson's chief negotiator at Paris, said he feels sure from his experience that "we can negotiate a reduction in the violence."

Nixon's points, as presented by Lodge at Paris, will be a form of U.S. response to the 10-point plan put forward by the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front last week with Hanoi's backing

The enemy proposal calling for U.S. withdrawal and creation of a coalition government in Saigon was described by White House sources as no major departure from earlier propositions. Nixon's speech did not reject bargaining on it, however.

Will be Flexible

The President said the United States would be flexible about its offers and "we are willing to talk about anybody's program —Hanoi's four points, the NLF's 10 points—provided it can be made consistent with the very few basic principles I have set forth here."

These basic principles—"our essential objective"—he summed up this way: "We seek the opportunity for the South Vietnamese people to determine their own political futur without outside interference.

Nixon said the United States is in South Vietnam because "a great nation cannot renege on its pledges" and abandonment there could shatter peace elsewhere. And surrender now would increase the danger of a bigger war later and damage other efforts to negotiate with Communists, he said.

He shunned debate over whether Johnson was right in sending troops to Vietnam in the first place—"we have crossed that bridge," he said—and claimed that the new administration has moved on diplomatic, military and political fronts since.

On the prospects for one-sided U.S. force withdrawals, he again named no specific timetable but reported on his Monday conference with Abrams.

"Excellent" Progress

"We speed up the strengthening of the South Vietnamese forces," Nixon said. "As a result, Gen. Abrams reported to me on Monday that progress in this training program has been excellent, and that apart from what will develop from the negotiation, the time is approaching when South Vietnamese forces will be able to take over some of the fighting fronts now being manned by Americans."

On the negotiating front, White House sources said the President's offer was deemed timely now because the United States is in basic accord with South Vietnam's leaders after what Nixon termed a period of "a wide gulf of distrust" between Washington and Saigon; because U.S. forces are not now on an offensive; and because the enemy's 10-point plan shows a change of tone if not of substance.

The President left open the possibility of peace through "an informal understanding," rather than a formal settlement, "provided the understanding is clear, and that there were adequate assurances that it would be observed."

He did not mention the last such informal understanding—Johnson's avowed terms for halting the bombing of North Vietnam last November—and this gave further evidence that the Nixon administration has put Johnson's bomb halt conditions in the deep freeze.

No Retaliations

Johnson had indicated that he stopped the U.S. air raids on the understanding that Hanoi would not abuse the demilitarized zone or shell South Vietnam's cities. Nixon has yet to order a retaliation for reported DMZ violations and city shellings by the enemy.

Nixon omitted, too, in his delivery a new passage in his speech about Hanoi's refusal to acknowledge it has troops in the South—a major sticking point in the Paris talks so far.

"If North Vietnam wants to insist that it has no forces in South Vietnam," Nixon's prepared text said, "we will no longer debate the point—provided that its forces cease to be there, and that we have reliable assurances that they will not return."

White House aides said afterwards that the President was standing by the prepared address. They had no immediate explanation for his dropping the sentence in delivery.

Students Riot Against Visit Of Rockefeller

Honduras Youth Dies After Being Clubbed by Police

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Anti-U.S. students holed up in the University of Honduras Wednesday night after one of their number was killed during a demonstration against New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's visit.

Rockefeller, who left the United States Sunday on the first of four tours south of the border as a special envoy of President Nixon, arrived in Honduras late Tuesday. He conferred Wednesday with President Oswaldo Lopez Arellano, his first encounter on the trip with a Latin-American dictator

While the two men were meeting in the presidential palace, about 500 students gathered in a park two blocks away and began shouting, "Rockefeller go home!" They said his purpose was to "secure the exploitation of our people by the Yankees."

Wielding clubs, police charged the students. Then shots were fired and a 19-year-old student was hit twice in the head. He was taken to a hospital, where a nurse identified him as Carlos V Zuniga and said he died from his wounds.

An American student from California, Lee Mercer, 22, said he was sitting in the park playing his guitar when the melee broke out. He said that as he watched the demonstration, a policeman hit him in the stomach with a rifle butt.

Mercer said he and his brother Larry, 19, came to Honduras to organize "an underwater recreation park for divers" in Puerto Cortez.

After the police broke up the demonstration, a number of students took refuge in the university campus. The police respected the university's autonomy and did not enter the campus, but they continued to disperse students who mingled in the park where the demonstration took place

After leaving Mexico Tuesday, he went to Guatemala where businessmen and newspapers criticized him for spending only 3½ hours there. At his next stop, El Salvador, leftist groups assailed him as an ally of "the big landowners."

Rockefeller also will visit Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Panama on his first tour.

Three other tours—May 27-June 1, June 16-June 21 and June 27-July 6—will take him to all the other Latin-American countries except Cuba.

Fortas Quits

Fortas' resignation, the American people are entitled to know all of the relevant facts leading to his decision to resign," MacGregor said.

"These facts should be set forth in the proper forum," he added. "That forum need not necessarily be the House Committee on the Judiciary."

But Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., the committee chairman, said Fortas' resignation is the best solution to the problem.

"Best For Country"

"It is best for the country and for the Supreme Court," he said, adding that for Fortas, the affair is "a tragedy—almost Greek in nature."

Celler conferred with Mitchell Wednesday but declined to comment on his visit.

It was learned from other sources that Mitchell showed the congressman evidence indicating a far deeper Fortas involvement in Wolfson's affairs than the justice had admitted.

The sources said on the basis of the Justice Department's evidence the House would have been forced to go ahead with impeachment proceedings if Fortas had not resigned.

Fortas had remained silent about the incident after issuing a statement May 4 acknowledging that while sitting on the court he had considered but finally rejected a fee from the Wolfson foundation.

He said the fee was "tendered" by the foundation in 1966 "in the hope that I would find time and could undertake, consistently with my court obligations, research functions, studies and writings connected with the work of the foundation."

"Concluding that I could not undertake the assignment, I returned the fee with my thanks," he added.

Fortas also denied interceding with any government official in behalf of Wolfson.

MacGregor's announcement Wednesday followed several days of often severe criticism from Capitol Hill after Life magazine's initial disclosure of the Fortas-Wolfson incident.

Volley of Complaints

Johnson withdrew the nomination at Fortas' request after the justice became the target of a volley of complaints for accepting a $15,000 fee for a lecture series at American University and for his role as adviser to the President.

Warren, who announced his intention of resigning from the court last year, steps down at the close of the current session in June. No successor has been named.

Fortas' resignation gives Nixon the opportunity to name two new members to the court that has been roundly criticized as too liberal in its rulings.

Fortas, a longtime friend, adviser and personal attorney to Johnson, was nominated by him as an associate justice in the summer of 1965. Fortas took his seat on the Court in October of that year.

Fortas, who will be 59 next month, is a native of Memphis, Tenn. He is a graduate of Southwestern College in Memphis and received his law degree from Yale in 1933. He then taught law at Yale until 1937.

He was an undersecretary of the interior from 1942-46, was a member of the board of legal examiners of the Civil Service Commission from 1941-43, an adviser of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations in San Francisco in 1945 and in London in 1946.

Until he joined the Supreme Court in 1965, he was a partner in the Washington law firm of Arnold, Fortas and Porter.

His name was stricken from the law firm when he joined the court, but Fortas' wife, who uses her maiden name, Carolyn Agger in her business life, remained with the firm as an attorney.

Medicaid Abuses Under Probe

often patients go to the doctor—and the fact the doctor gets paid every time he sees them—has given birth to a new government catchword overutilization.

It means too frequent medical care that isn't necessary.

"Pretty Stupid"

Dr. Lowell E Bellin, executive director of New York City's Medicaid program, says, "Anybody who commits fraud has to be pretty stupid. The sophisticated person who wants to take advantage of this program milks it through overutilization, not fraud."

Bellin added prosecutors have no interest in cases like the toe nail clipper on the nursing home circuit because he wasn't charging for services he failed to perform.

"He really clipped those nails," Bellin said. "But he was clipping the city simultaneously."

Prosecutors have been reluctant to bring cases where they would have to prove a doctor's judgment on heavy medical care was wrong. Instead, the fraud prosecutions have been limited almost entirely to pharmacy cases in Maryland, New York and California where prescriptions records are available as evidence.

With few exceptions, the policing of the Medicaid program is done on a catch-as-catch-can basis.

The federal government let each state set up its own Medicaid program while paying for 50 to 83 per cent of the cost. The states decided what care to offer at the start, how to make payments and how to guard against abuses.

In most cases, the states have given only lip service to watchdog duties. Top federal officials concede that their policing of the hodge-podge of programs has been flimsy—and only now are they asking states to send in full reports on their surveillance methods

John G Veneman, the new undersecretary of health, education and welfare, headed state hearings on California's abuses while still a legislator there last fall. He called the $6 million to $8 million estimate of losses in California a conservative one

Since many states have no real checks on their Medicaid payments, the states where scandals have emerged may not be the worst.

Instead, they are simply the states that have found them first.

Menon Elected To Parliament in West Bengal State

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — V. K. Krishna Menon, the volatile former defense minister who dropped from the political scene two years ago, was overwhelmingly elected to Parliament in West Bengal Tuesday—boosting the morale of leftist forces in the country.

Krishna Menon's elections came at a time when left and right forces are struggling for power amid bitter dissensions in Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's governing Congress Party.

The 73-year-old Menon, who was supported as an independent by West Bengal State's Communist-led government in a by-election, swamped his Congress opponent by more than 100,000 votes.

Underground Radio In Red China Labels Lin Piao as Traiter

HONG KONG (AP) — An underground radio station in Communist China is accusing Defense Minister Lin Piao of seizing power for the army in a coup d'etat against Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung, a group of Chinese seamen reported Tuesday on their return here from North China

The station, located somewhere near the small city of Yentai on the Shantung coast, has been broadcasting appeals to the navy and air force to "rescue Chairman Mao from the arch plotter Lin Piao, wrest back political power from the army, and save the nation," the seamen said.

The broadcasts claimed Lin Piao has the support of only part of the army's generals while Liu is supported by a majority of the navy and air force leaders

The clandestine station broadcasts about three nights a week but does not stick to a regular schedule, apparently to escape detection. It also switches frequencies from time to time.

Iraq Executes 10 Arabs On Israeli Anniversary

DAMASCUS, syria (AP)—The Iraqi government executed 10 Arabs before daybreak today for spying for Israel, the United States and Iran, the official Iraqi news agency reported.

The 10 included nine Iraqis and one Saudi Arabian.

Their names indicated they were all Moslems.

There was no immediate word on how the executions were carried out or whether the bodies were exhibited in Baghdad's main square as they have been on previous occasions. A total of 38 persons have been put to death in Iraq since the beginning of the year on spying charges.

Nine of the first group were Jewish. A howl of protest went up abroad, and no Jews have been reported executed since. There has been little condemnation abroad of the subsequent executions.

The Baghdad press indicated the government picked today for the executions because it is the 21st anniversary of the founding of Israel.

The news agency said nine of those executed today were members of three spy rings recently smashed by the government. The tenth was a 70-year-old lawyer sentenced to death in the first trial but spared until today so the government could extract more information from him.

President Nixon's Peace Formula vs. Viet Cong's 10 Points

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who heads the U.S. delegation at the Paris peace talks, leaves his plane at Andrews Air Force Base Wednesday after arriving in the nation's capital for a conference with President Nixon. The conference was scheduled today .(AP Wirephoto)

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's report to the nation on Vietnam, including his own formula for reaching peace, came six days after the Viet Cong presented a 10-point plan for settlement of the war.

Here is a summary comparison of the two proposals.

Point 1 of the Viet Cong asked respect for rights of independence, sovereignty, unity and territorial integrity as recognized by the 1954 Geneva agreements on Vietnam. Nixon said a peace areement would have all parties agree to observe those accords.

Point 2 called for unconditional withdrawal of American troops and bases from South Vietnam.

Nixon proposed simultaneous withdrawal by both sides with complete disengagement from combat by foreign forces in 12 months. He said, "We have also ruled out either a one-sided withdrawal from Vietnam, or the acceptance in Paris of terms that would amount to a disguised American defeat."

In their third point, the Viet Cong said it is the right of Vietnamese people to continue to fight if they choose for their fatherland.

In proposing the 12-month pullout Nixon said foreign troops would then no longer engage in combat operations: saying nothing about requiring a halt. He suggested, however, the international supervisory group watching withdrawal of troops also could seek cease fires.

"Decide Themselves"

Point 4 of the Viet Cong said South Vietnamese people would "decide themselves the political regime of South Vietnam through free and democratic general elections . . ." including a coalition government.

Nixon said: "We are prepared to accept any government in South Vietnam that results from the free choice of the South Vietnamese people themselves."

The fifth point of the Viet Cong says political forces representing all social strata and every shade of political tendency in South Vietnam would set up an interim government for the country to restore normal conditions and hold elections set forth in Point 4.

Nixon said: "We believe there should be an opportunity for full participation in the political life of South Vietnam by all political elements that are prepared to do so without the use of force or intimidation."

Point 6 on the Viet Cong list would have the country establish a policy of peace and neutrality, including by name good relations with Cambodia, Laos under the 1962 Geneva agreement on Laos, and diplomatic relations with all countries including the United States.

Nixon said: "We are willing to agree to neutrality for South Vietnam if that is what the South Vietnamese people freely choose . . . All parties would agree to observe the Geneva accords of 1954 regarding South Vietnam and Cambodia, and the Laos accords of 1962."

The Viet Cong's seventh point was a call for reunification of North and South Vietnam, negotiated between the two zones without recognition of the 17th Parallel as a political or territorial boundary.

"No Objection"

Nixon said, "We have no objection to reunification, if that turns out to be what the people of North Vietnam and the people of South Vietnam want; we ask only that the decision reflect the free choice of the people concerned."

Point 8 on the Viet Cong list was a ban against military alliances by North or South and would forbid defense treaties, bases or troops on their soil.

Nixon's statement: "We seek no bases in Vietnam. We seek no military ties."

The ninth Viet Cong proposal suggested negotiations for release of military men captured in the war and said the United States "must bear full responsibility for the losses and devastations it has caused to the Vietnam people in both zones.

Nixon said arrangements for prisoner release would be made at the earliest possible time.

And he said the United States has been generous to those it has fought. "We have helped our former foes as well as our friends in the task of reconstruction. We are proud of this record, and we bring the same attitude in our search for a settlement in Vietnam."

The 10th point was supervision by agreement of withdrawal from Vietnam of troops and war supplies of the U.S. and its allies.

Nixon said an international supervisory body acceptable to both sides would verify withdrawals which he insisted would involve North Vietnam as well as the U.S.

Byrnes Hopeful Talk Will Lead to Action

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Rep. John F. Byrnes, R-Wis., today expressed the hope that President Nixon's program outlined in his speech Wednesday night would bring about action in negotiations.

Describing the speech as "very good," Byrnes said he hoped the country would unite behind Nixon's peace effort, as a means of speeding negotiations.

Saigon Likely to OK Suggestions of Nixon

SAIGON (AP) — The political points put forward by President Nixon appear to mesh closely with recent statements by President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Although there was no immediate comment from Thieu or other government officials on Nixon's speech Wednesday, the parallels with known South Vietnamese positions are evident.

One diplomat with long experience in dealing with the Saigon government said: "I don't think they'll have any trouble buying it at all."

On the crucial point, eventual entry of the National Liberation Front (NLF) into what would amount to a coalition government, both Washington and Saigon clearly seem to agree. Without using the words "coalition government," Nixon said:

"We believe there should be an opportunity for full participation in the political life of South Vietnam by all political elements that are prepared to do so without the use of force or intimidation."

In a speech to parliament April 7, Thieu laid down a six-point program as a "reasonable and solid basis for the restoration of peace in Vietnam."

"Full Members"

One point was: "Those now fighting against us who renounce violence, respect the laws, and faithfully abide by the democratic processes will be welcomed as full members of the national community. As such, they will enjoy full political rights . . ."

Another Nixon statement—"We have no intention of imposing any form of government upon the people of South Vietnam, nor will we be a party to such coercion"—was expected to reassure South Vietnamese leaders who at times have expressed fears of a sellout by the United States.

Nixon also said a political settlement is "an internal matter, which ought to be decided among the South Vietnamese themselves and not imposed by outside powers."

In a speech March 25, President Thieu offered to hold secret talks with the NLF and indicated the conversations could deal with a broad range of subjects including a political settlement.

Nixon described Thieu's initiative as "a dramatic step forward, a reasonable offer that could lead to a settlement."

"We have no objection to reunification," said Nixon, "if that turns out to be what the people of South Vietnam and the people of North Vietnam want; we ask only that the decision reflect the free choice of the people concerned."

Thieu's view on reunification was that it "is to be decided by the free choice of the entire population of Vietnam through democratic processes."

Nixon also made these points which parallel statements by Thieu: An international supervisory body should be created to verify troop withdrawals and for other purposes agreed upon between the two sides, and all parties should agree to observe the Geneva accords of 1954 regarding Vietnam and Cambodia and the Laos accords of 1962.

Thieu has called for "an effective system of international control and reliable international guarantees against the resumption of Communist aggression." Last week, in responding to the NLF's 10-point peace program, Saigon said it respects the "fundamental principles" of the Geneva agreements on Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

Some in Hanoi Still Clinging To Hard Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some top U.S. officials believe a thin majority of the North Vietnamese leadership favors a battlefield decision rather than a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam war.

Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, North Vietnam's defense minister and victor over the French at Dien Bien Phu, is said to be the leader of a hardline group that rejects the idea of peace through the Paris talks.

Giap thinks the war can be won by North Vietnam on the battlefields of South Vietnam, analysts say. This leads some administration defense officials to be pessimistic about the Paris negotiations.

The analysts' opinion that hardliners are on top in Hanoi seems to clash with a statement by President Nixon during his Vietnam report to the nation Wednesday night.

"Reports from Hanoi indicate that the enemy has given up hope for a military victory in South Vietnam but is counting on a collapse of American will in the United States," Nixon said.

The President did not elaborate.

The new burst of enemy activity, together with North Vietnam's seeming stubbornness in Paris, makes remote two of the three conditions the Nixon Administration has laid down as prerequisites — either together or singly—for any U.S. troop withdrawal from Vietnam.

These two conditions, as stated recently by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, involve mutual troop withdrawal and a substantial reduction in enemy activity in South Vietnam. The North Vietnamese have insisted on a unilateral U.S. withdrawal.

This leaves the third condition —and here U.S. authorities see marked progress—specifying there must be a sufficient upgrading and modernization of the South Vietnamese forces so they can take over more of the war responsibilities.

Students Deserve Some Voice

Several national surveys have shown that the newest educational confrontations — which are expected to increase — are now taking place in the secondary schools and also at the junior high school level. Already several schools in large urban areas have had experience with violent protests.

The reasons for the incidents vary widely. There are obvious racial clashes, caused either by black students feelings that their opportunities are inadequate or by resentment by white students. Some demonstrations against the war in Vietnam have gotten out of hand. On purely local issues, dress rules are protested, especially when students have had nothing to say about them. Cafeteria food, the quality of toilet paper, authoritarian discipline and educational reforms are lesser issues.

But almost every secondary school administrator interviewed expressed the opinion that the protests and demonstrations were going to increase in the next few years if only because they are contagious.

One poll, conducted for Life magazine by Louis Harris and Associates, pointed out that the struggles in the high schools are more likely to involve the community than are the university outbreaks. The Harris Poll found that the majority of secondary school students are anxious for more participation in the decisions about their education and how it should be handled. The poll also found that "our best hope lies with the teachers. . ."

On the question of discipline the poll reveals the outlines of a student-teacher alliance. "It is the parent, with his differing standards and priorities, who is the odd man out." Most parents, the poll found, do not believe in more participation by students and the generations differ "on the most fundamental question of all. What is education for?"

It is obvious that young people in their early teens are incapable of deciding course content, educational programs or the overall administration of a high school. We don't believe that college students either are qualified in such areas. But as far as some aspects of student life are concerned — dress codes, methods of discipline, school conduct — they do have the ability to participate responsibly and efforts should be made to allow them to. This is particularly true when teachers are also involved in the decisions.

Such moves will not end the racial conflicts in urban schools nor will it temper the feelings of injustice by black students. But maturing is a gradual process and one of its signs is the desire for participation in decisions. When such desire is accompanied by responsibility toward all elements in the educational community, it should be recognized.

'I thought Big Bad Wolfson was in jail . . .!'

U.S. Aids Greek Regime's Terrorism

The Council of Europe has warned the current military regime in Greece that, unless there are real efforts made toward a more democratic government and a return of civil liberties, the council may vote to expel Greece from membership. The deadline is next December.

The Greek government has made repeated promises of general elections — when the dangers of communism have disappeared — and the restoration of civil rights. But little progress has been made.

Most disturbing are the tales of continued arrests and hideous tortures of political opponents by the government. Those who have undergone the agonies report that the United States is constantly brought into the picture as allegedly condoning the horrible methods because our officials feel that Greece is important in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The United States cut off its military aid to Greece when the colonels seized power two years ago. But the aid has recently been resumed to the tune of about $40 million a year. The argument is that Greece needs modern weapons to withstand communist pressure.

But the military regime can also obviously use the weapons to maintain itself in power. And the final result may actually be a far left wing revolt that could conceivably mean communist control and an alliance of Greece with the Soviet Union.

It well may be that our form of democracy is not for everyone. But calling a nation that rules by terror and torture our ally is a denial of everything the United States has stood for. Americans should deeply resent having their tax monies used to bolster an oppressive, even sadistic regime.

Mother Nature vs. The Lemmings

Scientists have pondered the mystery of the lemmings for generations.

The lemming lives in the north and is one of the few mammals able to survive extremely cold winters without hibernating. But the major mystery involves their frantic population multiplications and equally extreme die-offs.

In Norway lemmings have been observed racing into the sea although this does not happen at Point Barrow, Alaska, where American scientists have been observing them. They do not starve to death since studies have shown them to be fat at death But they die nevertheless.

Two California researchers, Dr. David Mullen of the University of San Francisco and Dr. William Quay of the University of California at Berkeley, have discovered what they believe may be a clue to the strange behavior. They have isolated a substance in the blood of the lemming which seems to act like an antifreeze, enabling him to stay alive in the Arctic. The researchers also suggest that when the weather turns warm, the substance changes and attacks the central nervous system. This could also account for their race to the sea in the height of insanity.

Others have also discovered that when the population of the lemming colony is at its peak, the lemming blood is flooded with steroid hormones which might transform the other substance into a nerve killer. But what brings about the hormones? It could be crowded conditions and the stresses which result.

Obviously some way had to be devised to control the lemming population. It is able to breed only three weeks after birth. Gestation is 20 days and there may be 13 young in a litter. The tundra where they live is a sparse country and would be eaten of everything if the majority of lemmings lived to ripe old age. Their major enemies, Arctic foxes, are not numerous enough to keep the numbers down.

Whatever the method, nature has worked out a better species survival system for the lemming than it has for man.

Words Worth Pondering

"The segment of our younger generation which has turned to the hippie world, as well as those who have chosen disruptive rebellion as an outlet, seems to me to be expressing disgust and anger because of a felt emotional deprivation, which, to a large part, has risen because of a withholding, on the part of parents and authorities, of appropriate action, attention, and understanding during their childhood and adolescence." — Dr. Graham B. Blaine Jr., chief, psychiatric service, Harvard University Health Service.

Students' Valid Complaints Now Irrelevant; Order Is Top Priority

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY

Throughout the din, there is a sound that reaches many faculty, and a few others, who by nature look for the other side of the picture. Could it be that the students have in fact something to complain about? Have they what they call "legitimate grievances?" The assumption by these folk is that yes, they most certainly do, which is why so many faculty have sided with the students, some of them going so far as to defend even their most exorbitant protests.

Ironically, the faculty are themselves best equipped to cope with what emerges as the principal, solid complaint of the students — of serious students, I suppose one should qualify. That complaint has to do with the shirking, by professors, of teaching duties.

Mr. John Coyne Jr., lately of the graduate school at Berkeley and an eloquent critic of student extremism, says flatly that the American college student is being gypped. "The typical undergraduate is cheated in a number of ways. His fees, usually funneled into graduate programs, buy him lectures not by high-salaried professors, whose services are reserved for graduate seminars, but instead by teaching assistants, underpaid graduate students who usually work one jump ahead of their classes and who provide the slave-labor base upon which most state universities build their idealistic programs."

But the point to be made nowadays is that freedom is a matter of focus. Students at Columbia or Berkeley revolt because a building in a park is inadequately located, or because the freedom to proselytize is restricted to certain locations and certain hours.

PROTEST OWN FREEDOM

Professor Ernest van den Haag, performing brilliantly in The Intercollegiate Review, concludes that the students are really fighting excessive freedom on campus, for failure to find enough of substance, enough which is substantially oppressive, to fight against. ". . . Students are reduced to rebelling against their own freedom. Thus they object to their academic freedom and insist on restricting the right of the less militant students to consider employments they disapprove of (or to listen to speakers they disapprove of), and of the faculty to undertake research they disapprove of."

Add to the difficulty, the failure of the faculty and administration to assert their own authority That failure "makes it hard (for the students) to keep on defying them. It means, for the students, that they need to go on to protest against the systemic, rather then the specific order." An overview suggests that it should be listed among student demands that the administration should not accede to them, that being the principal source of psychological satisfaction, and the only means of keeping the students' attention from cosmic re-arrangements.

ORDER IS PARAMOUNT

The point then is that the legitimate complaints of the student are truly irrelevant to the existing crisis. That is why such grand statements as that of Amherst and others, which deal with students' grievances against the world they live in, are, as an existential matter, simply irrelevant. As irrelevant, in context, as the exact democratic composition of the South Vietnam government; as irrelevant as the question of the legitimacy of De Gaulle when he appointed himself leader of the forces of liberation; as irrelevant as the failure of the House of Commons to call a new election during World War II. There is only one relevancy now, and that is the survival of educational institutions, and a consensus on the question of order and procedure.

In every situation there is a hierarchy of values, and to superordinate one value (where to build the gym) when another value (order and freedom) takes precedence, is to make the most critical mistake, such a mistake as Abraham Lincoln once remarked, when defending his use of power to defend the Constitution, no free society can get away with making.

Elks Lodge Has Right To Remain All-White

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In Monday, May 12, number one editorial, the opinion has been expressed that the Elks are not in conformity with democratic "public opinion" policy. That Negroes should by all means be accepted into the Elks lodge, or any other lodge.

The boiling pot is getting carried away with the mixture. The Negro has lodges of his own. Does he want the white man to invade the lodge of his own making? Does the Jewish Tabernacle accept any gentile? Can protestants force their way into the Catholic church?

Why, other than an "I'll show you" attitude, would a Negro want to be in a white man's lodge?

On the basis of democracy and freedom for all races, creeds and colors there is another way of looking at this problem. The right of any given group to organize their own group of friends is a democratic, "feedom" as well. The lodge is social in principle. Who would want to push in where they weren't particularly welcome? . . . This doesn't make the organized group's members undemocratic, biased or racist. They too have democratic rights — collectively and individually.

Suddenly a country that abused the Negro in the past, is getting carried away with what is right or wrong, good or bad for the colored people. We must not get to the "slapping or red herring" at anything that isn't suddenly going overboard for the colored peoples' red carpet acceptance.

Bishop Consecrates Church Bells

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for May 8, 1869.

On Thursday, the Rt Rev. Bishop Melcher, Catholic Bishop of Green Bay, consecrated the two new and beautiful bells just donated to the German Catholic Church in the Third Ward by the people of the City.

The ceremonies were very interesting and were witnessed by a vast concourse of people.

The Bishop also administered the rite of confirmation to over 80 persons, and baptized a large number of infants.

Next season, the congregation will build a large brick edifice, and transform the present church into a schoolhouse.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, May 11, 1944.

Miss Helen Vogt, kindergarten teacher at Jefferson School, Appleton, was teaching singing games to Senior Girl Scouts supervising play yards in the city that summer. Their next training session was to be given by Miss Frances Cohenour, R. N., who was to discuss simple first aid.

Miss Jean Gallaher was to be the new editor of Talisman, Appleton High School newspaper. It also was announced that Miss Daisy Holtz was named business manager and Miss Beverly Belling, advertising manager. Miss Gallaher had been feature editor in the current year

Robert Bauernfeind was elected president of the German Club at Appleton High School. Other officers elected were Dorothy Grosser, vice president; Alice Ann Hammer, secretary; Fred Heinemann, treasurer.

Outgoing officers were Warren Doerfler, David Brandt, Mary Lou Trautmann and Heinz Heise.

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, May 14, 1959.

Two of the 19 students to receive UW-Milwaukee honors were from the Fox Valley area. Sandra Weiland, Oshkosh, was to be honored in music and Paul W. Toonen, Appleton, in the field of commerce.

Mrs. Harry Stroebe, of Stroebe's Island, was to talk on her antique glassware collection to senior members of First Congregational Church, Appleton. Hostesses for the afternoon meeting were Miss Hilda Kippenhan, Miss Mathilda Jens and Mrs. Frank Zschaechner.

Mrs. Gerald Jansen was chairman of the annual mother and daughter banquet of the Mount Mary College Alumnae Club.

Variety of State Tax Proposals Will Face Alliance of Opponents

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — When the state government moved to modernize its revenue machinery under the pressure of growing state responsibilities to localities and an expanding state service base earlier in this decade, one of its academic advisors dubbed the proposal of a blue ribbon study committee as "eclectic."

Wyngaard

The advisor, Prof. Harold Groves of the University of Wisconsin Economics Department, since retired, might suggest the return of the word to the legislative vocabulary of today. For the first version of a tax bill for the new biennium that will be sent to the floor of the Legislature, the product of the labors of the legislative finance committee, also is "eclectic": providing choice, selected materials, perhaps designed to suit a variety of tastes

It has become perfectly obvious that the financial pinch during the next two years will be so severe that the Legislature and the administration, however far apart they are on the question today, will be required to present a variety of revenue raising plans to resolve the budget dilemma. There is no longer enough stretch in the sales tax, which was the great hurdle passed with the aid of the blue ribbon committee early in the 1960s.

VARIETY NEEDED

Theoretically, the state could raise the huge chunks of money required through pushing income tax levels upward, but all except the liberals representing the safest liberal districts will flinch from that alternative. The fact is that the state's income levies are now among the highest in the country Pushing them upward sufficiently to bridge the revenue gap that looms would make this state stand out in the country as the leader in the income tax field, which would scarcely be consistent with the drive for an expansion of the industrial and general economic base of the state

There are the excise taxes, which have now been endorsed both by the governor and the financ committee, including substantially increased levies on cigarettes, beer and liquor.

These have the most vocal support, especially from those who don't like drink and don't like tobacco. But they are not as easily enacted into law as might be supposed.

Beer is one of the major economic activities of the state. Cigarettes are already taxed steeply, and their vendors can argue, with some plausibility, that another boost would invite bootlegging and tax leakage.

With the liquor interests, moreover, these trades are able and accustomed to forming a lobbying coalition that in the past has shown considerable punch. Beer especially will be a powerful opponent to overcome, in part because even a tax boost that on the face of it appears severe, has only a slight effect in resolving thz mountaimous in resolving the mountainous revenue shortage that impends.

FOES TO COMBINE

The "eclectic" nature of the revenue propositions — including the original prescription of Gov. Warren Knowls — invites the formation of an alliance of opponents.

It cannot yet be assumed that the finance committee can make its own reductions of the Knowles expenditure levels stick There is yet another compromise in the works — with a settlement of an ultimate budget figure somewhere between the finance committee proposal and the original request off the administration

That will mean that the finance committee revenue proposals will be inadequate

It raises the possibility — perhaps even the probability — of a more diversified revenue bill in the end, and a combination of resisting forces that will be extremely difficult to overcome.

An income tax and sales tax combination will tempt labor and business, for example, to join forces, however unfamiliar the experience will be for both. Together with the furor that will be engendered by the tobacco, beer and liquor interests, the consequences may be a stalemate of the kind that the Capitol has experienced several times earlier in this decade

The only prudent prediction to be made now is that it is likely to be a long, hot summer in the capital city.

Thoughts at Large Occupy Harris Today

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

An "Elder Statesman" is a fading politician whose endorsements can be widely publicized, while his advice is privately ignored.

Every government lies, but a totalitarian government is one that lies even when it's in its interest to tell the truth—for once it gets in the habit of telling the truth, the whole fabric could come apart.

Speaking of governments, it sounds just like a modern anti-communist ranting about Russia to hear these words: "totally without morality, insolent beyond bearing, inflated with ambition, aiming at exclusive domination, lost in corruption, of deep-rooted hatreds toward us, hostile to liberty wherever it endeavors to show its head, and the eternal disturber of the peace of the world." — Thomas Jefferson, in 1815, referring to the government — of England.

* * *

It's strange how one word drives out another: what did we use before "gap" became such a fixed part of our daily jargon? And before "wise" became the interminable terminal of so many phrases such as "cost-wise"? And in the years before the "yes-man" became a familiar coin in our verbal currency?

* * *

If one is searching for a general epitaph for mankind, perhaps the most appropriate might be Voltaire's line of two centuries ago: "Les prejuges sont la raison des sots." ("Prejudices are what fools use for reason.")

* * *

As long as one man can rob a candy store of $50 dollars and get three years in jail, while another embezzles a million from depositors in a savings institution and gets a six-month suspended sentence, how can we expect a poor thief to aspire to be anything but an influential thief?

* * *

A "national spirit" begins as a feeling of unity among people living in the same area, but when unity has been achieved, the spirit flags and can be revived only as a feeling against other people who do not live in the same area. Thus what starts as a unifying principle usually ends as an aggressive and destructive crusade, for we are less strongly motivated by positive goals than by negative ones.

* * *

We should learn to distinguish more clearly among "work," "labor" and "toil" in our language — work is good and necessary for man, labor may be necessary but is not necessarily good, while toil is always bad.

* * *

All that "moral instruction" does is sharpen the mind to rebut it more than soften the heart to accept it.

Rockefeller Working For Nixon in ABM Test

But New York Governor Hasn't Much Luck Changing Three Senators' Minds

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York made a private, low-key attempt to convert four Republican senators to the embattled Safeguard anti-ballistic missile (ABM) plan last week, the latest step in a long campaign by the White House — so far unsuccessful — to round up Republican strays without President Nixon himself making a face-to-face plea.

Evans

Novak

Although the White House tried to make Rockefeller's pitch seem to be a sudden inspiration, the fact is that the governor was specifically asked to help the President out by their mutual friend: Mr. Nixon's national security chief, Dr. Henry Kissinger.

But if the President, Kissinger, or Rockefeller really hoped that the governor's effort would pay off, they are now sadly disappointed.

Using all his persuasive skills and employing a confidential, low-key approach, Rockefeller was unable to budge the four Republican senators. They were unmoved by his warning that a defeat for Mr. Nixon on this first major defense-and-foreign policy question could seriously undermine the President's prestige with the Soviet Union.

Signal to White House

That this argument totally failed should be another danger signal to the White House that Republican opposition to the scaled-down Safeguard anti-ballistic missile (ABM) proposal is based on doubts over the much-debated military value of the plan (a "hard point" ABM system for defense of offensive long-range missile sites). Accordingly, the Republican opposition is simply not susceptible to political arguments such as Rockfeller's.

Rockefeller's soft-sell appeal was made in the office of Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, a leader of the Republican anti-ABM bloc. Present were Jacob K. Javits of New York, Charles H. Percy of Illinois, and Sen. James Pearson of Kansas.

The background to this session strongly hints that Mr. Nixon has never understood the strength of conviction among these and other Republican opponents of the Nixon ABM plan.

Well before the President formally adopted the Safeguard proposal on March 14, Cooper, Javits, and several other Republicans sought a White House meeting with Mr. Nixon.

"We wanted the President to know how deeply we felt about the ABM and so we asked to see him," one Republican senator told us in retrospect.

Fail to See Nixon

But instead of seeing the President, they were shunted into Kissinger's office. Then, after the March 14 announcement of the Safeguard system, the Republican senators again tried to see Mr. Nixon. Rebuffed again, they were sent instead of an unpublicized meeting with Secretary of State William P. Rogers in the state department.

Rogers, like Kissinger before him, was both impressed and concerned. It was after that, in a telephone talk to Albany, that the White House recruited Rockefeller.

That was the background to last week's session, which failed to move the Republicans any more than the previous meetings with Kissinger and Rogers. Still unable to get into the President's oval office, Republican senators who oppose any form of ABM seem more adamant against the Safeguard system than they were last March.

Thus, Percy is now thinking about a "compromise" which, in fact, would be a massive defeat for the President. Instead of starting deployment of the two ABM sites (one in Montana, the other in North Dakota) Percy favors a moratorium on all ABM site construction and instead running a full-scale test of the ABM and its radars on the White Sands, N.M., or Pacific test ranges.

Percy's hope is that before this testing was finished, the U.S. and the Soviet Union would be deeply engaged in arms-control talks. One conclusion of those talks could be an agreement to put a ceiling at present levels on both offensive and defensive missile systems.

This would be totally unacceptable to the President. But considering the failure of Kissinger, Rogers, or Rockefeller to make a dent in his Republican opposition, Mr. Nixon may soon feel it is time that he himself meet his critics face-to-face. The Republican senators feel that's long overdue.
